ANNUAL REPORT

No. 30.

IN ASSEMBLY,

JANUARY 14, 1890.

ANNUAL REPORT

OF THE

COMMISSIONERS OF PILOTS OF THE PORT OF NEW YORK.

STATE OF NEW YORK:

EXECUTIVE CHAMBER,
ALBANY, January 13, 1890.

To the Legislature:

I have the honor to transmit herewith the Annual Report of the Commissioners of Pilots of the Port of New York for 1889.

DAVID B. HILL.

REPORT.

To the Governor and Legislature of the State of New York:

The Board of Commissioners of Pilots respectfully report, that during the year just closed they have continued to enforce the provisions of the "Act for the licensing and government of the pilots, and regulating pilotage of the port of New York," and its amendments; and of the several laws of the State for the preservation and regulation of the port of New York.

The number of pilots holding licenses from the Board is one hundred and twenty-six (126), all of whom are in active service.

There were five deaths in the force, two of which were caused by their boats being run over by steamships.

Four boats were lost, two being cut down by steamers in foggy weather, drowning two pilots and two foremast hands, and the other two were lost on the beach.

Of these only one has been replaced, leaving nineteen (19) now in commission.

Six thousand two hundred and thirteen vessels (6,213) were piloted, inward and outward, and the gross amount of pilotage collected, was four hundred and twelve thousand seven hundred and forty-three dollars and ninety-six cents ($412,743.96).

Of the above vessels, many left port drawing close upon twenty-eight feet (28 feet), the deepening of the channels having been followed, as was to be expected, by the loading of the ships to the extreme limit of safety.

Five cases of vessels touching the ground while in charge of pilots were brought before the Board, one of which was dismissed as unproven, and due punishment inflicted upon the delinquents in the others.

Under the provisions of the amendments adopted at the last session of the Legislature, nine applications only were received for pilots to go to other ports for vessels bound to this port, and of these four were for one vessel.

The removal of ninety-four (94) sunken wrecks, mostly small craft, was expedited by the attention of the Board's out-door inspector.

The wreck of the iron steamship "Atlas," which has lain in the North river during the whole year, was finally removed on the third day of December.

But little difficulty was experienced in keeping the New York side of the North river free from shad poles; the western half being obstructed as usual.

Under chapter 522 of the Laws of 1860, it was found necessary to cause the removal of forty-six feet and thirty-eight feet, respectively, in length, from two piers encroaching on Gowanus channelway, between Twenty-seventh and Twenty-eighth streets, Brooklyn.

This work was finished on the twenty-sixth day of November.

IN ASSEMBLY,

JANUARY 7, 1890.

RULES OF THE ASSEMBLY, ADOPTED JANUARY 7, 1890.

CHAPTER I.

POWERS AND DUTIES OF THE SPEAKER.

RULE I. The Speaker shall take the chair each day at the hour to which the House shall have adjourned. He shall call to order, and, except in the absence of a quorum, shall proceed to business in the manner prescribed by these rules.

RULE II. He shall possess the powers and perform the duties herein prescribed, viz.:

1. He shall preserve order and decorum, and, in debate, shall prevent personal reflections, and confine members to the question under discussion. When two or more members rise at the same time, he shall name the one entitled to the floor.

2. He shall decide all questions of order subject to appeal to the House. On every appeal he shall have the right, in his place, to assign his reason for his decision. In case of such appeal no member shall speak more than once.

3. He shall appoint all committees, except where the House shall otherwise order.

4. He may substitute any member to perform the duties of the Chair for a period not exceeding two consecutive legislative days, but for no longer period, except by special consent of the House.

5. When the House shall be ready to go into committee of the whole, he shall name a chairman to preside therein.

6. He shall certify the passage of all bills by the House, with the date thereof, together with the fact whether passed as majority, three-fifths or two-thirds bills, as required either by the Constitution or laws of this State.

7. He shall designate the persons who shall act as reporters for the public press, not exceeding thirty in number; but no reporter shall be admitted to the floor who is not an authorized representative of a daily paper. Such reporters, so appointed, shall be entitled to such seats as the Speaker shall designate, and shall have the right to pass to and fro from such seats in entering or leaving the Assembly chamber. No reporter shall appear before any of the committees in advocacy of, or in opposition to, any bills under consideration before such committees. A violation of this rule will be sufficient cause for the removal of such reporter. Removal for this shall be vested in the Speaker.

8. He shall not be required to vote in ordinary legislative proceedings, except where his vote would be decisive. In case of a tie vote the question shall be lost. He shall have general control, except as provided by rule or law, of the Assembly chamber, and of the corridors and passages in that part of the Capitol assigned to the use of the Assembly. In case of any disturbance or disorderly conduct in the galleries, corridors or passages, he shall have power to order the same to be cleared, and may cause any person guilty of such disturbance or disorderly conduct to be brought before the bar of the House. In all such cases the members present may take such measures as they shall deem necessary to prevent a repetition of such misconduct, either by the infliction of censure or pecuniary penalty, as they may deem best, on the parties thus offending.

9. He shall also be ex-officio member and chairman of the committee on rules.

CHAPTER II.

ORDER OF BUSINESS.

RULE III. The first business of each day's session shall be the reading of the journal of the preceding day, and the correction of any errors that may be found to exist therein. Immediately thereafter, except on days and at times set apart for the consideration of special orders, the order of business, which shall not be departed from, except by a vote of two-thirds of the members present, to be determined by a call of the roll, shall be as follows:

1. Messages from the Governor and from the Senate, communications from State officers, reports from State institutions, and reports from the committees on legislation and printed and engrossed bills.
2. First reading of a bill by its title, and reference of the same.
3. Reports of standing committees in their order. (See Rule 14.)

2. Bills on second reading.
3. Bills on first reading.

When the consideration of the orders of the day is not finished, those not acted upon shall be the orders for the next and each succeeding day until disposed of, and shall be entered first in the calendar, without change in their order.

CHAPTER III.

Rights and Duties of Members.

Rule IV. Petitions, memorials and remonstrances may be presented to the Clerk at the close of each day's session. Bills may be deposited, at any time during the session, in a box to be known as the "bill box," which shall be under the immediate charge of the Clerk, and which shall be kept securely locked until all bills so deposited are removed by him, or by a deputy clerk authorized by him. Every bill shall be in duplicate, and both shall be indorsed with a statement of the title, accompanied by the name of the member introducing it. At the close of each day's session one of each of such bills so deposited shall be handed by the Clerk to the Speaker for his examination, after due record thereof has been entered in a book which shall be kept for that purpose. At the next regular session, as provided for in subdivision 2 of rule 3, the Speaker shall announce the introduction of all bills thus received by him, for their first reading, and thereupon shall refer them to the appropriate committees, with the consent of the House.

The other of each such bills having first been entered in the record book, shall on the day of their reception be filed by the Clerk with the librarian of the Assembly, who shall keep a record thereof, which, together with the bills, shall, under his supervision, be subject to public inspection during the regular office hours of the library.

Every bill, immediately upon its introduction, shall be printed and placed on the files of the members. It shall retain its original printed number, when reprinted, together with its new number thereafter, during all stages of its progress.

No bill affecting the rights of individuals, or of private or municipal corporations, otherwise than as it affects generally the people of the whole State, shall be reported by a committee, unless it is made to appear to the satisfaction of the committee that notice has been given, by public advertisement or otherwise, to all parties interested, without expense to the State, or unless evidence satisfactory to the committee is produced that the parties interested have in writing waived notice. In case the bill affects the rights of a municipal corporation, such notice shall be given to the mayor, in cities, and to the president of the board of trustees, in villages.

RULE XVI. The committee on revision shall examine and correct the bills which are referred to it, for the purpose of avoiding repetitions and unconstitutional provisions, insuring accuracy in the text and references, and consistency with the language of the existing statutes. It shall also report whether the object sought to be accomplished can be secured without a special act, under existing laws, or without detriment to the public interests, by the enactment of a general law (provided, that any change in the sense or legal effect, or any material change in construction, shall be reported to the House as a recommendation and not as an amendment). All bills shall be so referred prior to their third reading.

CHAPTER VII.

Of the Special Orders.

Rule XVII. Any matter may be made a special order for any particular day, by assent of two-thirds of the members present. When so made, a similar vote shall be requisite to rescind or postpone.

CHAPTER VIII.

Of the Committee of the Whole.

Rule XVIII. Any matter may be committed to the committee of the whole, by the assent of two-thirds of the members present.

Rule XIX. The same rules shall be observed in committee of the whole as in the House, so far as the same are applicable, except that the previous question shall not apply, nor the yeas and nays be taken.

Rule XXI. Bills and other matters shall be considered in committee of the whole in the following manner, viz.: They shall be first read through, if the committee so direct; otherwise they shall be read and considered by sections, leaving the title to be last considered. All amendments, in their proper connections, shall be reported to the House by the chairman. Bills reported by the committee of the whole shall be subject to debate before the question to agree with the committee in their report is put; but such amendments only shall be in order as were offered in committee of the whole, and where a bill shall be reported by the committee of the whole with the enacting clause stricken out, and the report shall be agreed to by the House, or a report favorable to the passage of a bill shall be disagreed to by a vote of the House, such bill shall be considered as rejected.

Rule XXII. If at any time, when in committee of the whole House, it be ascertained that there is no quorum, the chairman shall immediately report the fact to the Speaker.

CHAPTER IX.

OF BILLS.

RULE XXIII. No bill shall be introduced in the House except in one of the following modes, viz.:

1. As specified in Rule 4.
2. By report of a committee.
3. By order of the House.
4. By message from the Senate.

RULE XXIV. No private bill shall be introduced, but upon a memorial or petition presented to the House, and signed and verified by the party or parties praying for the passage of the same, except by order of the House.

RULE XXV. Every message from the Senate, communicating any bill for the concurrence of the House, shall, with the accompanying documents, if any, be referred to a standing or select committee to consider and report thereon, and every such message communicating an amendment, shall be referred to the committee which reported the measure proposed to be amended, with power to report at any time.

RULE XXVI. All bills, whether introduced in the House or communicated by message from the Senate, shall, after their first reading, be referred to a standing or select committee, to consider and report thereon. Such committee may report any bill, either with or without amendments, or they may report against the same. All bills reported favorably or for consideration, if reported with amendments, shall be immediately printed, and the amendments proposed by the committee shall be printed in Roman, except in cases where the committee recommend striking out certain words, in which case they shall be printed "Stricken through."

All bills favorably reported shall, if the report be agreed to, be placed on the order of second reading; but where a bill has been reported adversely, and such report shall be agreed to by the House, it shall be considered as rejected. No committee shall be discharged from the consideration of a bill thus referred until the committee has had a meeting subsequent to its reference, and has neglected to consider the bill; nor shall an adverse report be received unless the introducer of the bill has first had an opportunity to be heard.

RULE XXVII. Bills on the order of second reading shall be subject to debate before the motion to order them to a third reading is entertained; such bills shall be considered section by section. The main question, if ordered, shall apply only to the section at the time under consideration. After the bill has been thus read through, one-half hour shall be allowed for debate, but no person shall speak more than fifteen minutes, except by consent of the House.

Rule XXVIII. Every bill shall receive three separate readings, and on three different days, previous to its passage, except by unanimous consent.

Rule XXIX. All bills amended on second reading shall be reprinted before they are read a third time, and no bill shall be put upon its third reading until it shall have been reported by the committee on printed and engrossed bills as correctly printed and properly engrossed.

Rule XXX. On the third reading of the bill no amendment shall be in order, except to fill blanks, without unanimous consent, unless, on commitment, such amendments shall have been reported by a committee, in which case, after amendments so reported shall have been disposed of, the question shall be the same as was pending before the reference.

Rule XXXI. A register shall be kept by the Clerk of all bills introduced in the House, or transmitted for concurrence from the Senate, in which shall be recorded, under appropriate heads, the progress of such bills from the date of their introduction to the time of their transmission; if Assembly bills, to the Governor, or, if Senate bills, their return to the Senate.

CHAPTER X

On Motions and their Precedence.

Rule XXXII. When a question shall be under consideration, no motion shall be received except as herein specified, which motions shall have precedence in the order stated, viz.:

1. For an adjournment of the House.
2. A call of the House.
3. For the previous question.
4. To lay on the table.
5. To postpone indefinitely.
6. To postpone to a certain day.
7. To go into committee of the whole on the pending subject immediately.

Rule XXXIII. A motion to reconsider any vote must be made on the same day on which the vote proposed to be reconsidered was taken, or on the legislative day next succeeding, and, except in the case of a vote on the final passage of a bill, by a member who voted in the majority. Such motion may be made under any order of business, but shall be considered only under the order of business in which the vote proposed to be reconsidered occurred. The motion to reconsider the vote on the final passage of any bill shall be privileged to any member, but no motion for the reconsideration of any vote shall be in order after a bill, resolution, message, report, amendment or motion upon which the vote was taken shall have gone out of the possession of the House, unless subsequently recalled by a vote of the House and in possession of the Clerk.

RULE XXXIV. When a motion for reconsideration is decided, that decision shall not be reconsidered, and no question shall be twice reconsidered; nor shall any vote be reconsidered upon either of the following motions:

To adjourn.
To lay on the table.
To take from the table; or
For the previous question.

A motion to recall a bill from the Governor for correction may be made by or on behalf of the member who introduced the bill, under any order of business, and the votes for consideration, amendment and final passage of such bill may be taken immediately upon its return.

CHAPTER XI.

OF RESOLUTIONS.

RULE XXV. The following classes of resolutions shall lie over one day for consideration, after which they may be called up, as of course, under their appropriate order of business:

1. All concurrent resolutions, except resolutions in reference to adjournments and those recalling bills from the Governor or Senate, which shall be regarded as privileged.

2. Resolutions containing calls for information on the Executive Department.

3. Resolutions giving rise to debate, except such as relate to the disposition of matters immediately before the House, such as relate to the business of the day on which they were offered, and such as relate to adjournment or taking recess for a day.

RULE XXXVI. All resolutions for printing extra copies of documents shall be referred to the committee on printing, who shall report on each resolution within seven days after such reference.

Rule XXXVII. All other resolutions calling for or leading to expenditures for the uses of the Legislature shall be referred to, and reported on, by the committee on ways and means, unless the House shall designate some other committee.

CHAPTER XII.

Of the Previous Question.

Rule XXXVIII. The "previous question" shall be put as follows: "Shall the main question now be put?" and, until it is decided, shall preclude all amendments or debate. When on taking the previous question, the House shall decide that the main question shall not now be put, the main question shall be considered as still remaining under debate. The "main question" shall be on the passage of the bill, resolution or other matter under consideration; but when amendments are pending, the question shall first be taken upon such amendments in their order; and when amendments have been adopted in committee of the whole, and not acted on in the House, the question shall be taken upon such amendments in like order, and, if the previous question has been ordered, without further debate or amendment.

CHAPTER XIII.

Of the Assembly Chamber and the Privileges of Admission to the Floor Thereof.

Rule XXXIX. The use of the Assembly chamber may be granted to the State Agricultural Society, the State Medical Society and such other societies as are required by law to report to the Legislature. No application for the use of the chamber for any other purpose shall be entertained without the unanimous consent of the House.

Rule XL. The following classes of persons shall be entitled to admission to the floor of the House during the sessions thereof, viz.:

1. The Governor and Lieutenant-Governor.
2. The members of the Senate.
3. The State officers and deputies.
4. The Regents of the University.
5. The Capitol Commissioners.
6. Persons in the exercise of an official duty directly connected with the business of the House.
7. The reporters for the press, as provided by subdivision 7 of rule 2.
8. Ex-Speakers of the Assembly.

No other person shall be admitted to the floor during the session, except upon the permission of the Speaker or by vote of the House; and persons so admitted shall be allowed to occupy places only in the seats in the rear of the Assembly chamber. All permits granted by the Speaker may be revoked by him at pleasure, or upon the order of the House.

CHAPTER XIV.

MISCELLANEOUS PROVISIONS.

RULE XLI. In all cases of the absence of members during the sessions of the House, the members present may take such measure, as they shall deem necessary to secure their presence, and in addition to suspending them from the service of the House for a given period, may inflict such censure or pecuniary penalty as they may deem just on those who, on being called on for that purpose, shall render not sufficient excuse for their absence.

RULE XLII. For the purpose of securing the attendance of members, a call of the House may be made, but such call shall not be in order after the main question has been ordered, nor after the voting on any question has commenced, nor after the third reading of a bill has been completed.

RULE XLIII. When less than a quorum vote on any subject under the consideration of the House, it shall be in order, on motion, to close the bar of the House; whereupon the roll of members shall be called by the Clerk, and if it is ascertained that a quorum is present, either by answering to their names or by their presence in the House, the yeas and nays shall again be ordered by the Speaker, and if any member present refuses to vote, such refusal shall be deemed a contempt, and, unless purged, the House may order the Sergeant-at-Arms to remove said member or members without the bar of the House, and all privileges of membership shall be refused the person or persons so offending until the contempt be duly purged.

RULE XLIV. Whenever any person shall be brought before the bar of the House for adjudged breach of its privileges, no debate shall be in order; but the Speaker shall proceed to execute the judgment of the House without delay or debate.

RULE XLV. When the House shall be equally divided on any question, including the Speaker's vote, the question shall be deemed to be lost.

RULE XLVI. If any question contains several distinct propositions, it shall be divided by the chair at the request of any member, but a motion to strike out and insert shall be indivisible.

Rule XLVII. In all cases where a bill, order, motion or resolution shall be entered on the journal, the name of the member introducing or moving the same shall also be entered on the journal.

Rule XLVIII. The yeas and nays may be taken on any question whenever so required by any ten members (unless a division by yeas and nays be already pending), and when so taken shall be entered on the journal.

Rule XLIX. In all cases where unanimous consent is asked for advancing a bill out of its order, it shall be the duty of the Speaker to order a roll-call, for the purpose of determining if such consent will be granted.

Rule L. It shall be the duty of the Clerk to cause the journal of each day's proceedings of the House to be printed and laid on the table of members within two days after its approval, and, in addition to the other duties of his office, to prepare and supervise the printing of the calendars of the orders of the day, and to cause them to be placed on files before the commencement of each day's session.

Rule LI. No reporter for the Assembly, who has an appointment as reporter in the Senate, shall receive any order for stationery from the Clerk of the Assembly.

Rule LII. No standing rule or order of the House shall be changed, suspended or rescinded unless one day's notice shall have been given of the motion therefor, nor shall such change be made unless by a vote of a majority of all the members elected to the Assembly; any such rule or order, however, may be suspended by unanimous consent. But such notice shall not be necessary on the last day of the session. The notice and motion shall in all cases state specifically the object of the suspension, and every case of suspension of a rule under such notice and motion shall be held to apply only to the object specified therein.

Such notice shall be given, and such motion made, under the order of business in which the matter proposed to be advanced by the suspension shall stand.

Rule LIII. No persons, except members of the Legislature, and the officers thereof, shall be permitted within the Clerk's desk, or the rooms set apart for the use of the Clerk, during the session of the House, and no member or other person shall visit or remain by the Clerk's table while the yeas and nays are being called, except officers of the House in the discharge of their duties.

Rule LIV. It shall be the duty of the stenographer of the Assemble to be present at every session of the House. He shall take stenographic notes of the debates in the House, and in committee of the whole; and shall furnish a copy of the same written out in longhand, to any member applying therefor, upon the payment to said stenographer of ten cents for each folio, which charge said stenographer may receive in addition to his fixed compensation. The stenographic notes of the debates shall be filed with the Clerk, and shall form a portion of the archives of the House. The Clerk of the Assembly is authorized to furnish said stenographer with proper stenographic blank-books in which to record said debates, not to exceed fifty dollars for an annual session of the Legislature.

RULE LV. All questions of order, as they shall occur, with the decisions thereof, shall be entered in the journal, and at the close of the session, a statement of all such questions and decisions shall be printed at the close of and as an appendix to the journal.

RULE LVI. Any member requesting to be excused from voting upon the final passage of a bill, or upon the passage of a resolution, requiring the expenditure of money, may make, when his name is called, a brief statement of the reasons for making such request, not exceeding two minutes in time, and the House, without debate, shall decide if it will grant such request; but nothing in this rule contained shall abridge the right of any member to record his vote on any question previous to the announcement of the result.

RULE LVII. Amendments proposed by the Senate, and sent back to the House for concurrence, shall be referred to the committee which reported the measure proposed to be amended, with power to report any time.

RULE LVIII. On the third reading of a bill, after the reading of the title, and before the reading of the text, the bill shall be open to debate on its merits, but the previous question shall not be ordered until the expiration of one-half hour after the commencement of the debate; provided, however, that the vote may be taken at any time when the debate is closed, and, provided further, that this rule shall not be construed to prevent debate during the reading of the bill.

RULE LIX. It shall be the duty of the Sergeant-at-Arms, at all times not to allow any person to smoke in the Assembly chamber. Subject to the direction of the Speaker, he shall enforce the rules of the House.

RULE LX. On or before the fifth day of April, committees shall make final report upon matters referred to them prior to that day, unless further time is granted for cause, and after that date no bills shall be introduced except by message from the Senate.

At nearly every session of the Legislature propositions are made to add to the military forces of the State. The plans presented are frequently the production of theorists, and not infrequently of persons having some special purpose to accomplish. So far as they represent a popular interest in promoting military knowledge, they may well be considered, but whenever they discover a tendency to conflict with the discipline and efficiency of the established force, they should be resisted.

Better evidence of an increasing interest in military matters, and of a desire on the part of the young men of the State to enter its military service, is found in the large number of applications, coming from all parts of the State, for authority to raise companies, batteries or troops. The National Guard is limited by law to 15,000 enlisted men, a number believed to be sufficient for all practical purposes, at least for the present. This limit has been so nearly approached that it is hardly safe to go any farther, for a sufficient margin must always be maintained, in order that it may not become necessary to stop recruiting, and to avoid the danger of illegal enlistments. It is not probable, therefore, that any new organizations will be mustered in, until the strength of the force is reduced by disbandments or otherwise.

However, should the Legislature incline to increase the number of the State forces, there should be no doubt as to the direction in which it should be done. That it is of the first importance that in all the sea-coast States men should be trained in the use of heavy guns, and organized to man the harbor, river and lake defenses, will not be questioned. For this purpose an increase of twelve or fifteen hundred enlisted men would be sufficient for this State in time of peace, but it is believed that it would be advisable to begin with a smaller number, say four heavy batteries, and as these batteries become proficient, organizing other batteries. It is understood that the War Department is ready and willing to furnish facilities for instruction, and for the encampment of troops at the forts in New York harbor and elsewhere, and it is therefore recommended, provided any increase is to be authorized, that provision be made for the organization of such number of heavy batteries, not to exceed twelve, as the commander-in-chief may deem necessary.

The principal difficulty in the way of increasing the force lies in the necessarily increased expense, for it is useless to organize troops with the purpose of relying on them for service, unless the State provides everything that is essential to enable them to make themselves proficient as soldiers. Troops that maintain themselves at considerable cost, as it inevitably must be, cannot be made to understand the necessity of submitting to the restraints of discipline, and will seldom contribute the time as well as money demanded for the various branches of the art of war with which the modern soldier must become familiar. Such soldiers are of little or no practical use, except it may be for parades. For these reasons, and as it is doubtful whether the Legislature will consent under present circumstances to larger appropriations for military purposes, it is worthy of consideration whether it would not be well to make one of the regiments in the city of New York a heavy artillery regiment.

There is a way, by which it has been suggested, room could be made for new organizations, and which would afford an opportunity to muster in some heavy batteries, viz., by reducing the maximum of enlisted men allowed to a company. It is to be said in favor of this proposition that by increasing the number of organizations, there would be a larger number of officers and non-commissioned officers in training at all times. More than this, there appears to be no valid reason why a company should be maintained at its war strength in time of peace.

ARMS, EQUIPMENTS, UNIFORMS.

Notice has been received from the general government that the new 3-2 inch field guns, for which, together with all the component parts of a battery, requisition was made upon the War Department nearly two years ago, will be delivered within a few weeks. The Chief of Ordnance, United States Army, reports that the caissons, battery wagons and forges, will be completed the coming year, but says there may be some delay in procuring the necessary harness. It is to be hoped that it may soon be possible to arm all the State batteries with this gun.

The need of new rifles to replace the Remington is urgent, but the time has not yet arrived when it can be determined what the rifle, or even what its calibre shall be. It is announced by the United States Ordnance Department that a thirty-calibre rifle, which is entirely satisfactory, has been made, and that a thirty-calibre magazine arm is in process of construction, but unfortunately the status of the powder question resulting from the advent of the so-called smokeless powder, leaves the question of what the new small arm should be, still unsettled.

The recommendations in regard to equipments, tents and blankets, heretofore made, that a larger supply should be kept constantly on hand, ready for use, but to be issued only in an emergency, are renewed.

The overcoats, and fatigue coats or blouses, recently issued, are serviceable and satisfactory. The dress-coat has never been entirely satisfactory, but any change that has been suggested necessitates such a large expenditure that it is questionable if a sufficient appropriation can be obtained at the present time.

Brooklyn.—For Twenty-third Regiment, appropriation $300,000, chapter 253, Laws of 1889.

Under the law as it now stands, the counties are required to provide armories for organizations within their limits, furnish heat and light, and pay for armorers, engineers and janitors. There seems to be no reason why these burdens should be imposed upon the county treasuries. The National Guard is a State force, and its maintenance, it would appear, should be borne fairly and equally by the whole State. Moreover, as a military consideration, it is submitted that the armories, which are in fact military posts, should be directly under the charge and control of the State. It has apparently been the unwritten policy of the Legislature, for several years past, to erect three or four armories annually, anticipating the time when the title to all the armories will be vested in the State. It is hoped that this policy may be pursued; that new armories may be constructed where they are most needed; that from time to time the title to armories erected by counties may be acquired, and that provision for all military requirements may be made by the State. When this is accomplished, it will be found that the National Guard is established upon a firmer basis, and that the interests of the service will be subserved in many ways.

The recommendations made in previous reports, looking to the proper maintenance of the camp as a permanent institution for military instruction, are renewed. Placed on an established foundation, systematized as a school with a staff of competent instructors, it will accomplish much more for the military forces of the State than has been or can be done in any other manner, or under any other system. But to attain the full measure of success, it is in the first place necessary that there should be an officer permanently in charge of it as a camp of instruction, or rather that there should not be frequent changes in such a position, together with several carefully chosen assistants who should receive such pay as would enable them to give all their time to the service. As suggested in a previous report, there would be plenty of work to be done by such officers during the season when the camp is closed, work which is now of necessity too much neglected.

It is urged in various quarters entitled to consideration, that camps should be held for not less than ten days, preferably two weeks. From a strictly military point of view, this is undoubtedly true. It is also true that four weeks would be better than two. Those who have had experience with State troops, however, have learned to make haste slowly, and understand that it is a fatal mistake to undertake plans which involve more time than men can afford to give. Our troops are sent to camp for a week's tour of duty, once in two years. While it must be admitted that greater progress could be made if they were sent every year, or for longer tours, it is well understood that there are not a few instances where it becomes a hardship to render even the simple duty required. Before there can be any material change accomplished in this respect, popular opinion must recognize, and especially must employers be taught to understand, the necessity, as well as the obligations, of military service by citizens to the State.

An error which involves a similar lack of consideration is made by those military authorities who favor encampments by brigade, rather than what they style the "New York method." A careful observer of the experiments that have been made with State troops can not fail to have noticed, that at brigade encampments the time of a large number of men is taken up, and a large expenditure of money and property incurred, with little profit or advantage for anybody, except, perhaps the benefit derived from actual practice by a few ranking officers. By this it must not be understood that it is believed that there should be no further instruction, theoretical or practical, than that which is pursued at the State camp. On the contrary, the New York method contemplates practical field exercises or manœuvres, by bodies of troops, selected from those that have sufficiently profited by the opportunities afforded them in their armories and at the camp.

A large part of the National Guard is already qualified for this kind of service, and expeditions or movements might well be undertaken, from time to time, in various parts of the State, having a definite military object in view, which if carried out in accordance with military principles, and under the strictest military rule, would be of great advantage to the troops engaged.

The New York method embraces the armory, the camp and the field. In the armory men are set up, taught the manual of arms and the principles of firing, and practiced in squad, company, and so far as the space allows, battalion movements. They are also instructed theoretically and to a limited extent practically, in skirmishing and guard duties. In many armories there are also facilities for gallery target practice.

At camp, the troops are practiced chiefly in exercises that can not well be executed in a drill-room. They are also thoroughly instructed and practiced in guard duties, and should be made to understand theoretically and practically the principles of grand guards. They are also made familiar with military customs, which it is essential that every soldier should understand, as well as with the workings of the machinery of military government. In this second stage of instruction, is included the rifle-range, although rifle practice, as clearly demonstrated by experience, should not be made a part of the duty at camp. Practice at the range is required every year of every infantry soldier, and men of the other arms are also permitted to take part in practice.

With field exercises, comprising instruction and practice of brigades or larger bodies in the duties of grand guards, advance guards and rear guards, marches by rail and otherwise, attack and defense of positions, matters of minor tactics, and whatever pertains to the conduct of troops in a campaign, the New York method is complete so far as contemplated at the present time.

MOVEMENTS OF TROOPS.

All the troops of the State were concentrated in the city of New York, April thirtieth last, under the immediate command of the Commander-in-Chief, to take part in the Centennial Celebration of the inauguration of the First President of the United States.

The discipline and soldierly appearance of the National Guard elicited universal commendation.

The "Old Guard," New York city, under the law a part of the military forces of the State, followed the National Guard column on the parade.

The pay, transportation, subsistence, etc., for this parade amounted to the sum of $97,886.35.

Olmsted's Sixth Battery, under orders from general headquarters, made a march September fourth to tenth, last. The report of the commanding officer is appended hereto. This kind of work, when properly conducted, and especially when coupled with target practice, as it was in the case of the march of Auer's Battery last year, is of great value, and should be undertaken whenever possible.

Some excellent field work was done by the Thirteenth Regiment on Long Island, this season. The reports sent to this office are interesting, and indicate a knowledge of their duties on the part of the officers making them that deserves commendation. These reports, however, are too voluminous to be made a part of this report.

TARGET PRACTICE.

Surprising progress has been made in rifle practice. In some organizations, nearly every officer and man has qualified as a marksman. Great credit is due to the zealous and efficient General Inspector, and the Brigade and Regimental Inspectors of rifle practice. In their department, there is no demand for any extraneous assistance; but it is believed that some changes may be made, with advantage, in the system pursued.

It is quite as important for the light batteries that they should be afforded facilities and opportunities for target practice as it is to provide ranges for the infantry. With the new guns, long range practice with shot and shell becomes an absolutely essential part of an artilleryman's training. It is a matter of more immediate consequence than the question of procuring horses. Horses may be supplied and sufficiently trained in a comparatively short time, but skill in range finding and firing can only be attained by careful instruction and practice.

PENSIONS.

Under chapter 611, Laws of 1887, amended by chapter 329, Laws of 1888, and further amended by chapter 396, Laws of 1889, pensions have been allowed as follows:

BUREAU OF RECORDS OF THE WAR OF THE REBELLION.

In my last report it was stated that the Bureau of Records of the War of the Rebellion had sent out during the year preceding, over 6,000 communications in response to applications for certificates of service, records of officers and enlisted men, names and addresses of officers and volunteers, and other matters connected with the War of the Rebellion; this year the number of responses sent out is 8,310, not including replies to requests made in person.

In July, the Secretary of War created in his department a Division of Records and Pensions, uniting therein all the former divisions of records of volunteers existing in the Adjutant-General's and Surgeon-General's offices. This arrangement has worked for the benefit of all concerned, and the division is not only up to its daily work, but there are already a large number of clerks at work preparing the records of volunteers on the card-index system. It is understood that the records of volunteers of this State are the first to be arranged in this manner, they being in the poorest condition, and that when thus completed and Congress makes the necessary appropriation they will be printed, and the State secure thereby all the records of her volunteers that are to be found in the War Department. It is respectfully recommended that the Legislature pass a concurrent resolution requesting the members of Congress from this State to further this project by advocating the appropriation of the necessary means.

The copying of records of volunteers for this office by the clerks in the War Department has been discontinued by the order of the Secretary of War, but the records of thirteen regiments commenced are to be completed, which will give the State a nearly complete record of her volunteer organizations, excepting only about thirty volunteer and fifty militia regiments, which lack will be of but temporary disadvantage if the plans of the officer in charge of the Record and Pension Division of the War Department is carried out.

The progress that has been made in the collection of these claims against the United States is shown in the report ef General Farnsworth submitted herewith.

REPORT ON STATE CAMP.

By Lieutenant-Colonel Richard Loder, Fifth United States Artillery.

Fort Wadsworth, N. Y. H., September 18, 1889.

To the Adjutant-General, U. S. A., Washington, D. C.:

General.— In accordance with Special Orders No. 123, dated Headquarters of the Army, Adjutant-General's office, Washington, D. C., May 28, 1889, and special instructions transmitted in letter of same date, I have the honor to submit the report of the inspection of the troops of the National Guard of the State of New York, at the Camp of Instruction at Peekskill, N. Y., and covering a period from June 22 to August 17, 1889.

* * * * * * *

I reported to the Post Adjutant on the twenty-second, about the time of the arrival of the Seventh Regiment, and was at once placed in a position to perform my duties.

Previous to the arrival of the troops all necessary orders had been issued and, I believe, well considered by the officers concerned, as work was promptly commenced in accordance with the letter and spirit (so far as was understood), of said orders.

My first, and I may also say my last, act was a careful consideration and inspection of the camp and grounds. Of the arrangement of these I need hardly speak, as an examination of the reports of the previous inspectors convinces me that full justice has been done and detailed descriptions given. The few changes made are to the benefit of the camp, and two in particular can be mentioned here: First, the substitution of new tents for those previously in use; and, secondly, the adoption of incandescent electric lights for the camp grounds; the latter an innovation of camp life, but certainly a pleasing one and in the direction of modern progress, though some military critics considered it destructive to their ideas of camp propriety.

In considering the sanitary condition, I cannot better bring out the pith than by quoting from the report of the Surgeon-General, Brigadier-General J. D. Bryant, National Guard, State of New York, as follows:

"The complete establishment of the State Camp and of its perfect sanitary condition, as exemplified by the continued absence from it of any illness that can be attributed to a want of sanitation has reduced the medical report in this special respect to merely a perfunctory act."

* * * * * * *

The orders of General Porter and the vigilance of his inspectors all tend to a perfect police, and to aid the head of the medical department in every way in the endeavor to destroy all germs and eliminate all danger from camp disorders.

* * * * * * *

Adjutant-General's.

An examination of the report of the Adjutant-General, State of New York, Josiah Porter, for 1888, will show at once the efficiency of this department, its organization and work.

In addition to his duties as Adjutant-General, General Porter is now, and has been for several years, in command of the Camp of Instruction, and, assisted by Colonel Phisterer, the acting Assistant Adjutant-General of the State, has succeeded in carrying out the idea of instructing and fitting officers for the duties of this office.

Captain J. S. Shepherd, of the Twenty-third, was continuously on duty as assistant, having been prepared through previous details for this duty (acting assistant post-adjutant). Other officers were detailed as acting assistant post-adjutants to remain at headquarters, each one week in advance of their organizations, in order that their knowledge of the duties might be comprehensive, so that when actually on duty with their commands they would only have to put in practice the knowledge acquired. In consequence of this care in training the regimental adjutant's work was promptly and well performed at all times; no irregularities or hitches were noticed; no instruction necessary when the time for a certain duty came.

At headquarters the routine work was finally machine-like in its regularity. The method of conducting the work has been noticed in other reports.

* * * * * * *

INSPECTOR-GENERAL'S DEPARTMENT.

The department was represented by Colonel T. H. McGrath, acting Inspector-General, with whom the work is a labor of love. His duties were confined more to camp inspection, but he reported on and corrected irregularities wherever noticed. * * * He was assisted by officers detailed as in the Adjutant-General's department.

SUPPLY DEPARTMENTS.

Were all consolidated under General Varian, Chief of Ordnance, who paid occasional visits. Colonel J. G. Story, his assistant, remained from the time he prepared camp for the troops until every matter had been disposed of for the season. All details of issuing and returning property; arrangements, care and preservation of material, and, in fact, everything outside the purely military element was left to him. * * *

The messing arrangement by contract has been fully explained in previous reports.

* * * * * * *

The present buildings, erected in 1882, in thirty-six hours, were only temporary structures, and could not be made permanent.

The transportation of troops to and from different parts of the State, so as to be on hand and to leave exactly at the proper time, without undue delay, is an example of mobilization on a small scale. Colonel Story has this systematized so thoroughly that these conditions are fulfilled, and in mobilization his experience would be invaluable.

The cost of transportation of troops (5,500) in 1888 was $19,353.82; for camp equipage and stores, $9,497.84.

* * * * * * *

MEDICAL DEPARTMENT.

I have had occasion to refer already to this department while speaking of the sanitary condition of the camp, but it is worthy of further reference, and to one point in particular, that is the system of special training preparatory to rendering prompt aid to the injured that Dr. Bryant has introduced into the National Guard of New York. The idea contemplates the extending of aid to the unfortunate citizen who may suffer from the effects of physical violence, received in the daily walks of life, as well as to the National Guardsman who may fall while on his special duty. Trained National Guardsmen may thus aid the citizen in other ways than as a "man under arms." Details are ordered from companies, and instruction given by the medical corps. Proficiency is ascertained by a board of medical examiners, and those found proficient are presented with a suitable badge testifying to their ability.

The surgeon and assistant surgeons, during their camp tours, as also the hospital stewards, are careful and attentive, and take pride in the exercise of their profession. Their tents are models of cleanliness.

PAY DEPARTMENT.

Is represented by Colonel Phisterer, who performed this duty in addition to his other. Payments are made by check on Fridays.

THE ORGANIZATIONS.

* * * * * * *

Four things are noticeable: First. The full strength of the Seventh Regiment (which, by the way, has many waiting for membership); second, the gain in the Ninth, Twenty-second, Twenty-third and Forty-seventh Regiments; third, the full membership of many of the separate companies; and, fourth, the large percentage of the Twelfth present in camp.

ARMS AND EQUIPMENTS.

As General Porter states in his report of 1888, there is but little to be added to what has already been said in previous reports upon this subject, and the same may be said with reference to the uniform.

* * * * * * *

All the equipments and uniforms are in good serviceable condition, ready and useful.

INSTRUCTION.

Orders required that the military exercises to be executed and practiced in camp shall consist of such tactical movements as can not be carried out in armories, of skirmish drills, and of schools of theoretical instruction for officers and non-commissioned officers; but no reviews will be authorized except by orders from headquarters.

The nature of the drill was specified by the post commander from time to time. Schools of instruction every afternoon (Fridays and Sundays excepted) between 1.30 and dress parade; company drill from 5.45 to 7 A. M.; battalion drill from 9.25 to 11.30 A. M. Drills were surprisingly correct; most of the officers seemed to know and understand their duties well. I noticed a few inert officers and non-commissioned officers. Mistakes were generally rectified at once. The men manifested great interest in their work, and did not seem to weary. During the first two or three drills the step was slow and short. It improved greatly, until at the final drills they had obtained the correct step and time.

Most companies had the habit at first of taking a short step with the left foot in starting, showing that they were not properly balanced at the command "March!" All this difference is perhaps attributable to the change from floor to turf. As a rule, the commands were not repeated promptly enough.

I found a great improvement in the manner the guides performed their duties since my visit in 1885.

By the end of the week the tactical movements were sufficiently well executed for all practical purposes. The theoretical instruction was evidently of utility, as I found that generally the officers were well acquainted with their tactics.

Lieutenant Hamilton, Fifth Artillery, gave daily lectures, which seemed to interest all.

* * * * * * *

Nothing could be finer than the dress parade and appearance of the Seventh, nor the drill of the Twenty-third, or guard mount of the Twenty-second. The improvement of the Ninth was decidedly marked. The Forty-seventh made a good show, but was hampered by bad weather. The Twelfth was handled quickly and effectively, and is a regiment New York will be proud of. Their percentage in camp was greater than that of any other regiment.

Military courtesy was fairly well observed. When neglected, I found that it was from the want of proper instruction. I would like to call the attention of the officers to their careless way of returning salutes.

GUARD DUTY.

Was generally well performed; but in a few cases it was very slovenly done. I noticed a few perfect tours though. As a rule, I found that it depended entirely upon the knowledge and energy of the officers and non-commissioned officers of the guard; the men not only being willing but anxious to learn. I must say this, however, for the men in all cases.

Captain Thurston, instructor in guard duty, was on hand day and night, visiting and instructing the guard at all times and seasons, and did everything in his power to forward this important duty.

I have already called attention to the strength of many of the separate companies, and here I wish to speak in the highest terms of the efficiency of most of them, and noting the fact that the only chance they have for battalion drill is during the encampment, my wonder is that they become so proficient. It shows that the companies are well drilled and the battalion commanders know their duty.

The provisional battalions, under Lieutenant-Colonel Smith, Major Downs, Major Chauncey and Colonel Bacon, were well handled. The Fourth Battalion (Colonel Bacon) was particularly noticeable; more maneuvres being gone through in a shorter time than I had ever seen before.

I feel I must notice the detachments of artillery on duty during the encampment. I don't think I have ever seen men take so much pride in their work. Their tents and camp-grounds were simply perfect.

In conclusion I would say that, under the conditions of encampment every second year for each regiment, of the comparatively few drills each year, and that it is a voluntary service, requiring a pecuniary sacrifice as well as loss of time in business, we must look with admiration at the efficiency of the National Guard of the State of New York.

My thanks are due to General Porter and his staff for their very kind and courteous treatment.

I am, General, very respectfully, your obedient servant.

(Signed.) R. LODER,

Lieut. Col. Fifth Artillery, Bvt. Col. U. S. Army.

Assuming the direction and control of the military forces of the State for another official term, the Commander-in-Chief expresses his appreciation of the substantial progress made by the National Guard. and his gratification at the high estimation in which it is held by the people.

The Commander-in-Chief is confident that the officers and men of the National Guard will make every effort and improve every opportunity to qualify themselves to perform intelligently and efficiently whatever service they may be called on to render, as well as to deserve the recognition which has been accorded them by their fellow-citizens.

The steamer will be required to land at New York city, at the foot of Fifty-ninth street, North river.

Ninth. The First and Third Provisional Regiments, the Sixth Battery and the headquarters of the Third Brigade, will proceed to New York city by rail, so as to arrive there and at the armory of the Twelfth Regiment, Sixty-second street and Ninth avenue, about noon of the twenty-ninth instant. Brigadier-General Amasa J. Parker, Jr., will be in command, and will cause this portion of his brigade to march on the morning of the thirtieth instant, aboard the "Grand Republic," preparatory to starting with his entire command for the point of rendezvous for the parade.

Tenth. The Fourth Brigade will be transported to New York city by rail, so as to arrive there about noon of the twenty-ninth instant. Its quarters will be at "Madison Square Garden," which, while occupied by the troops, will be considered a military post, under the command of Brigadier-General Peter C. Doyle.

Eleventh. The commanding officers of regiments, battalions, separate companies and batteries of the Third and Fourth Brigades will at once report to their respective brigade commanders for instructions as regards their transportation to New York city, and the brigade commanders will take care that such commanding officers receive definite and full instrucions as regards hours, days, trains and boats, to be taken by them for New York and the return to their respective stations.

Twelfth. The troops of the Third and Fourth Brigades will carry with them knapsacks, haversacks and canteens; and absolutely necessary changes of underclothing, the necessary toilet articles, and the full dress coat and fatigue cap, will be packed in the knapsack, overcoat on top. On the journey fatigue coats will be worn.

Thirteenth. Transportation and rations will be allowed for one servant for each company and battery, and for three servants for each battalion, regimental and brigade headquarters, but no other person or persons whatever shall be allowed, under any circumstances, to travel with the troops on trains or boats, except the proper train and boat officers and employés.

Fourteenth. Befere leaving his proper station, also before the formation of the line on the thirtieth instant, and immediately after returning to his station, each company and battery commander will have the roll of his command called, and pay will be allowed only to those present at these roll-calls.

Pay will be allowed to the troops of the First and Second Brigades for one day; to those of the Third Brigade, except the Twenty-seventh, Thirty-fifth, Thirty-ninth Separate Companies, for two days; to those of the Fourth Brigade, and the Twenty-seventh, Thirty-fifth and Thirty-ninth Separate Companies, three days.

Fifteenth. The management of the transportation provided, and the whole charge of the subsistence of their troops, is left to the respective brigade commanders, who will see that the troops of their commands are promptly returned to their respective stations as soon after the close of the parade as possible.

Sixteenth. The Chief of Ordnance, as acting Quartermaster-General, will, on the arrival of the troops, cause to be turned over to their respective commanding officers, at Madison Square Garden, 2,000 mattresses and blankets; at the armory of the Twelfth Regiment 1,700 mattresses and blankets.

He will also turn over to the commanding officer on board the steamer "Grand Republic" 1,300 mattresses and blankets.

He will also turn over the necessary colors, guidons and markers' flags to the commanding officers of the Provisional Regiments as follows: To the commanding officer of the First and Third Provisional Regiments, at the armory of the Twelfth Regiment; to the commanding officer of the Second Provisional Regiment, on board the "Grand Republic;" to the commanding officer of the Fourth Provisional Regiment, at the "Madison Square Garden."

As soon as the necessity for the use of these articles ceases to exist, the commanding officers will cause them to be returned to the Chief of Ordnance, who will have officers of his department on hand to receive them; those on board the "Grand Republic" will be received on its return from Albany.

Seventeenth. Final instructions as to the hour when, and the place where, the brigades will report on the thirtieth instant, will be issued as soon as the programme for the day shall be received from the committee in charge of the celebration.

Eighteenth. Commanding officers of brigades will be held responsible for the proper execution of this order, and the maintenance of good order and discipline, while their respective commands are en route to, and in, New York city, and returning to their proper stations.

All officers will be required to remain with their commands from the time of leaving until they are dismissed at their respective stations.

Nineteenth. Commanding officers of brigades, regiments, battalions, separate companies and batteries will render to these headquarters duplicate copies of orders and instructions issued by them in regard to movement, transportation and subsistence of their respective commands not later than the twenty-fifth instant.

By order of the Commander-in-Chief.

JOSIAH PORTER,
Major-General and Adjutant-General.

GENERAL HEADQUARTERS, STATE NEW YORK:

ADJUTANT-GENERAL'S OFFICE,
ALBANY, April 25, 1889.

GENERAL ORDERS, No. 17.

I. The following extracts from Orders No. 3, issued by the Grand Marshal of the Military Parade, taking place on the thirtieth instant, are herewith published for the guidance and observance of the military forces of this State:

First. The following directions are announced for the assembling, movement and disbandment of the forces of the Army, Navy and National Guard, the organizations of the Loyal Legion and of the Grand Army of the Republic participating in the military parade of the thirtieth instant, in honor of the centennial of the inauguration of George Washington as President of the United States.

* * * * * * *

Sixteenth. The New York troops. First Brigade. The regiments will take trains on the Sixth and Ninth Avenue Elevated Railroads to Cortland and Barclay streets, as follows: Seventh Regiment at Fifty-eighth street and Sixth avenue, at 9 A. M. to Cortlandt street, and the other regiments by Ninth avenue to Barclay street, as follows: Eighth Regiment at One Hundred and Sixteenth street at 8.45 A. M.; Ninth Regiment at Twenty-third street at 9.15 A. M.; Seventy-first Regiment at Forty-second street at 9.30 A. M.; Twenty-second Regiment at Fourteenth street at 9.50 A. M.; Twelfth Regiment at Fifty-ninth street at 9.45 A. M. The Sixty-ninth Regiment will move through Eighth street, Astor place, Lafayette place, Great Jones street, Broadway and Murray street, to Church street, with right resting on Barclay street, reaching that position by 9.20 A. M. If the remainder of the brigade is also assembled entirely by marching the brigade commander will so direct the march of the different regiments that the portion of the city south and east of Twenty-ninth street, Eighth avenue, Hudson street, Canal street, West Broadway, Chambers street and Broadway shall not be encroached upon. The brigade will be in position on Church street, Trinity place and Rector street, with right on Broadway, by 10.20 A. M.

Second Brigade.—The Thirteenth, Fourteenth and Twenty-third Regiments and Third Battery, over the Brooklyn bridge, to the south on Park row and through Frankfort street to William street. The Thirty-second and Forty-second Regiments from Brooklyn by the Roosevelt Street Ferry and through South street, Dover street and Frankfort street to William street. Then the entire brigade moves through William street until right rests on Pine street, reaching that position by 10.30 A. M.

After the President and all the invited guests have left the sub-treasury, upon the conclusion of the literary exercises, the Second brigade will move on Pine street until its right rests on Broadway.

Third Brigade.—By steamboat Grand Republic from Fifty-fifth street and Hudson river to pier foot of Murray street, then by Murray street and Greenwich street to Rector street, with right on Trinity place, reaching that position by 11 A. M.

As their front is uncovered by the First Brigade, New York, they will move on to Broadway until their right rests on Pine street.

Fourth Brigade.—From Twenty-third street and Fourth avenue to the Twenty-third street station, Third Avenue Elevated Railroad, taking trains at 9.30 A. M. to Chatham square. Then through Chatham street and Park row to Nassau street, with right on Pine street.

Or entirely by marching through Twenty-third street, Third avenue, the Bowery, Chatham street and Park row to Nassau street, right resting on Pine street, reaching that position at 11 A. M.

* * * * * * *

32. As the troops reach the points designated for assembling the different sub-divisions will be closed up as much as possible, the depth of column being made less than that required by a tactical closing in mass; on entering Broadway the companies will be formed with not more than twenty nor less than sixteen files front.

33. As soon as the President enters the sub-treasury after the religious exercises at St. Paul's church, which will be concluded about 9.45 A. M., the column will move, at full distance, up Broadway,

Waverly place, Fifth avenue, East Fourteenth street, Fourth avenue, East Seventeenth street, Broadway, East Fifteenth street, and Fifth avenue to Twentieth street, when it will be halted and line formed along the route enumerated against the east curb of Fifth avenue, the north curb of Fifteenth street, the west curb of Broadway, the north curb of Seventeenth street, the east curb of Fourth avenue, the south curb of Fourteenth street, the east curb of Fifth avenue, the north curb of Waverly place and the east curb of Broadway, until the left rests on Pine street; field officers and general officers with their staffs will not remain in front of the line, but form on the right of their troops against the street curb, so that the President and guests in carriages may pass along the front of the line from Pine street to Madison square.

As soon as the carriages have passed each regiment or battalion, the organizations in succession will wheel independently into column, close on their leading companies to half distance and advance promptly until they recover their proper distances from the troops in their front. That portion of the column massed on Broadway below Pine street, will at the same time move on Broadway at half distances, preserving such distances until after passing in review before the President.

After troops have passed in review they will not, in case of any check in the movement of the head of the column, mark time or halt to preserve the half distances, but will close in mass upon the troops in their front in order that no delay may occur in the passage in review.

34. The column will be reviewed by the President of the United States from the grand stand on the east side of Fifth avenue, opposite the Worth monument, Twenty-fifth street.

While passing in review all officers in uniform should carry drawn swords. Commanding officers of divisions, brigades, battalions and batteries salute with the sabre when passing the Commander-in-Chief. All other officers carry the sword at the shoulder as on inspection.

Chiefs of the Loyal Legion and of Grand Army divisions not in uniform, will salute by removing the hat. Governors of States are requested to salute by removing the hat. Their staffs will not salute. All colors dip to the Commander-in-Chief.

In order to secure uniformity of salutes, special attention is invited to these requirements.

Owing to the limited space in the vicinity of the reviewing stand, chief officers and their staffs will remain in column at the head of their troops after passing in review.

35. The column will be disbanded upon reaching Fifty-seventh street and Fifth avenue, in the following manner:

* * * * * * *

l. The First Brigade, New York, Seventh Regiment, north up Fifth avenue.

Sixty-ninth Regiment, east on Fifty-seventh street, Third avenue to Eighth street.

Eighth, Ninth, Seventy-first and Twenty-second Regiments, west on Fifty-seventh street, and by Seventh and Eighth avenues to their armories.

Twelfth Regiment, west on Fifty-seventh street, Ninth avenue to Sixty-second street.

The Second Brigade, New York, east on Fifty-seventh street to East river.

The Third Brigade, New York, west on Fifty-seventh street to Hudson river.

The Fourth Brigade, New York, east on Fifty-seventh street, Madison avenue to Twenty-seventh street.

Each division upon leaving Fifth avenue will march rapidly and far enough before making any halt to clear the way for succeeding divisions.

36. In the march of the several divisions toward their designated places, preparatory to entering the general column, the right of way must be conceded to that one of any two divisions which is to precede the other in the general column, and the latter will promptly give way whenever necessary, so that the former may pass. If this rule is carefully observed by all, there will be ample space and time for the formation and march of the column.

II. The commanding officer of the First Brigade will direct his signal corps and the First and Second Batteries to march to their positions in line at such time as will enable them to join the brigade not later than 10.20 A. M., bearing in mind the portion of the city ordered by the Grand Marshal not to be encroached upon.

III. The "Old Guard" will take its position on the left of the Fourth Brigade at 11 A. M., proceeding by way of the route indicated in special directions issued to it.

On reaching Fifty-seventh street and Fifth avenue, the "Old Guard" will turn west and by Fifty-seventh street and Seventh avenue march to its armory.

IV. Commanding officers of brigades are held responsible that their respective commands are at the points at the time as directed by the Grand Marshal, and that all other directions given by the latter, as republished above, are properly respected and carried out. They will report to the Adjutant-General at the corner of Rector street and Broadway, as soon as their commands are in proper position.

V. The staff of the Commander-in-Chief and Troop A will receive special directions as to movements on the thirtieth instant.

VI. If on the march a change of formation from column of companies to column of fours, or vice versa, take place, subdivision commanders will execute the change at the place where the first subdivision executes it, and regimental and battalion commanders should post a marker to indicate the point of change.

By order of the Commander-in-Chief.

JOSIAH PORTER,
Major-General and Adjutant-General.

JOSIAH PORTER,

Major-General and Adjutant-General.

GENERAL HEADQUARTERS STATE OF NEW YORK:

ADJUTANT-GENERAL'S OFFICE,
GENERAL ORDERS No. 19. ALBANY, May 9, 1889.

I. Rifle practice will be required of every officer and enlisted man, excepting those of organizations not armed with rifles, and musicians, of the First and Second Brigades, at Creedmoor, from May fifteenth to August thirty-first.

II. When a command has had one practice the brigade commander may, upon the application of its immediate commanding officer, secure one or more additional practice days.

III. Transportation, at a cost not to exceed fifty cents per man, will be provided by the Chief of Ordnance, upon requisition made direct to him by commanding officers, for each officer and enlisted man attending the first practice; for each officer and enlisted man who failed to attend the first, but attends the second practice, and for those for a second practice who were present, but failed to qualify, at the first practice; provided that the distance to the nearest available range exceeds three miles.

IV. Ammunition will be furnished to the commanding officers of organizations of the First and Second Brigades, on practice days at Creedmoor, by the General Inspector of Rifle Practice, who is authorized to make requistion for the necessary supply direct on the Chief of Ordnance.

V. Record books of field practice must be kept written up in ink. Alterations in score cards must be certified to by an Inspector of Rifle Practice. After each practice the score cards will be compared under the supervision of the senior Inspector of Rifle Practice present; the left half will be forwarded by such officer to the General Inspector of Rifle Practice within five days after the practice, the other half will be retained by the commanding officer of the organization practicing.

VI. The State prize will be competed for at Creedmoor as usual. The Brigade prize will be competed for under such conditions as shall be ordered by the commanding officers of Brigades. A prize of a value not to exceed fifty dollars will be awarded the company in each Brigade having the highest general figure of merit. Attention is called to R. 372, the last clause of which applies to the successful teams of 1886, 1887 and 1888.

VII. The first general practice should be completed before August first, but must be completed before September fifteenth next. Practice for the season will close November ninth next, and no scores made after that date will be recognized. Field practice books, fully written up, must be sent to the General Inspector of Rifle Practice, No. 18 Coenties Slip, New York city, on or before November 16, 1889.

VIII. The classification, order of duty, and general instructions prepared by the General Inspector of Rifle Practice, are herewith published for the guidance and observance of all concerned.

Classification.

The third class shall consist of all who do not appear on a range for practice.

The second class consists of all present for practice, without reference to qualifications in previous years, and the practice in this class will be at 100 yards standing, on a third class or No. 3 target, and at 200 yards kneeling, or sitting, on a third class or No. 3 target.

The first class consists of those who score twenty-five and upward in the second class, and the practice in this class will be at 200 yards standing, No. 3 target, and at 500 yards, lying prone, No. 2 target.

A score of twenty-five and upward in the first class constitutes a marksman, and entitles the maker to receive the State decoration.

A score of forty-two and upward in the first class constitutes a sharpshooter, and entitles the maker to receive a silver bar.

All officers and enlisted men who practice must shoot through the regular classes, except as otherwise hereinafter provided, and are prohibited from shooting for a second or higher score in a class in which they have already qualified. The record must stand upon the first qualifying score made. But should any marksman, without expense to the State, on other than a practice day, and under proper supervision, make a score qualifying as a sharpshooter, he will be credited with such score.

No score by officer or enlisted man will be recognized unless made at a target to which he has been regularly assigned, and where his name has been previously entered on a score blank.

First General Practice.

(a.) The practice will commence with class firing in squads, under a competent non-commissioned officer, or other duly designated instructor, at each firing point, and the whole under the supervision of an Inspector of Rifle Practice, subject to the orders of the commanding officer present.

Five consecutive shots will be fired at each distance.

This practice will be continued to the end by all present without reference to the scores recorded, except that those who fail to qualify in the second class may be restricted to two shots for practice at each of the higher ranges, and any officer or enlisted man who has won the marksman's decoration for the five years last past need not practice at the lower (i. e., 100 yards and 200 yards, standing and kneeling) ranges.

The practice at 500 yards may be postponed until after the course of firing in ranks.

In regular class practice no officer or enlisted man will be permitted to fire more than five consecutive shots at any one distance on the same day, except the necessary sighting shots to ascertain elevation, windage and the condition of pieces, which may be fired by officers or well instructed men, under the inspection or approval of an Inspector of Rifle Practice. Trial practice between classes will not be permitted.

At the first distance of either class (i. e., at 100 or 200 yards), a score of twelve or upwards is considered as qualifying, and second practice may be allowed to such men as fail to qualify at either distance (as above), provided time will permit; but third practice shall not be allowed in any case. If, however, the entire tour of duty, including volley and skirmish firing, has been performed, and time still permits, such practice may be had as the Inspector of Rifle Practice deems proper.

Those who may have qualified at 200 and 500 yards, but not at 100 and 200, may make their scores valid by practicing through the second class without shooting in the first again.

In regular practice each enlisted man will shoot with the piece issued by the State, and brought by him on the ground, unless the same is declared imperfect by an Inspector of Rifle Practice. In that case the man may shoot with the nearest approved piece in the ranks.

(b.) Volley Firing, Five Rounds.— Firing in ranks at 100 yards shall then be taken up in the following order, the squad or company being formed in single rank:

Fire by squad [or company], three rounds.

Fire by squad [or company], kneeling, two rounds.

(c.) Firing as Skirmishers.— The troops shall be exercised as skirmishers from 325 to 100 yards and return; firing, on the advance, one round at 300 yards, one at 200 yards, and one at 100 yards; and, on the retreat, one round at 150 yards, and one at 250 yards; great care being taken by each commanding officer that the men are deliberate and cautious, that no accident may happen. Officers should use discretion and tact, varying the drill according to their ground and targets, deploying men and taking such distances as targets and range will allow; each body of troops to be so divided that no more may be exercised at one time than can be readily handled on the range, a second-class target being used.

As soon as the last (fifth) shot is fired, assemble on the right (or left), thus leaving the front uncovered, so that the second squad or company may deploy; during this time the marking can be done.

Second or Third Day's Practice.

Those present will practice in the classes to which they respectively belong. In other respects the tour of duty will be identical with that prescribed for First General Practice, including volley firing and firing as skirmishers.

General Instructions.

Officers.— A sufficient number of commissioned officers must accompany all parties for rifle practice, to command and instruct the men. At least one company officer will be present with any part of his company on duty, and a field officer will take command of all the detachments of two or more companies.

In practice, officers shall shoot first, then non-commissioned officers, then privates, on such targets as may be assigned to their companies.

The responsibility of officers on the range is great. Officers should be proficient in the use of the rifle, and able to apply armory instruction in the field. The men will be instructed as much as possible while waiting their turns to shoot, and especially in aiming and position drill, for which a competent instructor should be detailed in each company. They should be taught how to blacken their sights and how to fix the correct elevation and windage before going to the firing points.

Surgeons.— Commanding officers shall, in all cases, detail a surgeon to accompany any party ordered out for rifle practice, and the duty should not proceed without the presence of a competent medical officer, provided the organization has one attached to it.

Inspection of Practice.— Brigade Inspectors of Rifle Practice will inspect the practice for the marksman's decoration (except the practice under paragraph IX of this order), and Brigade or Regimental Inspectors the class shooting in their respective organizations, and certify to the score cards.

Organizations having no Inspector of Rifle Practice will be inspected by the Brigade Inspector, or an officer detailed for that purpose.

An inspector who is not able to be personally present on any occasion of duty will so report to his commanding officer, who will then detail a competent officer to act in his stead.

Brigade Commanders will, on issuing any order relating to rifle practice, cause a copy to be sent to the General Inspector of rifle practice.

Wooden Targets for volley, and (where needed) for skirmish firing, should be erected without expense to the State on each range. A simple fence painted to represent the necessary lines or divisions, or a frame covered with paper or muslin painted, if backed by a mound sufficient for safety, will suffice. Iron targets, second class, may be used for skirmish drill, but must not be used for volley firing.

Front sight covers of such pattern as may be easily detached, will be allowed in practice for the marksman's decoration, but they must not be permanently attached to the rifle.

Particular attention is called to the fact that the 300 yard range has been eliminated from class practice, and that five shots kneeling or sitting at 200 yards were substituted for it; also that the volley firing will be performed in single rank.

IX. Members of the National Guard in uniform (coat or blouse, cap and belt) may practice under such supervision and with such competent instructors as the General Inspector of Rifle Practice may direct.

AT CREEDMOOR.

May fifteenth, sixteenth and seventeenth; June twelfth and twenty-sixth; July tenth and twentieth; August fourteenth; September eleventh; October ninth and nineteenth.

The scores made upon these days at 200 and 500 yards, of twenty-five and over, may qualify for the marksman's decoration; and scores made in any class at a regular Rifle Association match, in which the full military conditions, including uniforms, are observed, will be recognized as official; provided they are, in the opinion of the General Inspector of Rifle Practice, deserving of it. These practices will not, however, excuse absence from the first general practice.

The General Inspector of Rifle Practice will arrange the necessary details for this practice.

By order of the Commander-in-Chief.

JOSIAH PORTER,
Major-General and Adjutant-General.

By order of the Commander-in-Chief.

JOSIAH PORTER,
Major-General and Adjutant-General.

GENERAL HEADQUARTERS, STATE OF NEW YORK:

GENERAL ORDERS, No. 22.

ADJUTANT-GENERAL'S OFFICE,
ALBANY, May 17, 1889.

I. The following organization are detailed for tours of service at the Camp of Instruction:

From June 22 to June 29, 1889, the Seventh Regiment.

From June 29 to July 6, 1889, the Seventy-first Regiment, and the Fifth, Sixth, Eleventh and Seventeenth Separate Companies.

From July 6 to July 13, 1889, the Ninth Regiment, and the Tenth Battalion.

From July 13 to July 20, 1889, the Twenty-third Regiment.

From July 20 to July 27, 1889, the Twenty-second Regiment.

From August 10 to August 17, 1889, the Seventy-fourth Regiment, and the Second, Third, Twenty-fourth, Twenty-sixth and Thirty-second Separate Companies.

II. The usual allowance, together with rations and transportation will be made for bands coming to camp with their regiments prior to July twenty-seventh. A post band will be furnished by the State from July twenty-seventh to August seventeenth.

The commanding officers of regiments, who preferred to bring their own bands, will instruct the same that they become, for the time, the post band, and are subject to the rules and regulations of the camp and the orders of the Post Commander.

III. The detail of officers for service at the camp as post commander and his staff officers, as commanding and medical officers of the provisional battalions, will be announced later, but only such assistant surgeons of the separate companies as will be specially detailed, will accompany their respective companies to the camp.

IV. The general regulations, established for the government of the Camp of Instruction when occupied by troops, promulgated in General Orders Nos. 4 and 20, Series 1887, from this office, having been revised, are republished for the information and guidance of all concerned, and the attention of all officers is specially called to them:

1. The camp is constituted a military post, and will be conducted in accordance with the rules provided for the government of military posts, and these regulations.

The post commander will prescribe in orders the hours and calls of service and the duties to be performed; and the military exercises to be executed and practiced in camp shall consist of such tactical movements as can not be carried out in armories, of the skirmish drill, and of schools of theoretical instruction for officers and non-commissioned officers; but no reviews will be authorized except by orders from this office.

He will prescribe the amount of camp and garrison equipage and blank ammunition to be issued to the troops in camp.

2. No men shall be taken to camp who are not already sufficiently well drilled to take part in the prescribed exercises, nor any men (those reënlisted or taken up from dropped, excepted) who have been enlisted within sixty days of the beginning of the camp tour of their respective companies.

3. Theoretical instruction in guard duty should be imparted to non-commissioned officers and privates by their respective company commanders before entering the camp. Instruction as to the general routine and duties of soldiers in camp should also be imparted in the same manner.

4. The Chief of Ordnance, as such, and as Acting Quartermaster-General and Acting Commissary-General of Subsistence, will cause the Camp of Instruction to be prepared in time for its occupancy by troops. He will provide and keep at hand at the camp the necessary quartermaster and ordnance stores, and, after consultation with the Surgeon-General, the necessary medical stores and supplies; he will provide, by contract, for the furnishing of cooked meals to the troops in camp, and will see that the meals are properly and promptly furnished, well cooked, of wholesome quality and sufficient quantity; he will furnish the necessary transportation to officers and enlisted men, ordered there, to and from the camp; and he will exercise, in camp, a general supervision of all public property not by law and regulations in the care of others, the mess arrangements and the public buildings and grounds.

Transportation for troops to the camp will be furnished, as far as practicable, in such manner that they will arrive at the camp not later than 3 o'clock, P. M., of the day ordered.

5. The Surgeon-General is charged with the general supervision and direction of the medical service at the camp, and is authorized to select one competent person, who shall have charge, under his direction, of the medical stores at the camp, and who shall receive for his services transportation, rations and the pay allowed by law to hospital stewards.

6. The Paymaster-General is charged with the payment of the troops, and will take the necessary measures to pay each person entitled thereto on the last day of the tour of his organization in camp

The pay-rolls, in triplicate, will be prepared before going into camp by entering on them the name of each officer and enlisted man of the organization, with date of rank of officers and date of enlistment of the enlisted men. In camp credit will be given for the day, after retreat of such day, excepting the last two days, and the rolls fully completed, signed and amounts carried out, will be handed to the Paymaster-General as early before the close of the tour as possible, to enable him to pay the troops before their departure from camp. If practicable, the pay-rolls should be signed by the officers and enlisted men before coming into camp, but they must be signed on the first Sunday in camp. Special attention must be paid to the signatures, so that they correspond letter for letter with the names as entered on the pay-rolls. Initials standing for names are not sufficient.

Pay will be allowed to officers and enlisted men present for the days on which the regiment or company arrives at, and departs from, the camp; and for such other days of the tour during which they are present, at least from guard mounting in the morning until after retreat or dress parade in the evening, provided their whole stay in camp does not consist simply in coming to camp on Saturday and spending Sunday there, or staying but one day, and returning on Friday to depart again on Saturday.

7. Commanding officers of regiments, battalions, batteries and separate companies, and officers specially detailed, if not traveling with troops, will at once, upon notice of detail for camp service, make requisition for proper transportation of men and baggage from their station to the Camp of Instruction, direct, on the acting Quartermaster-General, the Chief of Ordnance, State Arsenal, Thirty-fifth street and and Seventh avenue, New York city. Commanding officers will specify the exact number of men, as nearly as possible, for whom transportation is required, and transportation will not be allowed for men, who, under section 2 of paragraph 11 of this order, will not be entitled to pay. On arrival in camp, or as soon thereafter as practicable, commanding officers of troops arriving by railway transportation will settle their transportion account with the Acting Quartermaster-General, the Chief of Ordnance. Transporation will be allowed for one servant for the officers of each company and the field and staff of a battalion, and for three servants for the field and staff of a regiment.

Horses for field officers will be furnished by the Post-Quartermaster, and transportation or forage will not be allowed for any other horses.

On the journey to and from, and the march into camp, the senior officer will command the troops present, and before leaving their stations commanding officers will telegraph to the Post Commander ("The Post Adjutant, Camp of Instruction, Peekskill, N. Y.") the strength of their command, servants separately.

8. Surgeons of regiments and assistant surgeons of separate companies detailed for camp service, if traveling with troops, will each make timely requisition through their immediate commanding officers, for a hospital knapsack, with medical stores and instruments, upon the acting Quartermaster-General, the chief of ordnance, to whom they will return such knapsack immediately upon the arrival of their regiment or companies at their regular stations.

Upon arrival in camp, commanding officers of regiments, battalions and detachments, and officers specially detailed, will at once report for instructions to the post commander, and regimental and battalion commanders will at the same time submit requisitions for the necessary quartermaster stores for the approval of the Post Commander.

10. Commanding officers of regiments and battalions will direct their respective senior medical officer to report, on arrival in camp, for orders and instructions to the Surgeon-General. The senior medical officer in camp will perform the duties of Post Surgeon, and within ten days after his return from camp, will, on Form 72, prepare and forward a report of his tour of service, through his regimental commander, to the Surgeon-General.

The hospital steward of the regiment in camp, or, if there be none, a suitable person selected by the Surgeon-General, will act as post hospital steward. Such person, or hospital steward, must have passed an examination before the State Board of Pharmacy, and be licensed as a druggist, according to the laws of the State; and regimental and battalion hospital stewards not so examined and licensed will not be recognized by the State, or permitted to act as hospital stewards. Regimental and battalion commanders ordered to camp duty, whose hospital stewards do not meet these requirements, will at once report the fact to these headquarters.

11. Regimental and battalion commanders, on arrival in camp, will direct their Commissaries of Subsistence to report for duty while in camp, to the acting Commissary-General of Subsistence, the Chief of Ordnance, without being, however, relieved from duty with their regiments or battalions.

A ration will consist of early bread and coffee, breakfast, dinner and supper. Ration returns will be prepared by the company commanders each day, immediately after retreat or dress parade, covering all the rations received by their respective commands during the day; as a basis for the return of the day will be taken the number of officers and men present at breakfast, allowing one day's ration for each; to this will be added the number of meals received by men joined subsequent to breakfast. Adjutants will perform the duties of a company commander for the field, staff, non-commissioned staff and band.

Company returns will be consolidated the same evening by regimental and battalion commanders, who will deliver the consolidation to the post commander; at the close of the tour, these officers will deliver to the Post Commander a consolidated return, in duplicate, of all the rations received, which will be the voucher upon which the Chief of Ordnance will pay the contractors.

Commanding officers of troops coming from distant stations should see that their commands are properly provisioned for the journey.

Rations will be allowed for the authorized number of servants.

11. Commanding officers of regiments, battalions and companies are, and will be held responsible for the correctness of returns and reports rendered by them.

There should be a well-instructed clerk to relieve the first sergeants of, or to assist them in, the clerical duty. In each company the first sergeant or the clerk should keep a list for each day, on which to place the name of every man arriving or leaving, and the hours of his arrival or departure during the day; this list will be found of great value to them in making the ration return, crediting the pay after retreat, and preparing the report book next morning.

The report book must show the condition of the company at the time the report is made, and the remarks are to explain all the alterations which may have occurred since making the last report.

Within ten days after the close of the camp tour, commanding officers of regiments and battalions will make reports to the Adjutant-General, of the general management of their command and the results obtained.

12. The State service uniform and equipments will be worn as issued; on drill, fatigue and when not on actual duty, the fatigue coat, R. 835, may be worn. White helmets may be worn by regiments and battalions fully supplied with them.

13. The officers detailed as commanding officers of battalions are authorized, each, to select two competent officers of suitable rank, and and five non-commissioned officers, to serve with them at the Camp of Instruction, respectively, as adjutant, quartermaster and commissary of subsistence, sergeant-major, quartermaster-sergeant, color bearer, provost sergeant and clerk.

The names of officers and non-commissioned officers thus selected will, as soon as possible, be reported to the Adjutant-General.

14. The following books and blanks, furnished by the State, are required in camp:

By regimental and battalion commanders, forms 8, 12, 56, 69, 70.

By surgeons, forms 13, 71, 72.

By company commanders, forms 9, 56, 69.

And the attention of all officers is especially called to R. 134, 135, 170, 179, 180, 376, 387, 412, 473, 475, 477, 478, 479, 773.

V. Persons not connected with the administration of the post, or not being members of an organization in camp, will not be permitted in the camp after tattoo.

The sale of all spirituous liquors, wine, ale, or beer, and all huckster and auction sales within one mile of camp are prohibited.

No ale, beer, wines or spiritious liquors shall be used in camp, except upon the prescription of a medical officer of the post.

Fire-works, illuminations and other out-of-place performances will not be permitted.

By order of the Commander-in-Chief,

JOSIAH PORTER,
Major-General and Adjutant-General.

If, from lack of target accommodation, or other good reasons, any organization should need another day to complete its practice, the commanding officer will make application accordingly to the General Inspector of Rifle Practice, who is authorized to select an additional day, or days, if, in his opinion, it be necessary.

II. Previous to the dates specified above in paragraph I, each Separate Company and the Sixth Battery will have such practice, on the usual ranges, as its commanding officer may order, particularly in the second class, qualifications in which only will be allowed; and the range at

BAY VIEW

Will be open on June 10, 11 and 12, for use by the Seventy-fourth Regiment; on June 17, 18 and 19, for use by the Sixty-fifth Regiment; the range at

RENSSELAERWYCK

On June 3, 4, 5 and 6, for use by the Tenth Battalion.

These practices to be under charge of the commanding officer, or an officer designated by him. The scores must be kept in duplicate, one copy to be retained by the commanding officer, and the other to be forwarded within five days after the practice, to the General Inspector of Rifle Practice, and the officer present at the practice to certify, on honor, on the score cards, to the correctness of the scores made.

III. Commanding officers of organizations of the brigades mentioned will make requisition for the necessary supply of ammunition direct on the Chief of Ordnance, State Arsenal, corner of Seventh avenue and Thirty-fifth street, New York city, at the rate of fifty rounds per officer and enlisted man, members of their respective commands on the thirty-first day of March, past.

IV. Record books of field practice must be kept written up in ink. Alterations in score cards must be certified to by the Inspector in charge. After each practice he will cause the score cards to be compared, and will forward the LEFT half to the General Inspector of Rifle Practice within five days after the practice; the right half to be handed the commanding officer of the organization practicing.

V. The State prize will be competed for at Creedmoor as usual. The brigade prizes will be competed for under such conditions as shall be ordered by the commanding officers of brigades. A prize of a value not to exceed fifty dollars will be awarded the company in each brigade having the highest general figure of merit. Attention is called to R 372, the last clause of which applies to the successful teams of 1886, 1887 and 1888.

VI. Practice for the season will close November ninth, next, and no scores made after that date will be recognized. Field practice books, fully written up, must be sent to the General Inspector of Rifle Practice, No. 18 Coenties Slip, New York city, on or before November 16, 1889.

VII. The classification, order of duty and general instructions, prepared by the General Inspector of Rifle Practice, are herewith published for the guidance and observance of all concerned.

Classification.

The third class shall consist of all who do not appear on a range for practice.

The second class consists of all present for practice, without reference to qualifications in previous years, and the practice in this class will be at 100 yards standing, on a third class or No. 3 target, and at 200 yards kneeling or sitting, on a third class or No. 3 target

The first class consists of those who score twenty-five and upward in the second class, and the practice in this class will be at 200 yards standing, No. 3 target, and at 500 yards lying prone, No. 2 target.

A score of twenty-five and upward in the first class constitutes a marksman, and entitles the maker to receive the State decoration.

A score of forty-two and upward in the first class constitutes a sharpshooter, and entitles the maker to receive a silver bar.

All officers and enlisted men who practice, must shoot through the regular classes (except as otherwise hereinafter provided), and are prohibited from shooting for a second or higher score in a class in which they have already qualified. The record must stand upon the first qualifying score made. But should any marksman, without expense to the State, on other than a practice day, and under proper supervision, make a score qualifying as a sharpshooter, he will be credited with such score.

No score by officer or enlisted man will be recognized, unless made at a target to which he has been regularly assigned, and where his name has been previously entered on a score blank.

First General Practice.

(a.) The practice will commence with class firing in squads, under a competent non-commissioned officer, or other duly designated instructor, at each firing point, and the whole under the supervision of an Inspector of Rifle Practice, subject to the orders of the commanding officer present.

Five consecutive shots will be fired at each distance.

This practice will be continued to the end by all present without reference to the scores recorded, except that those who fail to qualify in the second class may be restricted to two shots for practice at each of the higher ranges; and any officer or enlisted man who has won the marksman's decoration for five years need not practice at the lower (i. e., 100 yards and 200 yards, standing and kneeling) ranges.

The practice at 500 yards may be postponed until after the course of firing in ranks.

In regular class practice no officer or enlisted man will be permitted to fire more than five consecutive shots at any one distance on the same day, except the necessary sighting shots to ascertain elevation, windage and the condition of pieces, which may be fired by officers or well-instructed men, under the inspection or approval of the Inspector in charge. Trial practice between classes will not be permitted.

At the first distance of either class (i. e., at 100 or 200 yards) a score of twelve or upwards is considered as qualifying, and second practice may be allowed to such men as fail to qualify at either distance (as above), provided time will permit; but third practice shall not be allowed in any case. If, however, the entire tour of duty, including volley and skirmish firing, has been performed and time still permits, such practice may be had as the inspector in charge deems proper.

Those who may have qualified at 200 and 500 yards, but not at 100 and 200, may make their scores valid by practicing through the second class without shooting in the first again.

In regular practice each enlisted man will shoot with the piece issued by the State, and brought by him on the ground, unless the same is declared imperfect by the inspector in charge. In that case the man may shoot with the nearest approved piece in the ranks.

(b.) Volley Firing, Five Rounds.—Firing in ranks at 100 yards shall then be taken up in the following order, the squad or company being formed in single rank.

Fire by squad (or company), three rounds.

Fire by squad (or company), kneeling, two rounds.

(c.) Firing as Skirmishers.—The troops shall be exercised as skirmishers from 325 to 100 yards and return; firing, on the advance, one round at 300 yards, one at 200 yards and one at 100 yards; and on the retreat, one round at 150 yards, and one at 250 yards; great care being taken by each commanding officer that the men are deliberate and cautious that no accident may happen. Officers should use discretion and tact, varying the drill according to their ground and targets, deploying men and taking such distances as targets and range will allow; each body of troops to be so divided that no more may be exercised at one time than can be readily handled on the range, a second class target being used.

As soon as the last (fifth) shot is fired, assemble on the right (or left), thus leaving the front uncovered, so that the second squad or company may deploy; during this time the marking can be done.

Second or Third Day's Practice.

Those present will practice in the classes to which they respectively belong. In other respects the tour of duty will be identical with that prescribed for first general practice, including volley firing and firing as skirmishers.

General Instructions.

Officers.—A sufficient number of commissioned officers must accompany all parties for rifle practice to command and instruct the men. At least one company officer will be present with any part of his company on duty, and a field officer will take command of all the detachments of two or more companies.

In practice officers shall shoot first, then non-commissioned officers, then privates, on such targets as may be assigned to their companies.

The responsibility of officers on the range is great. Good officers should be proficient in the use of the rifle and able to apply armory instruction in the field. The men will be instructed as much as possible while waiting their turns to shoot, and especially in aiming and position drill, for which a competent instructor should be detailed in each company. They should be taught how to blacken their sights and how to fix the correct elevation and windage before going to the firing points.

Surgeons.—Commanding officers shall, in all cases, detail a surgeon to accompany any party ordered out for rifle practice, and the duty should not proceed without the presence of a competent medical officer, provided the organization has one attached to it.

Inspection of practice will be provided by the General Inspector of Rifle Practice, who will, if needed, apply to this office for the detail of an officer or officers for that purpose.

Wooden targets for volley, and (where needed) for skirmish firing, should be erected without expense to the State on each range. A simple fence painted to represent the necessary lines or divisions, or a frame covered with paper or muslin painted, if backed by a mound sufficient for safety, will suffice. Iron targets, second class, may be used for skirmish drill, but must not be used for volley firing.

Front sight covers of such pattern as may be easily detached will be allowed in practice for the markman's decoration—but they must not be permanently attached to the rifle.

Particular attention is called to the fact that the 300 yard range has been eliminated from class practice, and that five shots kneeling or sitting at 200 yards were substituted for it; also that the volley firing will be performed in single rank.

VIII. Members of the National Guard in uniform (coat or blouse, cap and belt) may practice under such supervision and with such competent instructors as the General Inspector of Rifle Practice may direct.

AT RENSSELAERWYCK.

June first, seventh, eighth; July sixth; August third; September seventh; October fifth and twenty-sixth.

AT BAY VIEW.

June thirteenth, fourteenth and fifteenth; July sixth; August third; September seventh; October fifth and twenty-six.

And the scores made upon these days, at 200 and 500 yards, of twenty-five and over, may qualify for the marksmen's decoration; and scores made in any class at a regularly authorized rifle association match in which the full military conditions, including uniform, are observed, will be recognized as official; provided they are, in the opinion of the General Inspector of Rifle Practice, deserving of it.

These practices will not, however, excuse absence from the first general practice.

The General Inspector of Rifle Practice will arrange the necessary details; and ammunition for this practice may be drawn, if needed, in the manner already prescribed (see par. 3), but not to exceed thirty rounds per man.

By order of the Commander-in-Chief.

JOSIAH PORTER,
Major-General and Adjutant-General.

GENERAL HEADQUARTERS, STATE OF NEW YORK:

ADJUTANT-GENERAL'S OFFICE,
ALBANY, May 25, 1889.

GENERAL ORDERS, No. 24.

I. Paragraphs 403, 407, 408, 412, 421 and 422 of the Regulations are amended to read as follows:

403. In case of disorder, a sentinel will cry, "The Guard." If a fire take place he will cry, "Fire," adding in either case the number of his post. If the danger be great, he will discharge his piece before calling.

407. The sentinel at the guard-house or guard-tents will challenge all persons who approach the post of the guard at night. After challenging and receiving a reply, he will command, "Halt," and will call, "Corporal of the Guard," repeating the reply of the person challenged. The corporal of the guard will then order the person to advance, receiving the countersign if he has it. If the person challenged be an officer entitled to inspect the guard, the corporal, after receiving the countersign, will say, "The countersign is right" and call, "Turn out the Guard," announcing the title of the officer challenged. The guard being paraded, the officer of the guard will say, "Advance, officer of the day," etc., adding, "With the parole," if he deem it necessary.

408. A general officer, or the commander of a regiment or post, may visit the guards of his command, and make such inspections as he may consider essential. He will be received in the manner prescribed for receiving the officer of the day. At night, or in the field, he will take from the main body of the guard such escort as he may deem necessary.

412. In camps of instruction the officer of the day making his round or rounds at night after 12 o'clock, may be accompanied by other officers, with the consent of the commanding officer, for purposes of instruction or inspection, but no person shall interrogate sentinels except the officer of the day.

421. Between reveille and retreat, sentinels will salute all officers by presenting arms.

422. Mounted sentinels, armed with the saber and with sabers drawn, will salute all officers by presenting saber; if armed with the carbine only, they will, on the approach of an officer, take the position of advance carbine. In challenging and holding communications, they will take the position of advance carbine, raise pistol, or guard, according as they are armed with the carbine, pistol or saber.

II. The heading "Grand Rounds," preceding paragraph 408, and the paragraphs 409, 410 and 423 of the Regulations are revoked, and in lieu of the latter paragraph the following is substituted:

423. A sentinel in a sentry-box, upon the approach of an officer, will stand at a carry, and, if armed with the rifle or carbine, will present arms as the officer passes.

By order of the Commander-in-Chief.

GENERAL HEADQUARTERS, STATE OF NEW YORK:

ADJUTANT-GENERAL'S OFFICE,
ALBANY, November 1, 1889.

GENERAL ORDERS, No. 35.

I. Commanding officers of regiments, battalions, batteries and separate companies, will establish schools of instruction for the officers, also schools for the non-commissioned officers of their respective commands, which shall be held at least once in each month until May first proximo.

The subjects of study at these schools shall be the drill regulations, guard duty, the Military Code and the State regulations.

Commanding officers of brigades will also order such schools of instruction for the officers of their brigades as they may deem necessary.

II. During the current drill season, commanding officers of regiments, battalions and separate companies, will give special attention to the theoretical, and if possible, practical instruction of their commands in skirmishing, guard-mounting and guard duties.

Recruits will not be permitted to drill or parade with their companies until they are thoroughly conversant with the school of the soldier, and well instructed in the duties of sentinels and in sighting and aiming.

Instruction in drum and trumpet signals will be given, so that officers and enlisted men may recognize them when sounded.

III. Commanding officers of companies will see that the enlisted men of their respective commands receive the necessary preliminary instruction in rifle practice, and, where possible, that they have gallery practice, before they are sent to the ranges.

The following instructions prepared by the General Inspector of Rifle Practice are prescribed:

SIGHTING.

1. A sand-bag for each squad will be placed on a rest, which may be a table, a tripod, or a stack of arms, and so arranged that the bag will be about four and one-half feet from the ground.

The men will be formed in single rank, and in squads not to exceed ten men in each.

The instructor will then flatten the sand-bag with the back of his hand, lay a full-cocked rifle on it, aim at some small object at as great a distance from it as the drill-room will permit (a wafer on the wall, for instance), and explain to the men the following simple rules:

The sights should not incline to the right or left.

The line of sight should be taken along the center of the notch of the rear-sight and the top of the front-sight, which should cover the middle of the mark aimed at.

The eye should be fixed on the mark, and not on the front-sight. Particular attention should be paid to this rule, as beginners are apt to fix the eye on the front-sight and not on the mark, which prevents the latter from being distincly seen, and greatly increases the difficulty in aiming.

2. The instructor will also explain the different kinds of sights, viz.:

Fine sight.— When the point of the front-sight is just seen through the notch of the rear-sight, the effect of which is to shoot low.

Full sight.— When the whole of the wedged-shaped portion of the front-sight is displayed through the notch on the rear-sight, the effect of which is to shoot high.

Half sight.— When but half the front-sight is seen.

3. At times during this drill, the leaf of the rear-sight should be required to be raised.

AIMING.

1. Come to the position of ready, and raise the leaf of the rear-sight.

2. Raise the rifle smartly in front of the right shoulder to the full extent of the left arm, without moving the body, head or eye; the arms to move close to the body; barrel nearly horizontal and pointing a few inches below the mark; the eyes fixed upon the forefinger inside the trigger-guard; both elbows inclined downward.

3. Press the piece smartly with both hands against the hollow of the shoulder, which must neither be allowed to give way nor pressed forward or raised to meet it; the left elbow at the same time being brought as far under the rifle as is possible without assuming an unnatural position; the right elbow slightly raised, being nearly square with the right shoulder; the center (or rather the upper than lower) part of the butt to be pressed firmly against the shoulder with the left hand without touching the collar-bone, the top of the butt being as nearly as possible even with the top of the shoulder; the forefinger will be placed around the trigger like a hook, but without pressing it; the head and body will be kept perfectly perpendicular the whole time, no attempt being made to look through the sights.

4. Close the left eye and incline the head to the right over the small of the stock so that the right eye may quickly perceive the coincidence of the rear and front sights, and the object aimed at.

5. Raise the head, look squarely to the front and bring the piece smartly to the first position.

Practice in aiming will be continued until the men aim quickly and correctly from the shoulder, after which they should be taught how to discharge the arm by pressing or squeezing the trigger, and especially to avoid a pull or jerk in so doing.

The instructor will also give such further instructions as his experience may suggest.

The General Inspector of Rifle Practice will arrange for the instruction of Inspectors of Rifle Practice, or of company officers in rifle practice, when deemed necessary by him, through the respective brigade commanders.

IV. Brigade commanders in person, or through staff officers, will see that the above directions are strictly complied with, and commanding officers of regiments, battalions, troops, batteries and separate companies will, on the first day of May next, report to these headquarters the manner of execution, and result of the foregoing instructions.

V. The attention of commanding officers of brigades, regiments and battalions, and of the members of boards of examinations, is called to General Orders No. 14, April 16, 1887, from these headquarters, which must be observed.

By order of the Commander-in-Chief.

GENERAL HEADQUARTERS, STATE OF NEW YORK:

CIRCULAR, No. 3. — ADJUTANT-GENERAL'S OFFICE, ALBANY, November 15, 1889.

The attention of officers is specially directed to the following matters, in which the troops of the National Guard have shown themselves deficient or neglectful, and open to criticism:

1. Many incorrect commands are used on drill and parade, and too frequently commands are badly delivered. A command should never be given otherwise than exactly in the words prescribed. The tone of command should be animated, distinct and of a loudness proportioned to the number of men under instruction. Each preparatory command is pronounced in an ascending tone of voice, but always in such a manner that the command of execution may be more energetic and elevated. For foot movements the command of execution is pronounced in a tone firm and brief. In mounted movements the preparatory commands are more or less prolonged to insure their being heard; the command of execution is always prolonged. A well defined pause separates the preparatory command and the command of execution; also the preparatory commands, where there are two or more. Commands should be correctly pronounced; custom has, however, sanctioned a deviation from the usual pronunciation of the word oblique, where the letter i may be pronounced as in oblige; and the word route, where ou may be pronounced as in out.

The preparatory command company, division or battalion, is frequently used when not prescribed, and omitted when it should be used; the same is true of the numerical designations of companies and divisions. The notice of change in the numerical designation is more often omitted than given.

2. One of the things most neglected, is the setting up drill, and the consequences of such neglect are conspicuous. As the importance of setting up can not be overestimated, soldiers should be frequently practiced in the drill, and the proper carriage of the body should be insisted on on all occasions when in uniform.

3. The first step forward in quick time, at the command march, should, as well as the subsequent steps, be thirty inches. It has been noticed that this first step is almost invariably short. It is the duty of officers and non-commissioned officers to cause this to be corrected. It is necessary also to remind officers and non-commissioned officers that, in quick time the cadence step should always be 120 to the minute.

4. In view of a probable change in the drill regulations, it is believed to be desirable that drills should be devoted to the practical movements, which must remain substantially the same in principle, whatever change may be made. The essentials of the manual, such as the carry, present, right shoulder, arms port, charge bayonets, loadings and firings, should be practiced rather than those which are non-essential, and which it is to be hoped may be discarded altogether. It is not only in contravention of present instructions to divide loading and firing and fixing and unfixing bayonets into superfluous motions, but it involves a waste of time which may be better devoted to other matters.

5. More attention should be given to guard duties. There are too many instances of non-commissioned officers who are totally lost as to their duties when on guard. Many officers are also found at fault. A thorough knowledge of guard duties can only be imparted to officers and men of the National Guard, who are in camp for only a brief period, by careful theoretical instruction which should precede practical instruction.

6. Overcoats and parts of uniforms, particularly fatigue uniforms, which are not in accordance with the provisions of the regulations, are not infrequently worn by officers and enlisted men. Commanding officers of regiments and companies are responsible, and should not permit such violations of the law.

7. Reports and returns are frequently not received when due, and often, when received, are found to be incorrect. A little thought in the preparation of these papers will make them correct, and save the maker more time than he gains, apparently, by hasty, ill-considered work.

The following reports, etc., are required of officers:

Of commanding officers of regiments and battalions:

Copies of orders, in which drills and parades are ordered, on date of issue to the Brigade Commander, and also direct to the Inspector-General.

Report of attendance, when not in camp or on other continuous duty, within ten days after the drill or parade, to the Brigade Commander, and also direct to the Inspector-General.

Quarterly returns of regiments or battalions, with sub-returns, on or before the tenth day of April, July, October and January, with enlistment papers, if no State service uniform was required during the quarter, to the Brigade Commander.

Annual muster-roll of field and staff, twenty days before the annual inspection and muster, direct to the Inspector-General.

Annual return of State property, with vouchers, within five days after the last day of September, direct to the Chief of Ordnance.

Annual consolidated return of attendance at five compulsory parades or drills, including camp tour and annual inspection, each as one parade or drill, within ten days after the expiration of each calendar year, to the Adjutant-General of the State direct.

Of commanding officers of companies of regiments and battalions:

Report of attendance, when not in camp or on other continuous duty, within five days after each regimental or battalion drill or parade, to the Regimental or Battalion Commander; and Delinquency return of the same of enlisted men is to accompany it.

Quarterly returns of the company, on or before the fifth day of April, July, October and January, with the enlistment papers, if requisition for State service uniforms has not been made, to the Regimental or Battalion Commander.

Annual muster-roll of the company, twenty days before the annual inspection and muster, direct to the Inspector-General.

Annual return of State property, with vouchers, on the last day of September, to the Regimental or Battalion Commander.

Of commanding officers of troops, batteries, separate companies, and signal and telegraph corps:

Copies of orders, ordering the drills and parades, mentioned in R. 365, subdivisions 1 and 2, on the day of issue to the Brigade Commander, and also direct to the Inspector-General.

Report of attendance, when not in camp or on other continuous duty, within five days after each brigade drill or parade, and after each of the drills and parades mentioned in R. 365, subdivisions 1 and 2; and Delinquency returns of the same of enlisted men, to the Brigade Commander.

Report of attendance, as described above, to Brigade Commander, also direct to the Inspector-General.

Quarterly return of organization on or before the fifth day of April, July, October and January, with the enlistment papers, if requisition for State service uniform has not been made, to the Brigade Commander.

Annual muster-roll of organization, twenty days before the annual muster and inspection, direct to the Inspector-General.

Annual return of State property, with vouchers, on the last day of September, direct to the Chief of Ordnance.

Annual consolidated return of attendance at five compulsory parades or drills, including camp tour and annual inspection each as one parade or drill, within ten days after the expiration of each calendar year, direct to the Adjutant-General.

8. Requisition for State service uniform is made, if needed, at the end of each month and accompanied by the enlistment papers of the men for whom uniforms are required, and forwarded to the Adjutant-General through the intermediate headquarters.

9. The attention of commanding officers of brigades, regiments, battalions, signal and telegraph corps, troops, batteries and separate companies, is called to the semi-annual return of delinquent officers, which is to be rendered on or before the fifteenth day of May and of November, each year.

10. Officers are requested to examine the last register of the officers of the National Guard, and report corrections at once; a number of personal histories of officers have not been received.

Whenever an officer dies, it is the duty of his immediate commander to report the fact at once, with date, place and cause, to the Adjutant-General. (R. 102.) In many instances this has not been observed.

JOSIAH PORTER,
Major-General and Adjutant-General.

OPINIONS OF THE JUDGE ADVOCATE GENERAL.

NEW YORK, January 15, 1889.

The Adjutant-General, S. N. Y.:

SIR.— I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of a communication from Lieutenant Colonel John B. Frothingham, Assistant-Adjutant General Second Brigade N. G. S. N. Y., asking that where an enlisted man has been dishonorably discharged under section 129 of the Military Code, if paragraph 166 of General Regulations does not provide a means for his reënlistment.

I am of the opinion that it does not. I am also of the opinion that so far as the General Regulations attempt to alter the language of section 129 of the Military Code, they are void and of no effect. That provision is in the nature of a severe penalty and the disqualification of an officer or enlisted man to serve in National Guard for the period of five years is peremptory and unqualified.

After the expiration of that period, however, I see no reason why he can not again enter the service, without, of course, any allowance for the time he had previously served.

I have the honor to remain,

CLIFFORD A. H. BARTLETT,
Judge Advocate General, S. N. Y.

168 NASSAU STREET,
NEW YORK, June 25, 1889.

To His Excellency, Governor David B. Hill, Commander-in-Chief, National Guard State of New York:

SIR.— I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your communication requesting my opinion on the words "gallant and meritorious services," as contained in the following section of the Military Code:

§ 146. Brevet commissions of a grade next higher than the ordinary or brevet commissions held by officers of the National Guard, may be conferred for gallant and meritorious services therein by the Commander-in-Chief upon the recommendation of their superior officers. Such brevets to carry with them only such privileges or rights of any kind as are allowed in like cases in the military service of the United States.

By section 146 of the Military Code of 1883 (chapter 299) the Legislature provided that "brevet commissions of a grade next highest to that of the ordinary or brevet commission held by officers of the National Guard may be issued for gallant, meritorious, efficient or long service, by the commander-in-chief, etc." Under this provision an officer whose services brought him within any one of the qualifications named could be breveted. This provision, however, was a broad departure from the rule prevailing, and which for over half a century has prevailed in the Regular Army regarding the conferring of brevet commissions. The tendency in this State has been to assimilate the National Guard system with that of the Regular Army, and to-day the two systems are, in their main features, alike. In 1885, the Legislature amended section 146 of the Military Code of 1883, as follows:

"Brevet commissions of a grade next higher than the ordinary or brevet commissions held by officers of the National Guard may be conferred for gallant and meritorious services therein by the Commander-in-Chief, etc."

This radical change of the law was simply in accordance with the law of the United States and with the custom which has prevailed in the United States army. The precise language inserted in the amendment, "gallant and meritorious services," is the settled and usual phrase used in conferring brevet commissions in the Regular Army and the enumerable instances in which such rank has been conferred illustrate how fixed and comprehensive, among military officers, the phrase has become.

Of the 2,000 and more illustrious names of graduates of the National Military Academy at West Point over ninety per cent of those who received brevet commissions from the President of the United States received such commissions for gallant and meritorious services or conduct in the field. Among the prominent names that one can recall is that of General Grant who was breveted First Lieutenant for gallant and meritorious conduct in the battle of Molino Del Rey. General Horace Porter who was breveted Captain for gallant and meritorious services at the seige of Pulaski; Major for gallant and meritorious services at the battle of the Wilderness; Lieutenant Colonel for gallant and meritorious services in the action at Newmarket Heights; and Brigadier-General for gallant and meritorious services in the field during the rebellion; General O. O. Howard, who was breveted Major-General for gallant and meritorious services at the battle of Ezra Church, and during the campaign against Atlanta; General Hancock who was breveted First Lieutenant for gallant and meritorious services in the battles of Contreras and Churubusco, and breveted Major-General for gallant and meritorious services at the battle of Spottsylvania; General Judson Killpatrick, who was five times breveted for gallant and meritorious services in the field. General McClellan, who had three brevet commissions conferred upon him for services in the Mexican War; he was breveted First Lieutenant for gallant and meritorious services in the battles of Contreras and Churubusco; Captain for gallant and meritorious services in the battle of Molino Del Rey (which commission he declined), and was again breveted Captain for gallant and meritorious services in the battle of Chapultepec. General Schofield, who was breveted Major-General for gallant and meritorious services in the battle of Franklin. General Hooker, who was breveted Major-General for gallant and meritorious services at the battle of Chattanooga. And General Pope, who was breveted Major-General for gallant and meritorious services in the capture of Island No. 10 in the Mississippi river.

These are a few instances of hundreds which fill the honorary roll of illustrious officers who have served their country in the field and I find no instance where a brevet commission has been issued to an officer in the service of the United States for gallant and meritorious service elsewhere than in the field, or in the presence of danger.

The power of the president to confer brevet commissions is limited to "time of war" and then only "for distinguished conduct and public service in presence of the enemy." (U. S. R. S., § 1209.)

"The word gallant is often compared with the words brave and courageous. Courageous is said to be generic, denoting an outward spirit which rises above fear ; brave is more outward making a spirit which braves or defies danger ; gallant rises still higher, denoting bravery on extraordinary occasions in a spirit of adventure. A courageous man is ready for battle ; a brave man courts it ; a gallant man dashes into the midst of the conflict." (Webster's Dictionary.)

"Valiant," says Smith, in his work on "Synonyms Discriminated," is mostly restricted to the courage of a soldier in war or combat, and is not so well applicable to persons collectively, now that soldiers act commonly under strict orders, except on extraordinary occasions, when they may act singly. The terms brave and gallant have almost supplanted the term valiant, which rather reminds us of the knights of old. Yet we still speak of him as valiant who performed some striking deed of bravery, or met any kind of danger in a spirited way. Valor is active courage. It strikes and strives against repeated perils, and bears great shocks without yielding, and struggles against heavy odds. Courage is impatient to attack. Valor refuses to yield or fly. Bravery exposes life and courts danger, and prefers death to dishonor. As valor refuses to retreat, so intrepidity refuses to be alarmed."

In the British army there is a regular promotion by brevet, and also the conferring of brevets on individuals, officers for special and meritorious services. The former are bestowed usually on occasions of the birth of an heir to the throne, the determination of a great war, the coronation or marriage of one of the royal family. Such promotions carry an increase of pay and rank, although in many cases the officers have never been in any actual service in the field, and this system has been the subject of much arbitrary abuse.

It is said that on one festival occasion some 200 colonels were at once made major-generals; and the brevets of 1846 occasioned an annual increase in the expenses of the nation of over $100,000. The other class of brevets — that is such as are bestowed for distinguished services in the field, and which are similar to those bestowed in this country, have been conferred upon many of the generals, lieutenant-generals and major-generals in the English army; but in every instance they have been conferred for actual meritorious service rendered in battle or in military operations against any enemy.

I am of the opinion, therefore, that the words "gallant and meritorious services," as used in the Military Code, refer to active services rendered in the field or in the presence of danger.

I have the honor to remain, very respectfully yours.

CLIFFORD A. H. BARTLETT,
Judge Advocate-General, S. N. Y.

NEW YORK, April 13, 1889.

The Adjutant-General, S. N. Y.:

SIR.— I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of a communication from Colonel Samuel M. Welch, Jr., Sixty-fifth Regiment, N. G. S. N. Y., desiring to know whether he shall grant the request of the civil service commission of Buffalo for permission to use the Sixty-fifth Regiment arsenal for the purpose of examining the physical qualifications of applicants for the police force.

The civil service commission was appointed and organized under the provisions of chapter 354 of the Laws of 1883, as amended by chapter 357 of the Laws of 1884. By section 3 it is made the duty of officers of the State of New York, or any political division thereof at any place outside of the city of Albany where examinations are directed by the rules of the board to be held, "to allow the reasonable use of public buildings and to light and heat the same for holding such examinations and in all proper ways to facilitate the same." It is also provided that all the examinations shall be public. (Section 8, chap. 354, L. 1883.)

I am of the opinion that it was not the intention of the Legislature in framing this statute to include "military officers" in the enumeration of "officer" or that the public buildings referred to should include arsenals or armories which are set apart and designated for the exclusive use of the National Guard of the State.

If the civil service commission can exact the use of the arsenal of the Sixty-fifth regiment for the purpose of holding its examinations there, it can do so at any time as long as such use is a "reasonable use," and it will subject the building to a public use which was not contemplated by the Legislature, for, under the provision of the statute to which I have already referred, all examinations shall be public. (Section 9.) In other words, the public at large would have the right to attend and be present during the examinations held by the civil service commission and overrun a building where State property is deposited, at a time when the officer responsible for its custody and safety would not be in command. I do not think the Legislature intended such a use of military property paid for and maintained exclusively for the use of the National Guard. The Chief of Ordnance is a bonded officer to the State in a large amount for the faithful discharge of the duties of his office, among which is to keep in good order and repair, arsenals, magazines and armories belonging to the State. (Section 21, M. C.) But the Legislature has empowered the Commander-in-Chief to make such orders, rules and regulations as he may deem proper for the observance of all officers and persons having charge of any arsenal or armory. (Section 65, M. C.)

Under this legislative power, the Commander-in-Chief, by General Orders No. 23, 1888, amended paragraph 818 of General Regulations, as follows:

"Armories and arsenals shall be used only by troops of the National Guard (except that they may be used by posts of the Grand Army of the Republic, or other veteran organizations of honorably discharged Union soldiers or sailors of the late war, in cases where such use is authorized by statute), and for such other purely military purposes as may be approved by the Adjutant-General."

This order of the Commander-in-Chief is, to my mind, conclusive on this question and must be observed by all commissioned officers of the National Guard.

I am, therefore, of the opinion that the request of the civil service commission should be denied.

I have the honor to remain, very respectfully yours.

CLIFFORD A. H. BARTLETT,
Judge Advocate-General, S. N. Y.

NEW YORK, April 13, 1889.

The Adjutant-General, S. N. Y.:

SIR.—I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of a communication from Captain Richard M. Bruno, late of the First Battalion N. G. S. N. Y., inquiring if he is still a member of the National Guard.

It appears that on the disbandment of the First Battalion in July, 1875, Captain Bruno was rendered supernumerary, but only reported to general headquarters once. The fact that he has not reported does not effect, in my opinion, his commission in the National Guard. By that commission he is an officer in the service, and he can only be deprived thereof through a discharge by the Commander-in-Chief; a sentence of a court martial or by removal by the Senate. (Military Code, sections 43 and 45; regulations 205 to 214, inclusive.)

By the Military Code as it existed at the time of the disbandment of the First Battalion (see section 24, chapter 80, Laws of 1870), officers rendered supernumerary by disbandment of Battalions were directed to report to the Adjutant-General, within one year from the date of being rendered supernumerary. They were not required to report at any other time or in any other manner. Captain Bruno having so reported, he is still not only a supernumerary officer of the National Guard, but a supernumerary officer whom the Commander-in-Chief may assign to active duty.

I have the honor to remain, very respectfully yours.

168 NASSAU STREET,
NEW YORK, October 24, 1889.

The Adjutant-General S. N. Y.:

SIR.—I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of a communication from Brigadier-General James McLeer, Second Brigade, N. G. S. N. Y., requesting information regarding his power to dismiss a commissioned officer under Military Code, section 129.

Section 129 of the Military Code enables the officer ordering a delinquency court, where the delinquent neglects or refuses to pay the fine within forty days after the same is imposed, to publish him in orders; and in addition to this the delinquent may be dishonorably dismissed from the service. These are separate provisions and either or both are available. The discharge, however, can only be by order of the Commander-in-Chief.

I have the honor to remain, very respectfully yours.

CLIFFORD A. H. BARTLETT,
Judge Advocate-General, S. N. Y.

168 NASSAU STREET,
NEW YORK, September 4, 1889.

The Adjutant-General, S. N. Y.:

SIR.—I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of a communication from Colonel Finklemeier, Thirty-second Regiment, N. G. S. N. Y., recommending the discharge of First Lieutenant John J. Elzenbeck, pursuant to section 129 of the Military Code and which was referred to me for my opinion.

The section referred to has reference to dismissals from the service and not to discharges. It is in the nature of a punishment and the word "dismissed" has been used by the Legislature as a term of dishonor or ignominy. It is to be found frequently in the articles of war, but always in connection with the sentence of a court-martial or some article reflecting upon the honor or reputation of the officer. (See Articles of War, 100, 106, 107.) I see no reason why the officer, having neglected to pay the fine imposed within forty days, can not be dishonorably dismissed from the service and such dismissal published in orders by the officer ordering the court.

I have the honor to remain, very respectfully yours.

168 NASSAU STREET,
NEW YORK, October 22, 1889.

The Adjutant-General, S. N. Y.:

SIR.—I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of a communication from Nathan Bijur, Esq., requesting further information regarding the rights of members of the National Guard with respect to free ferriage. The right to pass over ferries is secured only to persons belonging to the military forces of this State. Those claiming this right should be enabled to satisfy the ferry-masters that they are going to or returning from the performance of military duty required by law. This obligation is imposed upon those claiming the privilege, and unless they can show that they are within the law, they are not, in my opinion, entitled to the benefit of the statute. The ferry companies are not supposed to know that a person presenting himself at a ferry and claiming to pass free by reason of belonging to the military forces of the State is entitled to the privilege without some evidence.

First. That he belongs to the military forces of the State.

Second. That he is going to or returning from the performance of some military duty which he may be required by law to perform.

As I said in my previous opinion, members of the National Guard in uniform can ordinarily be assumed to be on duty; but this is only a presumption and by no means conclusive, and where a member of the military forces in uniform presents himself at a ferry, demanding to pass free, his right so to do can be challenged by the ferry-master and evidence required showing that he comes within the exemption of the statute.

The right of members of the military forces of the State to free ferriage when going or returning from Creedmoor depends wholly on whether such attendance is pursuant to orders or voluntary. Such attendance on days and at times ordered by competent authority, entitles members of the military forces to pass over ferries free.

I have the honor to remain, very respectfully yours.

Judge Advocate-General, S. N. Y.

168 NASSAU STREET,
NEW YORK, September 19, 1889.

The Adjutant-General, S. N. Y.:

SIR.—I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of a communication from Nathan Bijur, Esq., as counsel for a number of ferry companies, requesting my opinion regarding the right of members of the National Guard to pass over ferries, free.

Section 143 of the Military Code provides that any person belonging to the military forces of this State, going to or returning from any parade, encampment, drill or meeting, which he may be required by law to attend, shall, together with his conveyance and the military property of the State, be allowed to pass free through all toll-gates and over all toll-bridges and ferries.

Under this statutory provision, I am of the opinion that in order to entitle a person to pass over a ferry free, he must: First, belong to the military forces of this State; and, second, he must be going to or returning from a parade, encampment, drill or meeting which he has been required by law to attend. As the statute has imposed these conditions on the right of free passage, the person demanding the benefit of the privilege should be able to satisfy the ferry company that he is within the law. Members of the National Guard in uniform can ordinarily be assumed to be on duty, and passed over the ferry without hesitation. On the other hand, where members of the National Guard are in civilians dress, they should be able to satisfy the ferry-master, not only that they are such, but also that they are going to or returning from some place which they have been required by law to attend. This can be done without annoyance or difficulty by the production of a certificate of membership and a copy of the order or notice requiring the soldier's attendance.

I have the honor to remain, very respectfully yours.

GENERAL HEADQUARTERS, STATE OF NEW YORK:

CIRCULAR No. 1.

ADJUTANT-GENERAL'S OFFICE,
ALBANY, September 26, 1889.

The following is published for the information of the National Guard:

No. 168 NASSAU STREET,
NEW YORK, September 19, 1889.

To the Adjutant-General, S. N. Y.:

SIR.—I have the honor to call your attention to the following extract taken from my opinion disapproving a section of the by-laws of Company C, Twenty-second Regiment, N. G. S. N. Y.:

"I disapprove of the word 'honorary' and all reference to honorary members as used in Article II. After mature consideration I have come to the conclusion that the Military Code does not permit of any membership in the National Guard known as honorary, and that the civil associations provided for by section 139 are intended to be identical with and composed of precisely the same individuals as constitute the military body. The military body only includes commissioned officers and enlisted men. In other words, it includes only active members, those liable to do military duty and who are amenable to law. A careful reading of the section referred to makes this evident. It is the members of the company that may 'organize themselves into an association.' The members of the company are the commissioned officers and enlisted men, and as they can only organize 'themselves' into a civil association, they can not include in the organization those who are not members of the military body. As honorary members are not liable to military duty they have no place in the civil association. An honorary member is just as much a member of an association as an active member. His privileges are usually curtailed in some minor way, such as the right to vote, but, in other respects, especially as regards the free use of the quarters and property of the organization, he stands on equal footing with the active members. The Legislature did not intend to permit the armories and arsenals of the State to be used by a class who are independent of its laws, and who can not be called upon to perform duty for the State. It does intend, however, that those who enter the State service and devote their time and energy in its behalf, may form themselves into a civil association, and thus, while still remaining a strictly military body, may, at the same time, engage in friendly and companionable intercourse. It may be said that honorary members are an advantage to the organization and enable it to derive financial support and influence without in any way interfering with its efficiency as a military body. But the question to be determined is not one of policy, but of purely statutory construction. It is the Legislature that has made the law, and, as the law is promulgated, so it must be obeyed. I am, therefore, of opinion that all provisions in these by-laws, and in the by-laws of all other civil associations, providing for honorary members are unlawful and contrary to section 139 of the Military Code."

The question is one of so much importance that I think the substance of my opinion might with propriety be promulgated by General Order.

I have the honor to remain, very respectfully yours.

CLIFFORD A. H. BARTLETT,
Judge-Advocate-General, S. N. Y.

By order of the Commander-in-Chief.

JOSIAH PORTER,
Major-General and Adjutant-General.

168 NASSAU STREET,
NEW YORK, October 25, 1889.

The Adjutant-General, S. N. Y.:

SIR.— I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of a communication from Captain Henry Smith, Thirteenth Separate Company, N. G. S. N. Y., inquiring if after ordering twelve compulsory drills this year he has the power to order weekly drills when they are not prescribed by the by-laws or by resolution.

Section 68 of the Military Code prescribes three things:

First.— For not less than five compulsory regimental drills and parades.

Second.— In addition thereto for not less than twelve compulsory drills in the evening, to be specified by the commanding officers of organizations.

Third.— For such drills and parades in the evening as the members of the organization shall prescribe in their by-laws or by resolution.

It will be noticed that this section does not limit the number of drills to be specified by the commanding officers of organizations.

It does provide that there shall not be less than twelve, but it does not provide that the number that the commanding officer may specify may not be twenty or twenty-five or even thirty. This discretion has been vested in the commanding officers of organizations and is to be exercised by them and by them alone.

In the present case I am of the opinion that the commanding officer, after having specified twelve drills to be held in the evening, could specify as many more as he considered would be to the advantage of his organization, irrespective of any by-law or resolution of his organization.

I have the honor to remain, very respectfully yours.

NEW YORK, October 29, 1889.

The Adjutant-General, S. N. Y. :

SIR.—I have the honor to inclose herewith an opinion which I have written construing section 123 of the Military Code. I deem this to be one of, if not the most important opinions I have written, and one that will necessarily affect every organization of the National Guard. I hope you will carefully consider it, and if it meets with your approval, I think it should be embodied in a general order, so that there may be no question as to its being observed.

I have the honor to remain, very respectfully yours.

Judge Advocate-General, S. N. Y.

GENERAL HEADQUARTERS, STATE OF NEW YORK:

ADJUTANT-GENERAL'S OFFICE,
CIRCULAR No. 2. ALBANY, November 14, 1889.

The following is published for the information of the National Guard :

No. 168 NASSAU STREET,
NEW YORK, October 29, 1889.

The Adjutant-General, S. N. Y.:

SIR.—I am aware, that for years, it has been customary for the by-laws of organizations to provide for fines for non-attendance at drills, and that to-day in nearly every one of the by-laws of organizations of the National Guard, fines for absence from drill are specified.

The presence of any such provision in the by-laws is unauthorized and unlawful. The Legislature has provided by section 123 of the Military Code, that "every enlisted man who shall, without proper excuse, be absent from, or in any other respect delinquent at any drill, parade or encampment, meeting for instruction, or other duty ordered by competent authority, shall be fined by a delinquency court for enlisted men, not more than five nor less than one dollar for each absence or other delinquency." There is a plain direction that if an enlisted man is to be fined for absence from duty, he can not be fined less than one dollar for each delinquency. What right, then, have organizations to insert provisions in their by-laws, providing that enlisted men in case of absence from drill, parade or other military duty, shall be fined differently than the Legislature has enacted by statute? While organizations may adopt by-laws, and enlisted men offending against them may not only be tried by a delinquency court, but may be expelled from the organization (M. C., § 140), still there is no power given them to legislate on the subject of the fines to be imposed for absence from any military duty ordered by competent authority. (M. C., § 123.) This construction of the statute necessarily eliminates all such provisions from the by-laws of military organizations and limits the discretion of delinquency courts in the imposition of fines. It may be contended that the section of the Military Code quoted has always been construed as applying only to battalion drills and regimental parades and that it has no reference to company drills. But the statute will not bear such a narrow construction. Its language is broad enough to include all duty ordered by competent authority and there is nothing from which the inference can be drawn that the Legislature intended to give it the limited application suggested. I am, therefore, of the opinion that the only fines that can be enforced for absence from drills or other military duty ordered by competent authority are provided by section 123 of the Military Code, and that all provisions on the subject contained in the by-laws of any organization of the National Guard are unlawful.

I have the honor to remain, very respectfully yours.

CLIFFORD A. H. BARTLETT,
Judge Advocate-General, S. N. Y.

By order of the Commander-in-Chief.

JOSIAH PORTER,
Major-General and Adjutant-General.

168 NASSAU STREET,
NEW YORK, December 16, 1889.

The Adjutant-General, S. N. Y.:

SIR.—I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of a communication from Captain Harper, Company I, Seventh Regiment, N. G. S. N. Y., referred to me from general headquarters for my opinion regarding certain questions relating to the dropping from the roll of Private Henry B. Dwight.

I am of opinion that under the law as it stood in September, 1878, there was no authority for dropping Private Dwight from the rolls of his company for temporary physical disability. He has, therefore, continued to be a member of his company and an enlisted man in the National Guard, and upon his performing the necessary percentage of military duty, he would be entitled to his discharge.

I have the honor to remain, very respectfully yours.

CLIFFORD A. H. BARTLETT,
Judge Advocate-General, S. N. Y.

REPORT OF THE INSPECTOR-GENERAL.

STATE OF NEW YORK:

INSPECTOR-GENERAL'S DEPARTMENT,
ALBANY, December 1, 1889.

The Adjutant-General, S. N. Y., Albany:

SIR.— Complying with the provisions of M. C. 20 and R. 589, I have the honor to transmit my report for the current year.

Accompanying this I beg to submit reports of inspection and muster of the several organizations of the National Guard made by the Assistant Inspector-General, pursuant to General Orders Nos. 7, 13 and 31, General Headquarters, S. N. Y., and dated respectively February 21, April 5 and September 13, 1889.

The result of the muster shows the aggregate strength of the National Guard at that time to be 13,917, subdivided as follows:

General headquarters	32
Brigadier-generals and staffs	53
Cavalry	81
Infantry	13,263
Artillery	446
Signal corps	42
Aggregate strength	13,917
Aggregate strength at muster of 1888	13,454
Showing a gain in the aggregate during the year of	463

Since the war the National Guard of the State of New York has made great progress, and the fact that it has been capable of reaching so high a degree of proficiency gives the hope that it may become in the near future a thoroughly homogeneous, well disciplined and reliable military force.

Some of the organizations have attained a state of great efficiency, others leave much to be desired.

Under present conditions almost the entire responsibility for the success of a command rests on its commander; a good colonel has a good regiment, and a good captain a good company; if either organization is retrograding, or is bad, the commanding officer must look to himself for the remedy.

Great care should be exercised in recruiting. The antecedents and employment of all applicants should be ascertained, and their surroundings known.

The number of men on the roll of a company is no criterion of its prosperity; the percentage of men present for duty at drill constitutes its strength.

The social element in the National Guard is a potent factor and no self-respecting man will enlist in a company in which the officers are bad, or in which there is a bad element in the ranks.

To raise the standard and make it more difficult to enlist will increase the applications.

There are two prominent causes for the absentee list being large in some commands, and necessitating the discharge of many men before the expiration of their enlistment: First, want of care in enlistment, and, second, an erroneous idea of discipline. Military orders should always be enforced with courtesy and firmness, without discussion. An order given should be followed up, and it should never be allowed to remain unexecuted. Violence of speech and manner have no place in the military establishment of this country.

I have the honor to recommend that a record, certified to by the company commander and first sergeant, be kept at each brigade headquarters, of the yearly attendance at drill of every command in the brigade, and at the expiration of the drill season cases which demand investigation should be looked into and reported upon to the Adjutant-General by the brigade commander.

Too much care can not be exercised by the brigade commanders in the selection of officers for the boards of examination, for upon them the fitness of the officers of the National Guard depends. The same care should be exercised in the appointment of the boards for the examination of non-commissioned officers.

In the First and Second brigades, where the troops are within easy reach of the brigade commander, they should be constantly under his supervision, and frequently feel his authority in their armories. Many of the organizations, instead of realizing their intimate and important official relationship to their immediate superior, regard his headquarters only as the channel of their official correspondence.

The proper dependence of one grade upon a higher leads to prompt obedience and to homogeneity.

More care should be taken in drilling recruits before they take their place in the ranks of their companies. This is one of the great elements of success in those organizations which have reached the highest standard in the National Guard.

In order that there may be no misunderstanding in future in regard to the "Annual Inspection and Muster," the following requirements are given on which the military appearance of the companies will be judged:

Carefully prepared and correct muster-rolls. Percentage of attendance. Arms clean and in good order. Clean shoes. Where practicable wide-toed and wide-soled substantial shoes should be worn. Trousers well fitting, in good repair, clean and, when practicable, pressed. Coats clean, made to fit, in good repair, neat about the neck. Canteen and haversack worn well to the rear and in good order. Knapsack in good order, straps serviceable. Overcoats carefully rolled and strapped thereon. Blouses, caps and leggings (clean) in knapsack. The blouse folded and in good order, the cap clean and brasses bright. Brasses clean on helmet. Belt plate clean. Helmet worn square on the head, tipped neither to one side or the other. Belt in good order and above lower row of buttons, belt plate midway between the two rows of buttons. Cartridge boxes capable of being opened with ease, free from cartridge shells or cartridges, block in place. When beard is not worn, face cleanly shaven, hair not unnecessarily long. Gloves clean.

At attention the men in ranks should stand as prescribed in tactics, heels together, head and eyes to the front, no gazing about, no talking, no unsteadiness.

Captains should see that no tobacco is used when in ranks.

Great carelessness exists throughout the National Guard in saluting, by both officers and men. This recognition of superior authority should be strictly observed.

In the manual of arms constant attention should be given to the firings. In cases where the companies are well instructed marksmen, there should be more volley firing at Creedmoor.

Every man should be thoroughly familiar with his weapon and accustomed to its use at the armory range.

A sufficient quantity of ammunition should always be kept in the armories for emergency.

There is a great want of promptness in many cases in the formations. Officers and non-commissioned officers are slow in getting to their places. Movements are too automatic. Celerity and precision are compatible.

The time spent in camp should be increased. A week once in two years, beneficial as it proves, is insufficient.

Time spent on the various systems of riot drill is wasted. The United States tactics, supplemented by common sense, are ample for all emergencies. Excellent essays on street fighting have been written by National Guard officers and should be carefully read.

The State troops will never present a thoroughly soldierly and neat appearance until captains are more careful about the clothing furnished fitting properly.

Officers of certain organizations are in the habit of addressing one another familiarly by the abbreviation of titles. This is highly unmilitary and should be discontinued.

Inspections should be held, as far as practicable, in the spring and out of doors. Regimental inspections in an armory give an imperfect idea of the proficiency of a command. They cover only the general military bearing and neatness, affording no thorough means of judging of instruction.

Some slight variations are observed in the manner of conducting reviews and inspections, even in the same brigade. These differences should be eliminated by order from general headquarters.

The present knapsacks are poor, but for the present I recommend no change.

I respectfully recommend that the new armory in course of construction for the Twenty-second Regiment be utilized for the First and Second Batteries, the Signal Corps and the Troop, temporarily for the latter. It is a mistake to place one infantry armory in such close proximity to another as the new Twenty-second Regiment armory, as at present intended, will be to the armory of the Twelfth Regiment. If the artillery were quartered as suggested they would be in easy supporting distance of the Twelfth Regiment.

A reduction of the grade of many staff officers should be made. Officers who do the work should have the rank. A multiplication of military titles, without commensurate occupation, lowers the dignity of the service, and detracts from the value of rank in the National Guard.

A habit obtains in certain organizations, at the commencement of a movement, of stamping the feet. This should be discontinued.

At the next annual inspection it will be unnecessary to call attention to so many minor details as have been mentioned in this report.

The celebration incident to the 400th anniversary of the discovery of this country will probably necessitate the turning out of the National Guard on many occasions of ceremony. It is within its power to be equal to the occasion, and to prove itself worthy of the liberality and confidence reposed in it by the people of the State.

Major Montant, Assistant Inspector-General, First Brigade, accompanied me at most of the inspections of the First Brigade, and Major Sanger at all of those of the Second Brigade.

Colonel Thomas H. McGrath was present at all inspections and gave me the benefit of his long and valuable experience.

The details of the inspection of each company will be found on its muster-roll.

Strength of the National Guard, State of New York, of the regiments and companies will be found at the end of this report.

Also the report of Colonel Thomas H. McGrath, Assistant Inspector-General.

FIRST BRIGADE SIGNAL CORPS.

The First Brigade Signal Corps, was inspected on Thursday, October 10, at 8 P. M., in the armory of the Seventy-first Regiment, corner of Forty-fifth street and Broadway.

There were present seventeen (17) men out of an aggregate strength of twenty-four.

The signal apparatus was in good order, with the exception of a few of the sockets of the torches, which were bent and liable to break.

Uniforms were in serviceable condition; belts and sabres serviceable.

No blouses, knapsacks, haversacks, canteens, oil, wicks for torches or horse equipments had been issued.

One telegrapher and one stenographer belonged to the corps.

There is no proper place in the quarters assigned to this organization for the safe-keeping of the State property.

The command was steady and military in appearance.

Points in the city have been selected from which signals can be sent in all directions, but practical test has never been made.

Proficiency in signaling was as advanced as could be expected as only very few drills had been given in the new Code.

I have the honor to recommend that the Signal Corps be provided with proper quarters, either with one of the batteries or preferably with Troop "A," when suitable accommodations are furnished for it. That it be placed upon a mounted basis, in consideration of the weight the men have to carry in addition to the ordinary foot equipments, the distance they have at times to travel and the celerity necessary.

Each man should be provided with a signal kit, as by detail of an equal number of men for duty with the Signal Corps, the available force would be doubled.

The equipments should be as follows: Reinforced cavalry trousers, dress-coat, blouse, helmet, cap, haversack, canteen, bag, in lieu of knapsack, signal kit, carbine and cartridge belt or box.

Day and night signaling should be frequently practiced in the open air. The armory towers should be so arranged as to make this not only feasible but thoroughly convenient. Messages should be exchanged between New York and Brooklyn.

The work incident to the Signal Corps is easy, interesting and susceptible of infinite variation. An effort should be made to secure as recruits telegraphers and stenographers or those anxious to become familiar with these branches.

The Captain of the First Brigade Signal Corps is competent and zealous, and with proper aid from the State will undoubtedly add greatly to the efficiency of this most valuable branch of the military service. He purposes instructing other commands desiring it, during the ensuing winter.

SECOND BRIGADE SIGNAL CORPS.

The Second Brigade Signal Corps was inspected in the armory of the Third Battery on Friday, October eleventh, at 8 P. M.

Present at inspection, sixteen (16) men; absent, two (2); aggregate, eighteen (18), including three (3) telegraphers.

Uniforms in good order, with the exception of fatigue caps, which are unserviceable; sabres and pistols serviceable; no horse equipments or knapsacks; kits in good order, with the exception of the sockets of torches, which in a few cases were bent and would soon break in service.

Only three drills had taken place in new Code. The proficiency was as good as could be expected under the circumstances.

During the past year many night drills had taken place with the torch, in the open air, and several day drills with the flag.

Communication from all the armories to Second Brigade headquarters had been established, but none had yet been attempted with New York.

The command presented a military appearance.

The same recommendations as made for the First Brigade Signal Corps apply to this organization.

The commanding officer has ability and enthusiasm for his work.

Great improvement is looked for in the Signal Corps of both Brigades during the ensuing year.

FIRST BATTERY.

The First Battery, New York city, was inspected at its armory, at the Wendel assembly rooms, on Forty-fourth street near Eighth avenue.

There were present one hundred and four (104) out of an aggregate of one hundred and five (105) men.

The command presented a good appearance, a few slight errors were made in the ceremonies of review and inspection. With that exception the battery was well handled.

The drill was good, which, owing to the limited space was only participated in by a portion of the command.

Uniforms were in good order with the exception of a few caps.

Equipments in good order. Brasses and shoes not as clean as necessary.

A few men were short of uniforms.

The prolonges were not serviceable and not proper prolonges for the three-inch gun.

Harness very old and many parts unserviceable. It was well kept. It should be wholly condemned as unfit to repair. Gun carriages were rotten.

Four wooden horses should be supplied this battery for harness drill. Under present conditions the battery has to hire horses at its own expense for this purpose.

A small amount of ammunition was on hand but not properly stored, there being no suitable place in the building.

No target practice or no practical use of the guns had taken place for many years.

The battery was mounted three times during the past year.

This command should be moved at the earliest practical moment from its present quarters and given a suitable armory. The present accommodations are utterly unfit for the purpose.

The men were steady and silent in ranks, and kept their heads and eyes to the front while at attention.

THIRD BATTERY (GATLING).

On Tuesday, October fifteenth, the Third Battery of Brooklyn was inspected. Present sixty-nine (69) men; absent, ten (10); aggregate, seventy-nine (79).

Uniforms in good order; equipment and sabres in good order; brasses and shoes, in many cases, not properly cleaned.

There was a sufficient amount of ammunition on hand. The magazine was damp and not in a proper condition to store cartridges.

It should be repaired at once. Harness well kept, but very old

This battery has had no field target practice. It has been mounted three times during the past year. Carbines are furnished but not used. Target practice should be had with them and a sufficient amount of ammunition kept on hand for emergencies.

Two wooden horses should be furnished this battery for harness drill.

The mechanism of the guns (Gatlings) was reported as worn and they are liable to clog in firing. This should be remedied at once, either with new parts, if practicable, or by furnishing new guns.

The appearance of this organization was good. The men stood well in ranks, marched well and at attention were silent and steady. The drill was good.

The battery gave evidence of careful instruction on the part of the officers and good discipline maintained by the battery commander.

SECOND BATTERY (GATLING).

The Second Battery, New York city, was inspected on Wednesday, October 16, 1889.

Present, ninety-seven (97) men; absent, three (3); aggregate, one hundred (100).

Clothing, equipments and arms in very good order. Sufficient ammunition for guns and pistols was on hand. There is no magazine in this armory, an omission which should be at once remedied.

During the past year the battery had two mounted parades and three mounted drills. There had been no target practice for three years.

The harness was well kept. The team harness for the Gatling guns is in excellent and serviceable condition.

The team harness for the Napoleons is also in a fairly good condition, with the exception of the breechings, girths, belly-bands, stirrup, trussing, hames and saddle straps; the rims should also be replaced.

The horse equipments are all in fair condition with the exception of the reins, a few martingales, stirrup straps and stirrup boots.

The wheels of the Napoleons carriages are in a very bad state from dry-rot.

This command should be furnished with entirely new harness at the earliest practicable moment.

The appearance of the men and the drill were very good.

This organization should be placed at once on the best practicable footing in regard to guns, harness and equipments. It is ably commanded by a competent, prompt and energetic officer.

THE ARTILLERY.

The artillery in the organization of the National Guard is a difficult arm to handle.

No horses are allowed by the State and no target practice can be had in-doors.

An appropriation for horses is not to be expected, and the problem will have to be met under present conditions. There is a fair amount of proficiency attained in those details of the service that can be practiced in the limits of an armory. To reach further either of two methods are now practicable: to obtain permission from the general government to have the artillery of the State encamped on the reservation of an artillery post where a mounted battery is stationed, or to have a mounted battery of the regular service detailed for duty at the State camp during the presence there of the National Guard batteries.

If the funds are available, the artillery should go to camp every year, as there is so much that can not be accomplished in an armory, and an interval of two years is too long to retain accurately all the details of the artillery service acquired in camp.

Experienced men are constantly being discharged and replaced by uninstructed recruits.

The essential points to which attention should be directed in camp is a matter of detail which would be prescribed in orders from the Adjutant-General's office.

Artillery armories should be built in close proximity to the armories of the infantry regiments.

TROOP "A."

On Thursday, October seventeenth, Troop "A," New York city, was inspected.

Present, seventy-three (73) men; absent, eight (8); aggregate, eighty-one (81).

The uniforms and arms were in good condition. The military appearance of the command was very good.

The bridles and saddles were in totally unserviceable condition and should be replaced at once. The Whitman pattern of saddle is desired.

This organization has no suitable accommodation furnished by the State. A building should be constructed with ample facilities for drilling.

This command is an excellent school for the training of officers for the cavalry, in case their services should be required in time of war. It also will afford instruction in tactics, military custom and routine which will be valuable to many of its members who may desire to continue their association with the National Guard in its various grades and duties after leaving the troop.

The commanding officer has had long and varied experience, and is a man of mature judgment and a most competent instructor.

THIRTY-SECOND REGIMENT (BROOKLYN).

The Thirty-second Regiment was inspected on Monday, October 21, 1889.

Present, three hundred and thirty-five (335) men; absent, one hundred and twenty-five (125): aggregate, four hundred and sixty (460).

The rifles and colors were in good condition. The clothing, in many cases, was not as neat as it should be. Equipments in fair order. Brasses generally very dirty.

The military appearance of the command was poor; there was much talking, unsteadiness and gazing about in the ranks; several men were under the influence of liquor.

The floor of the armory was soiled to a great extent by the use of tobacco. A few of the officers showed a want of instruction in the details of the ceremonies of review and inspection.

The large percentage of absentees made it evident that there were many on the rolls of the command who should be dropped.

This organization has labored under the disadvantage, for some time past, of poor accommodations. The present armory is ample for all its present needs and is liberally supplied with suitable appliances for the comfort of the command and for its instruction.

The commanding officer has much work before him to raise this regiment to the standard required by the State. He has it in his power to make marked improvements within the coming year.

FOURTEENTH REGIMENT (BROOKLYN).

The Fourteenth Regiment was inspected on Tuesday, October 22, 1889.

Present, four hundred ninety-eight (498) men; absent, seventy-one (71); aggregate, five hundred sixty-nine (569).

The rifles, colors, clothing and equipments were in very good condition. The brasses require a little more care. There were a few cases of men talking, unsteady and gazing about in ranks.

With the exceptions noted the command presented a very military appearance.

The field officers have had long and honorable service and are fully competent to maintain the good record of this excellent regiment.

THIRTEENTH REGIMENT (BROOKLYN).

The Thirteenth Regiment was inspected on Tuesday, October 24, 1889.

Present, six hundred seventy-four (674) men; absent, sixty-eight (68); aggregate, seven hundred forty-two (742) men.

Clothing, arms, equipments and colors in very good order. Men were steady and attentive in ranks.

This regiment is in an excellent condition, some of the companies were remarkably good, others suffered only by comparison. Under the present administration of the command it will undoubtedly reach a very high standard.

SIXTY-NINTH REGIMENT (NEW YORK).

The Sixty-ninth Regiment was inspected Tuesday, October 29, 1889.

Present, seven hundred seventy-five (775) men; absent, one hundred fifty (150); aggregate, nine hundred twenty-five (925).

Rifles were in very good order. Clothing, equipments and colors in good order.

This regiment is composed of a fine body of men, commanded by a gallant old soldier.

The armory is utterly unfit for occupancy and is too small for so large and prosperous an organization.

There were great differences in the percentage present and in the military appearance of the companies. Some had reached a high standard; others were far behind them in numbers, discipline and neatness. This organization should be second to none; the delinquent captains should be stimulated to increased efforts in the improvement of their companies.

TENTH BATTALION (ALBANY).

The Tenth Battalion was inspected on Wednesday, October 30, 1889.

Present, two hundred sixty-three (263) men; absent, twenty-nine (29); aggregate, two hundred ninety-two (292).

Arms, clothing, equipments and brasses generally in very good order. Men were steady, silent and kept their eyes to the front while at attention.

The command presented a soldierly appearance.

When this battalion is quartered in its new armory with ample facilities for drilling, it should at once take its rank among the best organizations in the State.

FORTY-SEVENTH REGIMENT (BROOKLYN).

The Forty-seventh Regiment was inspected on Monday, November 11, 1889.

Present, four hundred and eighty-four (484) men; absent, fifty-one (51); aggregate, five hundred and thirty-five (535).

Rifles, clothing, colors and equipments in good order.

The general appearance of this command was good.

In some of the companies sufficient care had not been given to have the brasses clean, and there was an occasional want of steadiness in the ranks during inspection.

The floors of the armory were soiled in the vicinity of several companies by the use of tobacco.

TWENTY-THIRD REGIMENT (BROOKLYN).

The Twenty-third Regiment was inspected on Tuesday, November 12, 1889.

Present, eight hundred and forty-four (844) men. Absent, thirteen (13). Aggregate, eight hundred and fifty-seven (857).

Rifles, clothing, equipments and colors in very good order.

The regiment made a very good appearance. The commanding officer and company commanders are alive to their responsibilities, and no comment is neceessary to call their attention to the requirements of the service.

TWELFTH REGIMENT (NEW YORK).

The Twelfth Regiment, New York, was inspected on Wednesday, November 13, 1889.

Present, five hundred and eighty-five (585) men. Absent, eighty-, three (83). Aggregate, six hundred and sixty-eight (668).

This is a prosperous and progressive regiment, with a complete and thoroughly equipped armory.

I am informed by the Assistant Inspector-General that each year finds the regiment in a better condition than at the previous inspection.

The rifles, clothing, equipments and colors were in very good order.

The cases in which brasses were not clean, and in which men were unsteady and inattentive in ranks, were exceptional. A few men stained the floor by the use of tobacco.

At present the regiment is under the disadvantage of having but one field officer. He is, however, a man of ability and energy and is fully equal to the emergency.

The officers of this command are, as a rule, thoroughly posted in their duties, and very zealous in their performance.

TWENTY-SECOND REGIMENT (NEW YORK).

The Twenty-second Regiment, New York, was inspected on Thursday, November 14, 1889.

Present, six hundred and thirty-nine (639) men; absent, thirty (30); aggregate, six hundred and sixty-nine (669) men.

Rifles, clothing, equipments and colors were in very good order.

This command made a very fine appearance. No adverse criticism is necessary.

SEVENTH REGIMENT (NEW YORK).

The Seventh Regiment, New York, was inspected on Friday, November 15, 1889.

Present, one thousand and thirty-four (1,034) men; absent, six (6); aggregate, one thousand and forty (1,040).

As usual this command made a remarkably fine appearance and developed a phenominal strength.

I saw no deviation worthy of note from the most rigid requirements of the service by any member of the command.

Salutes out of ranks were not neglected, but were rendered on all occasions with great care. This is exceptional in the National Guard.

NINTH REGIMENT, NEW YORK.

The Ninth Regiment, New York, was inspected on Monday, November 18, 1889.

Present, five hundred and seven-four (574); absent, one hundred and ten (110); aggregate, six hundred and eighty-four (684).

Rifles in good order.

This regiment was in a most unsatisfactory condition, in spite of an evidently strong effort having been made to present a creditable appearance and a good percentage of attendance.

It would not be just to hold this command to the same degree of responsibility as the other organizations of the First and Second Brigades. The unsafe and unfit condition of its armory renders battalion drills impossible, and the strong fumes of ammonia from the stables below tarnish the brasses within a very short time and render the clothing offensive.

Other quarters should be secured at once, and if it be not possible to hire a room sufficiently large for the whole regiment, it should be divided into two battalions and two rooms secured. The battalions to be under the command of the Colonel and Lieutenant-Colonel. The regimental organization not to be disturbed.

The regiment should be given an opportunity to reach the military standard required by the State. There are a large number of fine soldierly-looking men in the ranks.

Recognizing the adverse surroundings of the regiment I do not consider that the best possible results were obtained at the annual inspection.

SEVENTY-FIRST REGIMENT (NEW YORK).

The Seventy-first Regiment, New York, was inspected on Tuesday, November 19, 1889.

Present, five hundred and thirty-three (533) men; absent, fifty-six (56); aggregate, five hundred and eighty-nine (589) men.

There were several minor errors in the ceremonies of review and inspection.

At review the men were steady and silent in ranks.

Rifles, clothing, colors and equipments were in very good condition. Brasses in a few cases were in bad order.

Men at attention during inspection occasionally gazed about, talked in ranks and used tobacco.

It is only necessary to call attention in this regiment to its short-comings to insure immediate correction.

The organization gave evidence of being in a very prosperous condition.

EIGHTH REGIMENT (NEW YORK).

The Eighth Regiment was inspected on the 5th of December, 1889.

Present, three hundred and seventy-eight (378); absent, eighty-seven (87); aggregate, four hundred and sixty-five (465.) This regiment has been for many months without quarters and has thereby suffered in some respects.

The uniforms, arms and colors were in good order.

Brasses were not always clean. There were instances of inattention and the use of tobacco in the ranks during inspection.

The new armory, occupied for the first time, gave every inward indication of being most suitable for its purpose.

Another year will, without doubt, find this command among the first in the State. It has in it the elements of success and rapid progress.

Very respectfully, your obedient servant,

THOMAS H. BARBER,
Inspector-General.

REPORT OF THE ASSISTANT INSPECTOR-GENERAL.

INSPECTOR-GENERAL'S OFFICE,
ALBANY, December 1, 1889.

The Inspector-General, New York city:

SIR.— I have the honor to report that, in compliance with General Orders Nos. 7, 13 and 31, General Headquarters S. N. Y., and dated respectively February 21, April 5 and September 13, 1889, I have inspected and mustered the several commands and respectfully submit the following report as to their condition:

FIRST SEPARATE COMPANY (PENN YAN).

Inspected May 8, 1889.—Present, fifty-four, from an aggregate of sixty.

The condition of this company is generally bad. A lack of thrift and discipline prevails and unless a radical improvement soon takes place it would be economy to disband it.

SECOND SEPARATE COMPANY (AUBURN).

Inspected May twenty-eighth.— Present, ninety-one, from an aggregate of 100.

This company is composed of a superior class of men, is ably commanded, and lacks nothing that appertains to a well-drilled, well-disciplined and thoroughly reliable organization.

THIRD SEPARATE COMPANY (ONEONTA).

Inspected May thirteenth.— Present, 103, from an aggregate of 104.

A gratifying improvement in the general appearance of this company is noted. Brasses, and shoes clean, uniforms and equipment neat and well fitted.

This is a good, substantial and reliable organization.

FOURTH SEPARATE COMPANY (YONKERS).

Inspected May seventeenth.— Present, seventy-six, from an aggregate of ninety-two.

This company is in very good condition and made a very creditable appearance at inspection. It is composed of a good class of men, and is efficient and reliable.

FIFTH SEPARATE COMPANY (NEWBURGH).

Inspected April fifteenth.— Present, ninety-two from an aggregate of 102.

A marked improvement is noted in this company as compared with last inspection, but there is still room for betterment. In drill it may be rated fair, and in discipline, poor.

SIXTH SEPARATE COMPANY (TROY).

Inspected March twenty-sixth.— Present, 104, being the aggregate strength of the company.

This organization, which has a long record of excellent inspections, surpassed itself on this occasion. The positive advance to a condition approximating perfection, is gratifying in the extreme, for which officers and men are to be congratulated.

SEVENTH SEPARATE COMPANY (COHOES).

Inspected May fourteenth.— Present, seventy-six, from an aggregate of eighty-eight.

This company is very poorly quartered; the drill-room is inadequate, and accommodations poor. Considering this, the condition of the company is creditable.

The State has made an appropriation for the erection of a new armory for the company, which, when completed, will give them ample opportunity to perfect their condition.

EIGHTH SEPARATE COMPANY (ROCHESTER).

Inspected May twentieth.— Present, eighty-three, from an aggregate of eighty-seven.

The company shows a gain of nineteen in the aggregate, and twenty-two in present, as compared with last muster. The past record of this company for drill and discipline has been excellent. It appears to be in a thriving condition.

NINTH SEPARATE COMPANY (WHITEHALL).

Inspected April ninth.—Present, seventy-five, from an aggregate of seventy-eight.

The condition of this company two years ago was so bad that it was recommended for disbandment.

Since that time new life has been instilled, and it has steadily improved.

Its appearance and drill at this inspection gave evidence of conscientious work on the part of all concerned.

TENTH SEPARATE COMPANY (NEWBURGH).

Inspected April 16.—Present, sixty, from an aggregate of sixty-two.

Is composed of a fine class of men, in neat appearance, and is proficient in drill and discipline.

ELEVENTH SEPARATE COMPANY (MOUNT VERNON).

Inspected May 30.—Present, seventy-four, from an aggregate of eighty.

In appearance and drill this organization does not compare favorably with other separate companies. It is lacking in neatness, drill, discipline and military courtesy. A radical change must be effected to make the organization of value to the State.

TWELFTH SEPARATE COMPANY (TROY).

Inspected March 25.—Present, ninety-seven, from an aggregate of 102.

A large company composed of a class of men who have no inherent idea of discipline or courtesy.

The officers are poor instructors, and under their guidance, will never make the company of any military value.

I believe the disbandment of this company would be a wise measure, and in the interest of discipline and economy.

THIRTEENTH SEPARATE COMPANY (JAMESTOWN).

Inspected May twenty-second.—Present, seventy-eight, from an aggregate of eighty-seven.

Composed of a fine body of young men, neat and soldierly in appearance, good in drill and discipline, but lacking in military courtesy.

Its condition is prosperous and may be rated with the best separate companies.

FOURTEENTH SEPARATE COMPANY (KINGSTON).

Inspected April eighteenth.—Present, sixty-four, from an aggregate of seventy-five.

This company, which was the subject of an unfavorable report last year, has materially improved.

In drill, steadiness, and military appearance, it may be rated good.

Much hard work is still required that it may attain a standing compatible with its make up.

FIFTEENTH SEPARATE COMPANY (POUGHKEEPSIE).

Inspected April 4, 1889.—Present fifty-seven from an aggregate of sixty-two.

This company has progressed during the past three years, from very bad to fair, and although still far from perfection should be commended for their good work. There is a pronounced want of discipline and courtesy. Military appearance fair.

SIXTEENTH SEPARATE COMPANY (CATSKILL).

Inspected April seventeenth.—Present forty-seven from an aggregate of fifty-four.

Considering the very poor quarters which this company had furnished them, its condition is probably as good as might be expected. It is very neat in appearance, and fairly drilled and disciplined. The State is now erecting a new armory, the prospect of occuping which should be an incentive to more active and thorough work.

SEVENTEENTH SEPARATE COMPANY (FLUSHING).

Inspected October twenty-third.—Present fifty-four from an aggregate of sixty.

Composed of a fine class of young men. Discipline, steadiness and military appearance very good. Has always had a good reputation which it still maintains.

EIGHTEENTH SEPARATE COMPANY (GLENS FALLS).

Inspected April tenth.—Present, seventy-four from an aggregate of eighty.

The company is composed of a good, reliable class of men. An improvement has been noted for the past few years, and this inspection may be pronounced the best in four years. Drill, good; discipline, fair; military appearance, very good.

NINETEENTH SEPARATE COMPANY (POUGHKEEPSIE).

Inspected May sixteenth.— Present, ninety-two from an aggregate of 104.

This is a thoroughly reliable and valuable organization, excellent in drill and discipline and ably commanded.

TWENTIETH SEPARATE COMPANY (BINGHAMTON).

Inspected May ninth.— Present, eighty-one, from an aggregate of ninety-nine.

Is in a thrifty condition, but lacked that excellence of appearance shown at last inspection.

TWENTY-FIRST SEPARATE COMPANY (TROY).

Inspected March twenty-seventh.— Present, 103, being the aggregate strength.

This company has made rapid and remarkable progress during the past year, and may now be classed with the best in drill and discipline.

TWENTY-SECOND SEPARATE COMPANY (SARATOGA).

Inspected May fourteenth.— Present, seventy-nine from an aggregate of eighty-three.

Is composed of a superior class of men, interested and enthusiastic in their work, which is made evident by the high condition of efficiency and discipline existing.

TWENTY-THIRD SEPARATE COMPANY (HUDSON).

Inspected March twenty-eighth.— Present, seventy-seven from an aggregate of eighty.

This company has made steady progress during the past three years. It is required that finish and precision shall be added to manual and drill. The theoretical instruction appears to be generally correct. The composition of the company is excellent and at the present rate of progress will soon rank high.

TWENTY-FOURTH SEPARATE COMPANY (MIDDLETOWN).

Inspected March fourteenth.—Present, sixty-six from an aggregate of seventy.

Mustered into service about two years ago. It is to-day in fair condition. The Captain is not progressive and not a good instructor.

In many instances his commands are radically wrong.

The First and Second Lieutenants are both good officers. Earnest, theoretical and practical instruction is required to render the company valuable.

TWENTY-SIXTH SEPARATE COMPANY (ELMIRA).

Inspected May seventh.—Present, seventy-five from an aggregate of ninety-two.

A good company in every respect. Military appearance and discipline very good, and a general condition of thrift prevails. This is in such strong contrast with the condition of affairs at last inspection, as to be worthy of special mention.

TWENTY-SEVENTH SEPARATE COMPANY (MALONE).

Inspected June thirteenth.—Present fifty-three from an aggregate of sixty.

Appearance of the company very neat. Men steady and attentive.

This is a good company and has made marked improvement during the past two years. The armory is a small, dilapidated building, entirely inadequate, and they should, at once, be provided with suitable quarters.

TWENTY-EIGHTH SEPARATE COMPANY (UTICA).

Inspected March eighteenth.—Present, ninety-five from an aggregate of 100.

This company has, within the past two years, advanced from a condition which threatened disbandment, to a flourishing organization. The marked improvement is gratifying, and demonstrates what can be done by will and work.

TWENTY-NINTH SEPARATE COMPANY (OSWEGO).

Inspected March twelfth.—Present, sixty-five, from an aggregate of seventy.

In cleanliness of dress this company shows some improvement, but in drill, discipline and other important features, little or no improvement is shown.

The instruction is evidently not thorough or correct, and unless the present officers can show that they are qualified, it would be better that they gave way to competent men.

THIRTIETH SEPARATE COMPANY (ELMIRA).

Inspected May eighth.— Present, seventy-one from an aggregate of seventy-seven.

This is one of the best companies in the State. In drill, discipline and military appearance, excellence prevails. An efficient and reliable organization.

THIRTY-FIRST SEPARATE COMPANY (MOHAWK).

Inspected April second.— Present, seventy-five from an aggregate of seventy-seven.

This company was threatened with disbandment three years ago. Since that time it has somewhat improved and is to-day in fair condition. Discipline and courtesy are poor and drill only fair.

THIRTY-SECOND SEPARATE COMPANY (HOOSICK FALLS).

Inspected May 15.— Present eighty-seven from an aggregate of eighty-eight.

Everything that relates to a first-class organization is to be found in this company. Neat in dress, in drill; excelled by no company in the State, and in military courtesy superior to any company in the National Guard. They are always ready to be called upon and respond with a large percentage of the company.

THIRTY-THIRD SEPARATE COMPANY (WALTON).

Inspected May 6.— Present, eighty-eight from an aggregate of ninety-six.

This company is composed of intelligent, solid men, who are interested in their work. Neat and soldierly in appearance, good in discipline, and well instructed. A thoroughly reliable organization.

THIRTY-FOURTH SEPARATE COMPANY (GENEVA).

Inspected May twenty-eighth.— Present, seventy-one from an aggregate of seventy-eight.

The composition of this company is excellent. Men attentive and neat; steadiness during inspection marked; discipline good; drill very fair, even better than might be expected, when the very limited size of the drill-room is considered. The quarters provided are decidedly inadequate and unfit for the purposes of an armory.

THIRTY-FIFTH SEPARATE COMPANY (OGDENSBURGH).

Inspected June twelfth.— Present, eighty-five from an aggregate of 104.

The general condition of this company is good, and there is no reason why it should not equal any in the State.

It is composed of a fine class of young men, who need only to be properly instructed to make them good and valuable soldiers. All nonsense and any departure from tactical drill should be eliminated. A company to keep pace with the progress of the day, has sufficient to do, in attending strictly to tactics. Discipline and courtesy fair.

THIRTY-SIXTH SEPARATE COMPANY (SCHENECTADY).

Inspected May twentieth.—Present, eighty-five, the aggregate of the company.

This company has made decided improvement during the past year and is in a thrifty condition. Composed of substantial men, neat in appearance and well instructed.

THIRTY-SEVENTH SEPARATE COMPANY (SCHENECTADY.)

Inspected March twenty-first.—Present, eighty-eight from an aggregate of ninety.

Have been for a long time without a captain, which has seriously impeded their progress. The company is composed of the best young men in Schenectady, and qualified to make good soldiers. Appearance neat, drill and discipline very fair.

THIRTY-EIGHTH SEPARATE COMPANY (OSWEGO).

Inspected March twelfth.—Present, sixty-four from an aggregate of sixty-eight.

This is an excellent organization in drill, discipline and efficiency.

It is composed of a good class of young men, and ably commanded.

More attention is required to be given to military courtesy.

THIRTY-NINTH SEPARATE COMPANY (WATERTOWN).

Inspected June eleventh.— Present, eighty-six from an aggregate of eighty-nine.

This may be classed with the best of separate companies. It is in a prosperous condition, well officered and in every way a valuable organization.

FORTIETH SEPARATE COMPANY (SYRACUSE).

Inspected March eleventh.— Present, sixty-one from an aggregate of sixty-five.

There has been no progress made in this organization during the past year or two. Drill lacks finish and precision. Discipline is poor, and military courtesy ignored.

The company is in command of the First Lieutenant, whose competency I doubt.

In their present condition they are of very doubtful value to the State.

FORTY-FIRST SEPARATE COMPANY (SYRACUSE).

Inspected March eleventh.— Present, sixty-nine from an aggregate of eighty-one.

FORTY-SECOND SEPARATE COMPANY (NIAGARA FALLS.)

Inspected May twenty-first.— Present, ninety-five from an aggregate of 101.

Composed of a most excellent body of men, and although one of the younger companies, has already attained a very high standard. The discipline is excellent, and the drill very good.

Neatness of dress and perfect adjustment of equipments are worth special note.

FORTY-THIRD SEPARATE COMPANY (OLEAN).

Inspected May twenty-third.— Present, sixty-nine from an aggregate of seventy-nine.

This is a very enthusiastic organization; progressive in all departments of drill, very neat in appearance, and has established itself among the best of separate companies.

FORTY-FOURTH SEPARATE COMPANY (UTICA).

Inspected March nineteenth.— Present, ninety-four from an aggregate of 102.

The inspection of this company was in every way creditable and this young organization may now be rated with the best companies.

FORTY-FIFTH SEPARATE COMPANY (CORTLAND.)

Inspected March thirteenth.— Present, fifty-seven from an aggregate of sixty-eight.

The general appearance of the company, very good; discipline, very fair; drill, poor. No instruction has been given in the loading and firing. The material of which this company is composed is as good as any in the State; and only proper care is required to raise it to a high standard.

FORTY-SIXTH SEPARATE COMPANY (AMSTERDAM).

Inspected April third.— Present, ninety-six from an aggregate of 102.

The uniforms and equipments of this company were only received by them about a week prior to the inspection. Considering the very short time they had for preparation, the inspection was a surprisingly excellent one.

There is a noticeable lack of military courtesy which should at once be looked to.

SIXTY-FIFTH REGIMENT (BUFFALO).

Inspected May twenty-fourth.— Present, 432 from an aggregate of 532.

The regiment shows a gain of sixty in the aggregate and sixty-six in present as compared with last muster, and has made marked progress in drill and discipline.

Companies B and G are the only ones which show no improvement, both being deficient in drill and discipline.

It is recommended that the commanding officer look closely into the condition of these companies and direct such methods as will assure their improvement.

SEVENTY-FOURTH REGIMENT (BUFFALO).

Inspected May twenty-first.— Present, 426 from an aggregate of 448.

A gain is shown of sixty-three in aggregate and seventy-seven present, as compared with last muster. The regiment has been for some time without a colonel, which has undoubtedly been a drawback to the prosperity of the organization; so that under these circumstances the inspection may be considered creditable. Military courtesy is very poor.

FIFTH BATTERY (SYRACUSE).

Inspected October eighth.— Present, seventy from an aggregate of seventy-nine.

The battery is in as good condition as regards drill as can be expected from a National Guard organization.

Mounted drills are so few as to be of little practical value.

The dismounted drill is marked with life and snap, and highly creditable. Harness is in fair condition, being the best in the State and at present needs no repairs.

SIXTH BATTERY (BINGHAMTON).

Inspected October seventh.— Present seventy-four from an aggregate of eighty-three.

Instruction in dismounted drill is thorough. All movements executed with spirit and precision. Appearance and discipline very good. The organization is also provided with rifles, and infantry drill makes a very creditable showing. Harness is in bad condition. Belly bands, stirrup straps and all small straps are rotten, and in many places have been mended with wire.

Most of the collars are old and worn out, and all are too small to fit a horse of proper weight and build for a light battery.

Headstalls, bits, lines, traces, back straps and breechings are good, cruppers poor.

I have the honor to be General, very respectfully, your obedient servant,

THOMAS H. McGRATH,
Colonel and Assistant Inspector-General.

REPORT OF THE GENERAL INSPECTOR OF RIFLE PRACTICE FOR 1889.

STATE OF NEW YORK:

DEPARTMENT OF RIFLE PRACTICE, No. 18 COENTIES SLIP,
NEW YORK, December 15, 1889.

The Adjutant-General, State of New York:

SIR.—I have the honor to report, regarding this department, of its gradually increasing strength, and showing, by results, that the efforts made to properly instruct the National Guard in the use of their arm are being slowly appreciated.

There are yet too many — officers, especially — who, having no practical knowledge of the rifle or its use, still seem to think that knowledge of the manual of arms is all sufficient.

However, the increase in number practicing, especially in the First and Second Brigades, is very gratifying, and the increase in marksmen is large, viz.:

Practised in the State in 1888	7,938
Practised in the State in 1889	8,784
Marksmen in the State in 1888	4,618
Marksmen in the State in 1889	5,219

A change made, under your directions, in method of practice of the Third and Fourth Brigades, though not, perhaps, thoroughly understood by all, resulted, as a whole, beneficially, and the same general plan may, with some change of detail, be adapted to the whole State advantageously.

I could wish that more attention be paid to armory position and armory drill, believing it to be to rifle practice the same as proper "setting up" is to a soldier — the only firm foundation for perfection in the end.

The position of the two leading regiments shows what can be done where intelligent, active coöperation of all concerned is had and where individuals show the pride in their organizations which is so promotive of good results.

The passage of the law which will eventually make Creedmoor range State property, will undoubtedly prove of great benefit to the whole National Guard.

Following is the

By your direction a team was selected by what was deemed the most practicable method to compete as a State Team at Sea Girt, New Jersey, during the competitions there, held under the auspices of the New Jersey National Guard, and at Creedmoor.

At Sea Girt the team was successful, winning the beautiful trophy offered by the State of New Jersey and meeting teams from Delaware and New Jersey. Every effort was made by the State officials to make this, their first State match, a good one and with success. The scores were as follows:

TEAM.	200 yards.	500 yards.	Aggregate.
New York	474	484	958
New Jersey	484	471	955
Delaware	435	394	829

At Creedmoor, in competitions for the inter-State prize and the Hilton trophy, the result was as follows:

Inter-State Trophy.

TEAM.	200 yards.	500 yards.	Aggregate.
Massachusetts	505	540	1,045
Pennsylvania	511	524	1,035
New York	503	522	1,025

Hilton Trophy.

TEAM.	200 yards.	500 yards.	600 yards.	Aggregate.
Massachusetts	364	361	332	*1,057
Pennsylvania	356	363	336	†1,055
New York	354	374	324	1,052

* One shot short on time allowance. † Two shots short on time allowance.

If it were possible for teams from New York to be armed with a 45-caliber rifle, it would add much to the zest of these matches and apparently put our own men on a more equal footing with troops from other States.

Among other matches those of the

RECOMMENDATIONS.

Assiduous attention to General Orders, calling for careful drill, will accomplish much, and anything to forward this will be beneficial.

With a change of detail, called for by circumstances, the system now in use by the Third and Fourth Brigades will be of benefit to the First and Second.

Closing, I can with sincerity say the majority of Inspectors of Rifle Practice are officers alive to the importance of their work, and heartily thank them for coöperation in the plans proposed and carried forward.

I am, sir, very respectfully yours.

CHAS. F. ROBBINS,
Brig.-Gen. and Gen. Insp. Rifle Practice, S. N. Y.

STATE OF NEW YORK:

DEPARTMENT OF RIFLE PRACTICE, OFFICE NO. 18 COENTIES SLIP,
NEW YORK CITY, December 16, 1889.

The Adjutant-General, State of New York:

SIR.—The various ranges of the State have been visited as required by law. (Sec. 83, M. C.)

CREEDMOOR.

Used by the First and Second Brigades and the Fourth and Eleventh Separate Companies of the Third Brigade.

Nearly 900 men used this range in free practice, and about 5,800 under orders, out of 8,209.

The law passed in 1889, which will make this range State property, has not yet been fully effected.

The range generally is in fair condition. Repairs will be needed, however, as soon as the State gets control.

First Separate Company.

Penn Yan.—As far as possible, this range is in good shape; fairly well looked after.

Second Separate Company.

Auburn.—Range new in 1888; in good shape.

Third Separate Company.

Oneonta.—New targets in new pit; new location this year; a substantial, carefully built and good range.

Fourth Separate Company.

Yonkers.—Practices at Creedmoor.

Fifth Separate Company.

Newburgh.—Range and pit in good order; 500-yard firing point has been improved.

Sixth Separate Company.

Troy.—Practices at Rensselaerwyck. (See Tenth Battalion.)

Seventh Separate Company.

Cohoes.—Practices at Rensselaerwyck. (See Tenth Battalion.)

Eighth Separate Company.

Rochester.—In better shape than in 1888; not as well looked after as should be.

Ninth Separate Company.

Whitehall.—Butt good; need one more second and one more third-class target; company deserves recognition.

Tenth Separate Company.

Newburgh.—See Fifth Separate Company.

Eleventh Separate Company.

Mount Vernon.—Practices at Creedmoor.

Twelfth Separate Company.

Troy.—Practices at Rensselaerwyck. (See Tenth Battalion.)

Thirteenth Separate Company.

Flushing.—Practices at Creedmoor.

Eighteenth Separate Company.

Glens Falls.—Generally in good shape.

Nineteenth Separate Company.

Poughkeepsie.—See remarks Fifteenth Separate Company.

Twenty-first Separate Company.

Troy.—Practices at Rensselaerwyck. (See Tenth Battalion.)

Twenty-second Separate Company.

Saratoga.—New butts and pit in 1887; are in good shape.

Twenty-third Separate Company.

Middletown.— Location not yet selected, though range was ordered in 1887; slow work.

Twenty-sixth Separate Company.

Twenty-seventh Separate Company.

Malone.— Old range condemned; are about locating anew.

Thirtieth Separate Company.

Elmira.— See note Twenty-sixth Separate Company.

Thirty-first Separate Company.

Fortieth and Forty-first Separate Companies.

REPORT OF THE SURGEON-GENERAL.

NEW YORK, December 14, 1889.

The Adjutant-General, State of New York, Albany, N. Y.:

SIR.— In again submitting the annual contribution of the Surgeon-General to you, as a factor of your yearly report, I am constrained to digress from the previous methods employed — the reporting of figure-facts — to a broader plan, that of present and perspective contemplation of the relation of the Medical Department to the National Guard of the State. The figures cited in the past show a good comparative physical status of the respective organizations, as well as a not infrequent fondness for the medical and surgical supplies provided by the State. However, notwithstanding the direct outlay made yearly for such supplies for the benefit of the guard while in camp, en route to camp, and at Creedmoor, I am pleased to be able to report that as yet not a death has occurred in the camp, or elsewhere stated, that can be justly attributed to the presence or absence of medical and surgical supplies. The State Camp has not been visited by serious diseases, yet it is true that on several occasions severe and even dangerous attacks of illness have happened there, still as yet no one has died there from natural or unnatural causes, nor has any one been removed from the camp to avoid the possibility of such a result. No form of disease peculiar to aggregated bodies of troops, either of a simple or specific nature, has yet caused a well-founded apprehension even, on the part of the medical officers. It is not prudent, however, to rely alone on past records in sanitary matters. The recognized advances in these things that are made at other places, with vastly different associations, should be employed here, in so far as they can be found serviceable in a sanitary sense. Often military commandants in times of peace think less of sanitary perfection than of military pomp, forgetful of the fact that the hidden and insidious influences of existing and perspective disease are more persistent, powerful and fatal foes, than their own kind, even when armed with the most destructive of human agencies. The skirmish lines of military mimickry in times of peace are given more consideration by many commandants than is given to skirmish lines of disease, which are ever present and alert, in times of peace and war. The sanitary appointments of the State Camp are excellent indeed, except perhaps in a few isolated instances. The prolonged and profound soil-saturation beneath and contiguous to the present kitchen is the most important instance of the kind. On many occasions it has been the duty of the chief medical officer of the State to urge the importance of the recognition of this fact in conjunction with the early employment of steps to effect a radical change in the matter. The medical officers, too, of the respective commands, while in camp, have recognized this danger and suggested the abatement of its possibility. Now that the indulgent authorities have allowed moneys with which to built suitable accommodations for the purpose of a mess-hall, the fact should not be lost sight of that the method of its construction and the environments are matters requiring most careful consideration by men inexperienced in such matters.

In my report of 1888, your attention was called to a pernicious practice of long standing in the guard, of issuing uniforms to recruits that have been worn previously by men then connected with the service. This practice often uniforms men who enter the service actuated with noble impulses, in the dirty and defective clothing of those who have been discharged for dereliction of duty. This clothing, if it must be used at all for others, should be first thoroughly cleaned and repaired by the proper officers before being reissued, in order that commendable individual fastidiousness and personal dignity of the recruit be respected, or cultivated, if it do not exist already. There is no one requisite so essential to the healthfulness and usefulness of men in active service as the one that inculcates self-respect and personal dignity. The use of second-hand uniforms at all is not ennobling; but when these uniforms are soiled and out of repair, then, indeed, they can but lessen the esprit de corps and patriotic constancy of intelligent soldiers, who can but feel that their personality and calling are belittled by the authorities that accept their services.

Not long since you caused to be addressed to me for an opinion the question of the advisibility of requiring a physical examination to be made of all recruits of the guard. The wisdom of such a requirement appears to me to be self-evident. In fact, I have been so strongly impressed in the past of the utility of such a step that I have recommended its adoption on several occasions. I know of no sadder spectacle than that often witnessed in the State Camp, of men who, by reason of permanent physical incapacities, though with transient periodical manifestations of the same, are forced to a personal exhibition of these infirmities that is distressing to themselves and friends, and demoralizing to their associates. The admission or retention in the guard of such as these is not kind to them; is not just to the State, nor is it creditable to the service. In this connection it is wise to recall the fact that an unscrutinized admission to the guard will complicate the making of the proper and just discrimination so necessary to the appropriate pensioning of members, under the present law relating to it. Men who suffer from physical defects that are increased by their service, will be poorly paid indeed, even though they secure a pension; and, on the other hand, the State will have received but little or nothing for the moneyed expenditure entailed. I am happy to be able to state, however, that in many organizations a physical examination is required before admission; still, it is to be regretted that the wisdom of individual commandants in this respect caused them to forestall any similar action on the part of the State authorities.

The unabated enthusiasm of the medical officers of the guard in fitting men to render "prompt aid to the injured," is a matter of official and general congratulation. The special use has saved many a man while on duty at the camp from physical danger and disorder. The general public application of this knowledge by the instructed men has often been of great service to unfortunate citizens in time of physical distress. The amount of time which many of the medical officers give to the perfection of this work is highly creditable to them and to the guard itself. The unselfish assiduity displayed by these medical officers in their work, and of their pupils themselves, renders the objections to it on the part of self-sufficient, inappreciative and captious officers so puerile and miscroscopic, as not to entitle their cause to the dignity of a just characterization. It will not be long, I think, before all military officers in the State, who have discouraged or obstructed this step, will raise themselves to the higher level that contemplates the principle that brings the greatest good to the greatest number, rather than the one that fosters pedantic ostentation or childish obstruction. I am of the opinion that during the next encampment it will be wise to detail one or two competent members of the medical corps of the State, whose duty it shall be to cause systematic instruction to be given to the "details" in all matters relating to the proper methods of conveying the sick and injured. The physical relations of the camp are such to the surrounding country, that all the humane problems in connection with carrying the unfortunate soldier can be well inculcated.

I know of no better test of the interest which medical men take in the scrupulous performance of their duties than the promptness shown by them in camp, and by the care and thought displayed in all respects as evidenced by the various annual reports of duty. While it is not unfair to assume that busy medical officers would do better in making final reports if less busy when off duty, or if they really thought it were necessary; still, neither is it unfair to assume that the ones most interested, irrespective of other occupations, will find time to make full and complete reports. I do not desire to make an invidious deduction by omitting all other reports than the following. Each of the medical officers who have made as complete a report as this one will see that it is unnecessary to publish all of this class; and, too, they will be gratified with the example selected. While those who have not given the time and thought that this implies, should be thankful for the opportunity of scrutinizing it. It is not intended to convey the idea that the Surgeon-General approves of each of the items as set forth in this report, for such is not the case. It is intended, however, that this report should serve as an exhibit of prompt, faithful, persistent and conscientious work and forethought on the part of the officer making it, such as many of the medical officers of the guard would do well to emulate.

The consolidated reports are on file.

HEADQUARTERS, SEVENTY-FIRST INFANTRY,
NEW YORK CITY, July 22, 1889.

The Surgeon-General, State of New York:

SIR.—I have the honor to inclose herewith the consolidated report of the Seventy-first Regiment and First Provisional Battalion, also separate medical reports, and to submit the following report as surgeon of Seventy-first Regiment and medical officer of the post from June twenty-ninth to July sixth, both dates inclusive.

The regiment left its armory, Broadway and Forty-fifth street, at 10.45 A. M., June twenty-ninth, in heavy marching order, and proceeded to the foot of Forty-sixth street, North river, where the steamer Long Branch was in waiting to convey it to Roa Hook. The weather was close and muggy, and the departure of the regiment from the armory was made at an early hour, owing to the stifling heat of the building. One man was prostrated by heat as we reached the dock; he rallied by the time we reached Roa Hook, and I directed him to ride to camp in the ambulance.

The Seventeenth Separate Company of Flushing was on board the Long Branch when we reached the boat. We left at 12 o'clock, and a stop was made at Yonkers to take on board the Eleventh Separate Company of Mt. Vernon. Roa Hook was reached at 3 P. M., and shortly afterwards we relieved the Seventh Regiment and took possession of the camp. The Fifth Separate Company of Newburgh, and the Sixth Separate Company of Troy, were already in camp when we arrived. I reported to you for orders and was directed to assume the duties of Post Surgeon. Assistant Surgeon A. C. Combs, Seventeenth Separate Company, reported to me for orders (having been directed to do so by you), and I directed him to act as medical officer of the First Provisional Bat- was directed to assume medical charge of the Seventy-first talion. Assistant Surgeon C. C. Osborn, Seventy-first Infantry, Regiment.

RECOMMENDATIONS TO THE REGIMENTAL COMMANDANT.

NEW YORK CITY, June 29, 1889.

The Commanding Officer of the Seventy-first Regiment, N. G. S. N. Y.:

SIR.—The following recommendations are made for the benefit of this command, while at the State Camp of Instruction, Peekskill, N. Y., from June twenty-ninth to July sixth, inclusive.

Respectfully.

E. T. T. MARSH, M. D.,
Major and Surgeon, Seventy-first Regiment, N. G. S. N. Y.

First. That no hard work should be commenced until an hour after meals.

Second. That at least three hours elapse between the last meal and tattoo.

Third. That if the heat should be excessive, battalion drill should commence an hour after breakfast, instead of at a later hour, and continued until noon; by so doing there would be less danger of the men being prostrated by the heat, and the drill could be brought to a finish without cutting it short. The company drills could be held at the time set down for the battalion drill, and the number of men being smaller, advantage could be taken of the shade afforded by the trees around the parade ground.

Fourth. That drill officers should give their men frequent rests during the excessively hot weather, at which times they should be allowed to remove their helmets or caps and open their coats.

Fifth. That drill officers should carefully notice the condition of the men while drilling, and if any be noticed with pale countenances, he should be ordered to "fall out" at once and be taken to a shady place and placed in a recumbent position, with the head a little lower than the body, the clothing being opened and all bands loosened; the members of the ambulance corps will render "first aid" until the surgeons have been communicated with.

Sixth. That the company servants should be directed to mix oatmeal or ginger with the water supplied to the men for drinking purposes. They should not be allowed to carry iced lemonade in their pails, as has been done on parades.

Seventh. That bathing should be permitted and encouraged. On account of the inconvenience, distance and liability to accident, swimming in the river should not be permitted. The men can bathe all that is necessary in the bath-houses now existing at the camp.

Eighth. That a detail from the ambulance corps should accompany the "grand guard" so that "first aid" can be rendered to any one requiring it during the absence of the guard from camp.

ADVICE TO THE MEN.

Advice to the men was given by means of the following circular:

HEADQUARTERS SEVENTY-FIRST REGIMENT, N. G. S. N. Y.
ARMORY, BROADWAY AND FORTY-FIFTH STREET,
ORDERS, No. 26. NEW YORK, June 15, 1889.

1. The following is published for the benefit of this command:

By order of Colonel Kopper.

PHILIP S. TILDEN,
First Lieutenant and Adjutant.

OFFICIAL.

(Last order printed No. 25.)

NEW YORK, June 11, 1889.

The commanding officer of the Seventy-first Regiment, N. G. S. N. Y.:

SIR.—I deem it eminently proper at this time (the regiment having been ordered to the Camp of Instruction, near Peekskill, N. Y.) to offer some advice to the members of the Seventy-first Regiment, and I do so by means of the accompanying suggestions.

The members of the regiment should bear in mind that they are going to a camp noted for its great healthfulness, where they will be well fed and well taken care of, and they should coöperate with the surgeon in keeping the sickness down to a minimum; this they can do if they will only pay attention to common-sense facts.

Respectfully.

E. T. T. MARSH, M. D.,
Major and Surgeon, Seventy-first Regiment, N. G. S. N. Y.

First. That all members of this command wearing trusses should, before going to camp, see that they are in good repair and properly adjusted.

Second. That all members of this command who suffer from frequent attacks of looseness of the bowels, should wear a light flannel band around the waist during their stay in camp.

Third. That the men should provide themselves with the proper kind of boots or shoes, low heels, soles as broad as the foot when the weight of the body is resting upon it, and long enough to allow of the full play of the foot in walking; pointed shoes should not be worn.

Fourth. That the men should not wear collars or anything tight about the neck, and the rest of the clothing should be free and loose.

Fifth. That the men should wear a folded wet cloth in the crown of the fatigue cap or helmet when exposed to the intense heat of the sun.

Sixth. That the men should avoid the immoderate use of ice-water, especially when overheated and at rest, or when the body is commencing to cool; violent cramps, purging and vomiting are apt to follow in consequence, and immediate death has been known to occur.

Seventh. That the men should remember that moderately cold water is the most grateful to the stomach and allays thirst better than any other fluid; ale, beer and the spirituous liquors are the worst of all, and their use during the tour of duty in camp should be rigidly avoided.

Eighth. That the men should avoid eating unripe fruit of all kinds.

Ninth. That the men should bathe daily; by so doing skin eruptions and chafing are prevented or rendered less frequent. The feet should be carefully looked after and bathed; blistered feet will be less frequent if this is done. Sufficient time should be allowed for the feet to dry before putting on the stockings after bathing, as they are liable to be quickly blistered if active exercise is taken while the skin is still soft from the recent use of water and the stockings are damp. Cold baths should not be taken either immediately before or after a meal.

Tenth. That the men should remember that exposure to a draught, when overheated, which cools the body too suddenly, is exceedingly dangerous.

Eleventh. That the men should wear their suits of under-clothing on alternate days, thereby allowing each suit to become thoroughly dried and aired before being worn again.

Twelfth. All who are unaccustomed to strong coffee are advised to dilute that served in camp largely with milk, otherwise they are liable to suffer from diarrhœa.

MEDICAL OFFICERS IN CAMP.

Major and Surgeon E. T. T. Marsh, Seventy-first Infantry — post surgeon.

Captain and Assistant Surgeon C. C. Osborn, Seventy-first Infantry, medical officer in charge of Seventy-first Infantry.

First Lieutenant and Assistant Surgeon A. C. Combes, Seventeenth Separate Company, medical officer in charge of First Provisional Battalion.

The latter officers were to attend sick call at 5.15 A. M.

A medical officer was always to be in camp, and his whereabouts was to be known at the adjutant's office.

AMBULANCE CORPS.

A number of the Ambulance Corps were detailed each day for duty. They were provided with such remedies as they might need in rendering "first aid." I was very much pleased with the manner in which they performed their duties, and consider that I have a thoroughly competent corps.

WEATHER.

With the exception of the last two days of our tour of duty the weather was most unfavorable for the performance of the routine work. The first two days were close and muggy, then followed four days of almost continuous rain. The last two days were fine and much hard work was done by the men.

HEALTH OF THE MEN.

A consideration of the sick report for both commands will show that the disorders for which medicines were dispensed were trivial in character and call for no special mention; but one man was excused from duty during the encampment, viz., a private of Fifth Separate Company, First Battalion. He suffered from cholera morbus and was excused from duty for three days. He was sick when he reached camp.

Company G, Seventy-first Regiment, and the Sixth Separate Company of Troy, were without any cases of sickness during the encampment. In this connection, I wish to mention the valuable support afforded me by my assistant surgeon, Captain Osborn, and to cheerfully accord to him the praise due him for his untiring attention to those under his medical charge.

ROUTINE WORK.

In spite of the bad weather during the encampment but one drill was omitted, namely, the battalion drill on Tuesday. The men more than made up for the loss of this drill, by the amount of work they did during the remainder of the tour. On the morning of July fourth it rained heavily, yet battalion and skirmish drills were held until 11.45, when the men were drawn up in readiness for the parade and salute, which was to be fired at noon in honor of the day. A violent rain-storm broke over the camp at 11.50, and the parade was dispensed with and the men ordered under cover. A few were chilled by the rain. To these, as well as to the detail from First battery which fired the salute, a ration of whisky was administered as a precautionary measure.

SHAM-BATTLE — CASUALTIES.

On the morning of July fifth there was a sham-battle between the two wings of the Seventy-first Regiment. At one time it seemed as if there would be a number of serious cases as a result, judging from the earnestness manifested by the men, but fortunately the casualties were few and but slight in character. All told, they amounted to twelve : nine powder wounds, one concussion of brain, and two slight wounds, one of face and one of hand. They required but little care, and in a short time the men were up and around and volunteered for the grand guard which left at 3 P. M., and the attacking party, which left camp at midnight.

GRAND GUARD.

The grand guard of about 100 men left camp at 3 P. M., Captain Osborn, Assistant-Surgeon, and four of the Ambulance Corps were detailed to accompany the grand guard. There were a number of slight casualties which required the attention of the medical officer in charge. One of the officers, Lieutenant Rogers, Second Battery (detailed to Seventy-first Regiment), fell down a ravine at midnight, sustaining a lacerating wound of hand, but he continued on duty after he had been attended to by Captain Osborn. The manner in which the members of the Ambulance Corps performed their duties was favorably reported to me by Captain Osborn when he returned to camp.

ATTACKING PARTY.

At about midnight an attacking party of about 150 men left camp under the command of Lieutenant-Colonel Dennison and passed through the lines of the grand guard by orders of Colonel Kopper. A detail of four of the Ambulance Corps accompanied the command to render such aid as might be necessary. About 2.45 A. M., July sixth, having made a detour and evaded the grand guard, the attacking party made an attack on and captured the camp. There were a few casualties such as powder burns and one slight lacerated wound of forehead, but they were of slight importance and were not heard of afterwards. Favorable mention was made by Lieutenant-Colonel Dennison of the manner in which the members of the Ambulance corps rendered "first aid" to several of the members of the attacking party who needed their services.

SANITARY INSPECTIONS.

As Post Surgeon, I made two sanitary inspections daily, one at 10 A. M. and the other at 5 P. m. Every portion of the camp was gone over carefully in order to prevent the existence of anything that might be detrimental to health. I consider the sanitary condition of the camp during our tour of duty was almost perfect.

SERVANTS' QUARTERS.

The quarters of the servants, back of the mess-hall, were rigidly examined at each inspection. At my first inspection I found the grounds and tents in anything but a good sanitary condition. I had no occasion to complain after my first visit.

MESS-HALL, KITCHEN, ETC.

The mess-hall and other buildings adjacent were very clean and free from any bad odors.

SINKS.

The sinks required constant watching, as many times during the day the troughs were without water, it having siphoned off, owing possibly to the interference of the valves at the exits by paper, etc. The troughs at these times would be filled with offensive faecal matters. Whenever this condition of affairs existed, I notified Mr. Travis and it was attended to at once. This occurred to all the sinks — officers', men's and servants'.

DUMP.

The dump, owing to muggy and wet weather, became very offensive and required to be disinfected on two occasions.

BATHS.

The baths were well patronized by the men all day. Many were unable to bathe. The officers complained very much of being unable, owing to the crowded condition, to bathe even once during their stay in camp. The baths were of great service to the men, and no doubt prevented many from suffering from some variety of skin eruption.

FOOD.

The food was of good quality, well cooked and well served; the supply was more than abundant. The arrangements for preserving the food are excellent. The food, both cooked and uncooked, was inspected twice daily and no cause for complaint existed during our stay in camp.

WATER.

The water was excellent in quality and the quantity was more than sufficient for all purposes.

DRAINAGE.

The drainage of the camp during the heavy rains was excellent; all water was carried off quickly, leaving camp free from puddles, except in some portions of the main street where shallow holes had been made by the brooms of the police. The water was easily swept away by brooms. One day Company D street was flooded owing to the drains at each end of the street being stopped up by grass and weeds. When these were removed the water was quickly carried off.

POLICING.

Policing was thoroughly done by both commands. After the first day the policing of the entire camp was perfect.

Shortly after 2 o'clock P. M., July sixth, the Tenth Battalion of Albany arrived in camp, and Major Balch having relieved me, I assumed medical charge of the Seventy-first Regiment. The Fifth and Sixth Separate Companies left about 2 o'clock for their respective stations by train. About 3.30 P. M., the Ninth Regiment arrived in camp and relieved me. We marched to Roa Hook and took the steamer to New York, arriving at our armory at 7.45 P. M., without incident or accident.

RECOMMENDATIONS.

Sick calls.

That an afternoon sick-call be established and set down for 5 P. M.

BATHS.

That the number of baths be at least doubled.

STREETS.

That the main street be concreted or laid with brick, in order to prevent the hollows due to constant sweeping of dirt from the streets by the police.

UNDERBRUSH, ETC.

That the high underbrush and lower limbs of the trees on the edge of the bluff and borders of the camp be cut away so as to allow of freer circulation of air in and about the camp.

AMBULANCE CORPS.

That the members of the ambulance corps be permitted to wear the "brassard" at all times, or at least when on duty in camp, especially when detailed for duty with the grand guard or in the field during sham battles. A number of the corps were fired at during the sham battle of the fifth of July, and one had his face burned by powder.

In concluding this report I wish to acknowledge the many courtesies which have been extended to me by the State officers in camp, during my tour of duty.

Respectfully.

(Signed,) E. T. T. MARSH,

Major and Surgeon, Seventy-first Regiment, N. G. S. N. Y., and Medical Officer of the Post.

There seems to be no doubt of the fact that the bathing accommodations of the State Camp should be increased, also, that the apparatus directed to controlling the flow of water in the respective apartments be simplified and made more practical and easy of use by the bathers.

In my previous reports I have not infrequently called the attention of the authorities to the necessity of the cultivation of trees on the top and incline of the bluff, and again commend this measure to your earnest consideration. These trees will serve two important aims : 1. To actively combat the malarial influences that may emanate from the contiguous low, marshy surroundings. 2. Afford good shade during the heat of the day. It may be claimed that all trees ought to be cut away to afford freer access to grateful breezes on hot days. However, if the breezes are around on those days, their influence will be easily felt, irrespective of the trees ; if, however, they be absent on a hot day, then, indeed, will the shade be grateful and necessary, to say nothing of the influence on miasm. There should be more trees, larger and higher trees.

I can not close this brief report without speaking in terms of high commendation of the services of Mr. Frank Wanier, post hospital steward ; also of Mr. Ford, of the firm of Hazard, Hazard & Co., of this city, who, with his usual courtesy contributed to the camp the use of a complete practical outfit of surgical apparatus without any expense to the State. The commissary department of the camp has been for so long a time, and still continues to be so efficient and satisfactory in all respects, that to speak of it even in well-merited terms of laudation seems somewhat of a supererogation. With such enterprising and conscientious men as Messrs. Yale and Weinholz, the demands for the comforts of the men are studied and met ; the interest and dignity of the State made secure, and harmony and good fellowship are caused to prevail at all times. Finally, permit me again to renew my expression of personal gratification for the courteous treatment extended to me thus far at all times by the officers and men of the National Guard of the State.

Very respectfully.

JOSEPH D. BRYANT,

Brigadier and Surgeon General.

REPORTS OF COMMANDING OFFICERS OF FIRST AND FOURTH BRIGADES.

HEADQUARTERS FIRST BRIGADE, N. G. S. N. Y.,
No. 6 PINE STREET,
NEW YORK, November 30, 1889.

The Adjutant-General, State of New York, Albany, N. Y.:

SIR.—In accordance with P. 591, R., I have the honor to submit the following report of the First Brigade N. G. S. N. Y.:

MOVEMENT OF TROOPS.

On April thirtieth, in accordance with G. O. Nos. 9 to 14 and 17, c. s. G. H. Q., the brigade paraded to take part in the centennial celebration of the inauguration of the first President of the United States.

On May thirtieth, the brigade made the usual Memorial Day parade as escort to the Grand Army of the Republic.

On October thirtieth, the brigade paraded in Brooklyn, N. Y., uniting with the Second Brigade N. G. S. N. Y., Brigadier-General James McLeer commanding, in the ceremonies incident to the the laying of the corner-stone of the Brooklyn Soldiers and Sailors' monument at Prospect Park, in that city.

The following regiments of the brigade were present at the State camp, in accordance with G. O. No. 22, G. H. Q.: The Seventh, Ninth, Twelfth, Twenty-second and Seventy-first Regiments, and details from the First and Second Batteries of Artillery.

STRENGTH OF THE BRIGADE.

The aggregate strength of the brigade by the quarterly return, dated September 30, 1888, was 5,717. The strength for the corresponding quarter this year is 5,552, a loss of 165.

ELEVENTH REGIMENT.

By S. O. No. 128, G. H. Q., dated Albany, December 24, 1888, this regiment was mustered out of the service of the State, causing a reduction of 581 in the numbers of the brigade.

CAVALRY TROOP.

A company of cavalry, known as "Troop A," was organized and mustered into the service of the State on April second, and now numbers 101 enlisted men and four officers.

This troop promises to be a desirable acquisition to the National Guard, and due credit should be given to its commander Captain Charles F, Roe, for his patience and devotion in bringing the troop to its present state of discipline and efficiency.

Very respectfully.

LOUIS FITZGERALD,
Brigadier-General.

HEADQUARTERS FOURTH BRIGADE, N. G., S. N. Y.,
BUFFALO, N. Y., November 30, 1889.

The Adjutant-General, S. N. Y., Albany, N. Y.:

SIR.—Pursuant to section 591 R., I beg to herewith render report for the past year.

The strength of this brigade, as per last quarterly return rendered September thirtieth, is as follows:

Commissioned officers	121
Enlisted men	2,115
Total	2,236
Total strength September 30, 1888	2,032
Gain	204

Per S. O. 123 series 1888, G. H., the Twenty-fifth Separate Company was disbanded and mustered out of service.

The only service required of this brigade in support of law was performed by the Forty-third Separate Company on the morning of the 25th of November, 1888, upon the call of the Sheriff of Allegany county to disperse or capture a large party of tramps. The summons for duty was promptly responded to and this disagreeable duty well performed, although unsuccessful in the capture. The bearing of this command on that occasion was highly creditable to all concerned.

Pursuant to G. O. 9, 14 and 17 G. H. c. s. this brigade assembled at Buffalo and Syracuse on April 28, 1889, and proceeded to New York by West Shore railroad in seven sections, the first section leaving Syracuse at 7.20 P. M. and the last at 9 P. M., and arriving at Madison Square Garden about 10.40 A. M., April twenty-ninth, where a camp was formed. The transfer from Weehawken to New York was made with dispatch, for within an hour and one-half of the arrival of the last section at Weehawken, the command was in camp. At 5.30 P. M. a brigade dress parade was held on the plazza, Union Square, from which the battery was excused. This being the first brigade dress parade ever held in New York city, distances could not be judged or maintained, hence the ceremony lost much of its beauty.

On April thirtieth this brigade left camp at 9 A. M., marched to Nassau and Pine streets at 10.40, and after waiting until 2.40 P. M., took up position in line, passing in review before the President and reached camp at 5.40 P. M.

Return to station was made on May first by West Shore railroad, leaving camp at 9 A. M. and arriving at the several stations between 9 P. M., May first, and 2 A. M., May second.

The entire movement was made with dispatch and time-table of train movement was very well maintained. Discipline during the entire tour was admirable, and I have no individual instance of any serious breach of discipline to report. The contractor for meals in camp at New York failed in large part to perform his duty, thereby causing widespread discontent among the men, for which $2,300 was deducted from the contract price of the contractor, but no case of sickness has been reported in consequence. I consider the tour as most remarkable in the matter of sanitation. But one man was reported on sick list, although the men were all more or less wet before entering cars and some food was offered unfit for use. During the parade of the thirtieth of April there was no straggling until on the return to camp three enlisted men fell out for faintness and were cared for by the Ambulance Corps. I wish, in this connection, to acknowledge the special services rendered to me by the general superintendent of the West Shore railroad, for his persistent care and attention, whereby the transportation of this brigade was rendered highly successful. Also, to the officers and men under my command, all of whom did well the several duties required.

This brigade made the usual parade on Decoration day, as escort to the Grand Army of the Republic.

The troops stationed in Buffalo paraded as escort to the Commander-in-Chief, on the evening of April 22, 1889, from the Niagara Hotel to the Music Hall, Buffalo.

The Sixty-fifth Regiment made a voluntary night march and tour of grand guard duty on October fifth and sixth, and despite the bad weather much good work was accomplished.

I desire to again recommend that during the coming year some practical marching work be attempted at least by that part of this brigade not ordered to camp. I beg to suggest a brigade movement during at least five days, the details of which I be permitted to arrange.

During the present year overcoats of blue, and white leggins have been issued to this brigade, both of which I heartily indorse.

The general condition of this brigade I would report as highly satisfactory in the main points. Enlistment has been healthy and increase gradual.

I desire to especially request that breech-loading guns be supplied to the Fifth Battery as early as practicable.

Rifle practice has been very well attended in view of the many days of service required of a large portion of this command, and I am especially gratified at the work accomplished in this department. It is especially desirable that a range be established at Syracuse.

I also desire to again recommend an allowance to officers for renewal of uniform. With the additional work required of all active officers, uniforms can not be maintained with exemplary neatness, without a considerable outlay which in many cases is a positive hardship. I hence feel that the service will be improved and a superior class of officers secured by an allowance annually, graded according to the expense involved in original outfit.

I have, sir, the honor to be your obedient servant,

PETER C. DOYLE,
Brigadier-General.

REPORT ON MARCH OF SIXTH BATTERY BY COMMANDING OFFICER.

SIXTH BATTERY, THIRD BRIGADE, N. G. S. N. Y.,
BINGHAMTON, N. Y., September 15, 1889.

The Adjutant-General, State of New York:

SIR.—I have the honor to report that in order to comply with Special Order No. 85, c. s., General Headquarters, State of New York, I issued Battery Order No. 10, a copy of which is hereto annexed.

At 9 o'clock, September fourth, the Battery was reported "in order," and the march taken up. The command consisted of three commissioned officers of the Battery, Captain David Wilson, Second Battery, N. G. S. N. Y, attached, Acting Chief of Caissons, four staff sergeants, three duty sergeants, four corporals, and forty-six privates, Private C. D. Rogers, M. D., surgeon. The outfit comprised four three-inch rifled guns, four caissons, two baggage wagons, one ambulance, and fifty-five horses. Five hundred cartridges, 100 case shot, fifty shells, and 1,000 friction primers were carried in the chests, and on caissons one day's forage. The baggage wagons and ambulance contained 200 blankets, six hospital tents, two camp stoves, cooking utensils, surgeon's and veterinary surgeon's stores, commissary and minor battery stores.

At the end of the first mile a halt was made to adjust harness. A thorough inspection of carriages was made, and everything being found in order, the march was resumed for one hour, and a distance of three miles was covered through the worst cloud of dust I ever experienced. Here a halt was made to ascertain if any of the horses were afraid of the steam cars, as most of the route was to be by the side of the railroad. Finding that no inconvenience would be experienced on this account, we proceeded until two o'clock in the afternoon, having marched ten miles, when the battery was parked, horses unhitched, unharnessed, watered and fed at the picket rope, and dinner cooked and served for the company. After resting an hour and a half, I ordered "Boots and saddles" blown; and the march was again resumed for seven miles. We arrived at the village of Windsor at 6 o'clock, where we located our camp and parked on a fair ground. A careful examination of everything was made with the following result: Two horses with lost shoes, one lock chain broken, four horses with sore necks, the veterinary surgeon reporting three of them sore when we started, and one sore back. The horses were unhitched, unharnessed, blanketed, watered, fed, tents pitched and filled with straw, and supper cooked, in about two hours. A guard was established with three posts near the picket line, and one on the park whose attention was taken up constantly during the night by the horses, who realized the change from their usual work and quarters as much as ourselves, so that morning found all of us with but very little rest.

September 5.—"Reveille" was blown at 5 o'clock, with "stable" following, as was the custom during the remainder of the march. The duties were well performed for men with no previous experience in the field with horses. After breakfast camp was struck and the march resumed at 8.30 o'clock, with little or no trouble. The horses were quite inured to their harness and work, and the drivers comprehended their duties. After proceeding twelve miles over a very hilly road, we reached Harpursville, where we parked, unhitched, watered and fed; the company taking dinner at a hotel to economize time. After resting two hours, we proceeded to the village of Afton, distance six miles, where we were obliged to camp owing to the sore necks, backs and galling of several of the horses. A careful inspection showed that the saddle blankets were too old and worn for active service; that many of the collars were not of a proper size or construction for the business; and five new ones were purchased to remedy the difficulty. Here the services of our veterinary were appreciated, who, by his constant care and attention, rendered most valuable assistance. In strong contrast with the time required by the men on the previous evening for performing their duties, I will state that the battery was parked, horses unhitched, unharnessed, watered, fed with hay and oats, tents pitched and filled with straw, one for each section and one for officers, and supper ready in thirty minutes. The discipline was perfect, and all details performed their duties to my entire satisfaction. Tattoo roll call found all present; taps were blown at 10 o'clock, with guards as usual.

September 6.—Battery reported in order at 9.30 A. M., and drilled until noon, firing 100 blank cartridges during the various movements, when a terrific wind and rain-storm suddenly arose, drenching all, and came very near wrecking the camp; the drivers with difficulty controlled their horses, while it required the efforts of all the cannoneers to prevent the tents and camp equipage from being blown away. When the storm had passed the horses were fed and dinner served, and the march was resumed at 2.30 o'clock for Coventryville, distance seven miles. This was by far the hardest day's march of the trip, it being over the mountains. The lock chains were in use much of the time, and the cannoneers were obliged to march the entire distance through a hard rain, over a country road hardly wide enough for the carriages to pass. We arrived at 5.30 P. M., and parked on a small green in front of a church, using the church sheds for stables. The usual duties were performed in a less time than on the previous evening. The men being drenched with rain, a large camp fire was built and supper served, and by tattoo all were again dry and warm. Notwithstanding the extremely hard march and inclement weather, I never observed more willingness and attention to duty than on this occasion, both by officers and men.

September 7.—The weather was cold, with wind and rain. The battery commenced the march at 9 A. M. for Greene, distance twelve miles. A halt of forty minutes was made at Coventry, distance two miles, to repair harness and have six horses shod. We arrived at Greene at 2.20 P. M., during a heavy rain-storm. We parked and located our camp in a large meadow delightfully located, and with every convenience for the mounted inspection on the following day. After a drill of three hours, I decided on account of the rain to place the horses in the two hotel stables, with a guard in each for safety against fire. In the evening a school was conducted in the hotel parlor, and was attended by all the officers, non-commissioned officers off duty and drivers. The various field movements and ceremonies were explained and demonstrated, and very beneficial results were obtained.

September 8.— On Sunday "Reveille" sounded as usual and the battery marched to the stables for duty, after which breakfast was served at the hotel, it being over a mile to camp and raining hard. Invitations were received by the commanding officer from the several churches for the command to attend services, and was taken advantage of by nearly all. At noon the rain ceased, and fine weather continued during the remainder of the march. The horses were taken to camp and fed at the picket line, and dinner served in camp.

Learning that Colonel McGrath, Assistant Inspector-General, would be unable to inspect us as anticipated, I determined to improve the remainder of the day by drill, and ordered "boots and saddles" sounded at 1.30 P. M.; at 2 o'clock the battery was reported in order, and three hours of active drill was had, ending with a thorough inspection and review, which was witnessed by hundreds of spectators. Vast improvements were noticed in drivers, cannoneers and horses. After supper all but the guard were excused until tattoo roll call to attend church.

September 9.— The battery was joined by Lieutenant W. R. Hamilton, Fifth Artillery, U. S. A., who had been detailed by the Adjutant-General to accompany us. We broke camp at 9 A. M., and marched ten miles to Chenango Forks; horses were unhitched, watered and fed, the command taking dinner at the hotel. A delightful spot for camp was secured on a flat close by the Chenango river, where we proceeded at 2 P. M., and occupied the remainder of the afternoon in drill for the observation of Lieutenant Hamilton, whose valuable suggestions were appreciated by all, the horses and men showing continued improvement.

September 10.—We left Chenango Forks at 10 A. M. for Binghamton, distance, twelve miles, where we arrived at 2 P. M., making a parade through the principal streets of the city, with teams docile and willing, arriving at the armory at 3 P. M., where the battery was housed and the horses delivered to their owners with every indication that they left their new work as reluctantly as they commenced it. On the first mile of the march most of the team horses were unmanageable by the drivers; and cannoneers were therefore detailed and stationed near their heads to prevent accident, after which they partially became accustomed to the situation and commenced to learn the duties required of them. During the remainder of the march they were perfectly tractable, evincing a fondness for the business and a disposition to learn equal to that of their drivers. I firmly believe that many of the horses, on their return, understood and obeyed of their own accord several of the oral commands, as well as commands with the trumpet.

The attachment between horses and drivers, who had so well and carefully fed, groomed and cared for them during the week, was daily increasing, and at times it seemed difficult to determine who exhibited the best disposition to improve and properly perform the duties required of them, horse or man.

The route of march was mostly over strange roads, and we were unexpected by the inhabitants, who on all occasions gave us a hearty and hospitable welcome, manifesting a great interest in our project and a desire to assist us in every manner. Public receptions were tendered us on two occasions, which, in compliance with orders, were respectfully declined.

During the march rations were mostly cooked in the field, and camp grounds selected daily by the quartermaster sergeant who preceded the battery a few hours, contracting for forage, straw for the tents, wood and such other necessaries as were required, so that on our arrival everything was ready and waiting at the camp ground to be delivered.

During the entire march not a man was excused from duty on account of sickness, and but one for accident which was not serious. The discipline was excellent, with not an occasion for a reprimand; officers and enlisted men seemed to have anticipated the hardships and inconveniences to be experienced, and to vie with each other as to who could be the best soldier.

I consider the march an unqualified success, inasmuch as all, from the commanding officer to the youngest recruit were constantly receiving, night and day, that practical instruction necessary to constitute an artilleryman, and which experience can not be obtained in any other manner. It demonstrates the proper manner of making a light battery the most useful and effective adjunct of the National Guard. Could this experience be repeated each year, I am sanguine that the artillery branch of the Guard would improve to such an unprecedented extent that it would be ready at a moment's notice to take the field, manned, horsed and equipped, marching either by land or rail, and fulfill all the duties that could be desired or expected. This can only be accomplished by an increased allowance of funds, which at present is hardly enough to meet the ordinary incidental expenses, and keep in repair the uniforms and equipments, the wear and tear of which is many times greater than in other branches of the service.

The principal inconvenience experienced was from defective equipment; the harness was old and rotten, constantly breaking and causing delay; most of the collars are unsuitable both in size and style, causing bad galls and sore necks; the saddle blankets are old and thin. The battery should be supplied with watering bridles and canvas suits for stable duties, in order to save uniforms.

I regret that a target ground could not be obtained owing to the proximity of roads and buildings, rendering it unsafe to fire shot or shell.

I desire to thank Lieut. W. R. Hamilton, U. S. A., for valuable assistance and information, regretting that he was unable to join us at the commencement of the march; also Captain David Wilson, Second Battery, N. G. S. N. Y., whose efforts went far to accomplish the success achieved.

Sincerely hoping that our efforts so well begun will meet with such an approval as to cause the repetition of a mounted march for a longer duration.

I have the honor to be, very respectfully, your obedient servant.

LAUREL L. OLMSTEAD,
Captain Sixth Battery.

REPORT OF GENERAL J. G. FARNSWORTH

ON THE

Condition of the War Claims of the State against the United States, December 31, 1889.

ALBANY, N. Y., December 31, 1889.

To the Adjutant-General, State of New York:

SIR.—I have the honor to report that the claims of this State against the United States for expenses incurred in organizing, enrolling, subsisting, clothing, arming, etc., troops employed in the service of the United States during the late civil war, has been steadily prosecuted throughout the past year.

New evidences have been obtained, and explanations prepared and filed with the accounting officers of the United States Treasury and are now under their consideration, with confident expectation that allowances for the State will be made at an early date and in time to secure an appropriation for payment during the present session of Congress. Meanwhile further proofs are being procured to perfect suspended vouchers, and explanations are in preparation to remove misunderstandings that may exist as to their character.

The claim for interest paid by the State on Comptroller's bonds issued in 1861 for expenses incurred in raising troops for the United States service, amounting to $131,188.02, is pending in the United States Court of Claims, and it is believed that it will soon receive favorable consideration.

A bill to refund duties on arms imported by the State in 1863, amounting to $42,796.87, has already been introduced by the Hon. Charles Tracy in the House of Representatives, and a bill for the payment of certificates issued by State to the soldiers of 1812 has also been placed in his hands for introduction.

A bill for refunding the direct tax levied in 1861 has been introduced and is pending in Congress. The amount due to this State under its provisions is $2,213,330.86.

A bill is also pending for the readjustment of interest due on account of the war of 1812 to this and other States. Under its provisions New York is entitled to over $100,000.

Every effort will be made to secure the passage of these and other bills in which the State is interested.

The annexed statement shows the present condition of the claims filed with the accounting officers of the United States Treasury.

Very respectfully, your obedient servant,

J. G. FARNSWORTH,
In Charge of War Claims.

To the Civil Service Commission:

GENTLEMEN.—I have the honor to submit my report regarding the examinations for the year ended November 30, 1889.

COMPETITIVE EXAMINATIONS.

INSTRUCTORS OF PUPIL ASSISTANTS, STATE LIBRARY.

In January last a class of pupil assistants in the State Library was organized by the Board of Regents. This made necessary the appointment of a number of instructors for such class. Accordingly an examination was held in New York, in which I was assisted by Professor Melvil Dewey, State Librarian. Seven candidates appeared. The subjects in which they were examined, and other items of interest connected therewith, are shown in the following table:

Pages.

In March last the Regents of the University notified the Commission of the necessity of employing a number of pages in the State Library. As no pages had previously been appointed the position was placed in Schedule B, and the limits of age were fixed at ten and eighteen years.

An examination was held on March twenty-eighth, in Albany. One hundred and four candidates entered the competition. The examination included the following subjects: dictation, handwriting, spelling, arithmetic, memorizing, and an oral examination of each candidate separately.

I was assisted in this examination by Melvil Dewey, secretary of the Board of Regents, and Edward I. Devlin, commissioner of law examinations. Seventy-five candidates were found qualified.

Elmira Reformatory Guards.

An examination for guards at the Elmira reformatory was held April third, at that institution.

The superintendent conducted the oral examination of candidates.

The number of candidates and other details are shown in the following table :

Assistant Physicians.

The position of assistant physician at the several State asylums for the insane is non-competitive, but such positions may be filled by competition at the request of the superintendent. A vacancy having occurred in the corps of assistants at the Willard asylum, a competitive examination was held in Albany, April twenty-fourth. Although such examination was widely advertised, but four candidates appeared, all of whom failed to reach the required standing. The position was afterward filled by non-competitive examination.

Literary Teacher and Teacher of the Piano-forte, Institution for the Blind, Batavia.

An examination for positions as literary teacher and teacher of the piano-forte was held at Batavia in May. Five of nine candidates entering the competition for literary teacher were successful.

The examination did not differ materially from that required for candidates for first-grade certificates in the common schools, except that greater stress was laid upon a knowledge of the methods of teaching by what is termed the "object method" and some knowledge of English literature was required.

Three out of seven candidates entering the competition for teacher of the piano-forte were successful. Two of the candidates were blind graduates of the institution, one of whom reached the average required.

The result of these examinations are shown in detail in the two following tables:

Teacher of the Graham System of Stenography at the Elmira Reformatory.

The superintendent of the Elmira Reformatory called upon the Commission for the names of persons qualified to act as teacher of Graham's system of stenography. It was found that none of the stenographers on the eligible list were familiar with that system. An examination was ordered, May twenty-third, at which but one candidate appeared. Another effort to secure competitors at an examination was made when three appeared, two of whom passed. The details of such examinations are shown in the two following tables :

That so few appeared at these examinations was in a measure due to the fact that the salary paid is less than stenographers usually receive.

EXAMINERS, OFFICE OF THE BOARD OF REGENTS.

The Board of Regents require the services of a number of persons to mark the examination papers, upon which "Regents' Certificates" are issued to pupils in the academies and high schools, and to law and medical students. To secure competent persons the examinations cover the ancient and modern languages, natural sciences, as well as the common and higher English branches. In the preparation of questions and marking of papers for this examination, the result of which is given below, Professors A. B. Watkins, Ralph W. Thomas of the Regents' office, Charles A. Horne of the Albany High School, and Howard J. Rogers of the Albany Academy, rendered valuable assistance:

Clerks, Messengers and Interpreters.

The examination for clerkships, messengers and interpreters in the State service was held November fourteenth, at the following places: Albany, New York, Syracuse, Buffalo, Elmira and Plattsburgh. The plan of using the same questions for the three grades of clerks, allowing the grade of each applicant to be determined by his standing, as contemplated in the revised schemes, will, it is believed, be an improvement upon the former method of requiring different tests for the different grades.

The details of such examination are shown in the following tables :

Non-competitive Examinations.

The positions comprised in Schedule C vary greatly in their character, comprising physicians, stewards, inspectors of excise, court attendants, librarians, health officers, and clerks in various capacities. It has been my aim to make these examinations so thorough that the certificate of the Commission will be a guaranty that the person obtaining it possesses the expert knowledge necessary to the successful performance of his duties.

The percentage of failures was greater than during any year since the civil service law went into effect.

SCHEDULE D.

The examinations for positions in this schedule are conducted by local boards.

Since the adoption of the rule requiring that all candidates shall be able to write and shall understand the fundamental rules of arithmetic, and that the written work shall be filed with the Commission there has been a much larger percentage of failures.

There is abundant evidence that the character of the employés holding minor positions in the State service has greatly improved during the last few years. Many unqualified persons formerly secured appointments, who now abandon all effort in that direction, when they learn that even this limited educational qualification is insisted upon.

PROVISIONAL EXAMINATIONS AND APPOINTMENTS, UNDER RULE 42.

In October the superintendent of the Middletown Asylum for the Insane, requested a certification of clerks and bookkeepers from which to select a person for each of these positions. The salary paid is $300 per annum and board. The appointment was declined by those eligible to certification. The superintendent reported that the positions would be accepted by competent young men residing in the vicinity. A provisional examination was held under Rule 42 on November nineteenth. Michael F. Mallen passed the examination for the clerkship, and Vernen M. Weeks for the position of bookkeeper, and may act until a competitive examination can be held.

Note.—This summary does not include pages or candidates who were examined in two or more grades under the same application.

The report covers the examinations held from January 1, 1889, to December 1, 1889, a period of eleven months. As the reports of nearly all the other departments are made to correspond with the fiscal year ending October first, I suggest that hereafter the statistics concerning civil service examinations be made to cover that period. This will make it possible to have the report of the commission printed when the Legislature convenes.

Certain changes in the schemes for examinations have been made after consultation with the general board of examiners. Additional features have been added in the way of practical tests. In making these changes the requirements of the law, that the examinations shall be practical in their character and shall fairly test the capacity of candidates to discharge the duties incident to the position for which they are examined, were kept in view.

It is gratifying to be able to report that no complaint has come to my knowledge that the examinations have not been fair tests, or that they have not been conducted with fairness toward all competitors.

Heads of departments uniformly testify to the ability and efficiency of the persons selected from the eligible lists prepared under the direction of the Commission.

I have visited several cities at the request of city officials for consultation. In most cases I found officials charged with the enforcement of the law anxious to perform their duties, but in a number of instances are hampered for want of funds. Some legislation that will render the payment of expenses incident to the execution of the law compulsory would seem to be desirable.

The mayor of the city of Cohoes adopted regulations which were approved by the Commission and went into effect October 3, 1884, but the regulations have never been carried out. I called on the present mayor by your direction, and found him disinclined to take any action, alleging as a reason the fact that his term would soon expire.

A number of institutions for the blind, deaf and dumb, which have heretofore been considered by the Commission as institutions subject to the laws relating to appointments to positions in the civil service of the State, including the New York Institution for the Blind, House of Refuge, Randall's Island; Institution for Deaf-Mutes at Malone, St. Mary's Institution for Deaf-Mutes at Buffalo, the New York Improved Institution for Deaf-Mutes, the New York Institution for Deaf and Dumb, New York city; the Western New York Institution for Deaf-Mutes at Rochester, St. Joseph's Institute for Deaf-Mutes at Fordham and the Central New York Institution for Deaf-Mutes at Rome, although largely supported by the State, are notwithstanding private corporations, and are therefore not subject to the jurisdiction of the Commission.

Respectfully submitted.

ALBANY, January 4, 1889.

Hon. FREDERICK COOK, Secretary of State, Albany, N. Y.:

DEAR SIR.—I have the honor to inform you that your communication, under date of January second, instant, relating to the leave of absence without pay granted to Randolph Botts, a clerk in your department, was considered at a meeting of this Commission, held yesterday, and I was directed to say that the Civil Service Commission can not consent that leave of absence be granted employés for an indefinite period without pay.

Very respectfully yours.

Mr. C. B. ANGLE, Secretary, etc.:

DEAR SIR.—The police board of this city are about to appoint five policemen, and have asked me to send them the names of persons on the eligible list. There are nine on the list. Shall I send them the names of the nine, or only the three highest, and let them make a selection of one, two or three from those before sending other names?

An early reply will greatly oblige me.

Respectfully yours.

STATE OF NEW YORK:

OFFICE OF CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION,
ALBANY, January 28, 1889.

E. ALEX. HOUSTON, Esq., Secretary Civil Service Commission, Yonkers, N. Y.:

DEAR SIR.—I am in receipt of your communication of the twenty-sixth instant, asking to be informed in regard to the proper method of certification to be employed under your regulations.

Under regulation 17 for the city of Yonkers, the proper mode of procedure to fill the five positions now vacant under Schedule B is for the secretary of the municipal board to certify the three names standing highest on the eligible list for one position, and the appointing officer to select from those so certified for that position. Then for the secretary to certify the two names not selected with the name standing next highest for the next position, and the appointing officer to select from the three names so certified, and to proceed in like manner until all the positions shall be filled. The same names are not to be sent to the appointing officer more than three times, except by his request.

In case there shall be on the eligible list one or more honorably discharged soldiers, they are entitled to preference over all others on the list and the certification must be made in accordance with the regulation inclosed herewith, adopted pursuant to the provisions of chapter 29, Laws of 1886.

Respectfully yours.

Dear Sir.—I have the honor to communicate to you the following resolution adopted by the Civil Service Commission at a meeting held February 7, 1889:

Resolved, That the resignation of George Walton Green be accepted with regret, and that a vote of thanks of the Commission be extended to him for the very able, efficient and conscientious manner in which he has performed his duties as a member of the board of examiners for positions in the courts of New York city.

Chairman Board of Examiners for Schedule D positions:

Dear Sir.—I am directed to inform you and through you the board of examiners, of which you are chairman, of important changes regarding the procedure in the examination of candidates for positions classified in Schedule D.

All applicants for appointment to positions in this schedule must hereafter file an application on blanks furnished by this office. As a part of the examination, candidates must write from dictation a short exercise and demonstrate their ability to add, subtract, multiply and divide simple numbers. This much is obligatory, and the written work of candidates, the application and order for examination, together with your report, should be forwarded to this office.

It is expected that the board of examiners will adapt the examination to the requirements of the different positions, adding such additional features as may be decided by them to be desirable.

It is also suggested that it ought not to be necessary to hold examinations oftener than once each quarter, appointments in the meantime to be made from the list of those who have shown their competency at preceding examinations.

Blanks required to enable you to carry out these instructions will be forwarded to the superintendent.

Very respectfully yours.

JOHN B. RILEY,
Chief Examiner.

STATE OF NEW YORK:

OFFICE OF CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION,
ALBANY, February 14, 1889.

....., Superintendent, etc.:

DEAR SIR.—I have the honor to advise you that the Commission have decided to require all applicants for Schedule D positions to file an application in the form indicated by blanks which have been forwarded to you this day.

Your board of examiners have been instructed to file at this office, with their report of the examination of each candidate, the application and your order for examination. It is also suggested that examinations be held at stated periods, say once each quarter, appointments in the meantime to be made from the list of persons passing successfully the preceding examination.

This plan is intended to secure uniformity at the different institutions, and it is hoped that it will simplify the work of the several boards of examiners, and by examining a number of applicants at the same time, save them much labor and annoyance.

Very respectfully yours.

JOHN B. RILEY,
Chief Examiner.

MAYOR'S OFFICE,
BUFFALO, N. Y., February 6, 1889.

The Honorable the Civil Service Commission, Albany, N. Y.:

GENTLEMEN.—If you have any reason you do not think proper to approve of the proposed change of street and health inspectors from Schedule B to C, I would suggest an addition to Rule XIII something as follows:

"If the position to be filled is that of street and health inspector, the Commission shall certify to the appointing power, for each appointment to be made, at least one person living within the particular ward or in a ward adjoining the particular ward in which the head of the department requires the services of such inspector."

This would relieve one of the difficulties.

Yours very respectfully.

Hon. Philip Becker, Mayor, Buffalo, N. Y.:

Dear Sir.—I have the honor to inform you that the Civil Service Commission has carefully considered your communication under date of February sixth, instant, together with the suggested addition to Rule XIII for the civil service of Buffalo, in regard to the certification of eligible candidates for positions as street and health inspectors.

The Commission does not deem it expedient to approve of the proposed amendment during the pendency of the action now in the courts, Rogers v. The Common Council of Buffalo.

Very respectfully yours.

General J. M. Varian, Chief of Ordnance, New York City:

Dear Sir.—This Commission is in receipt of your favor of yesterday's date.

I send you to-day a copy of the civil service statutes and rules, and would respectfully call your attention to the fact that under section 7 of the act "no person merely employed as a laborer or workman shall be required to be classified."

Albert Hopper, named by you for promotion to the position of receiving and shipping clerk, is not eligible under the rules.

The position of receiving and shipping clerk in your department, being classified in Schedule B, must be filled by selection from the eligible lists in this office, providing you have no one in your employ who has passed the required examination and is eligible for promotion.

I would also respectfully refer you to Rule 37, on page 79, of the fifth annual report, which relates to transfers and promotions.

I am, sir, very respectfully yours.

CLARENCE B. ANGLE,

WILLARD, N. Y., March 29, 1889.

Mr. CLARENCE B. ANGLE:

DEAR SIR.—Dr. Graham B. Bristol, assistant physician, resigned his office, the resignation to take effect April first, proximo. He is to be succeeded by Dr. J. Montgomery Mosher, of Albany, subject to non-competitive examination and certification of the civil service examiners.

Dr. M. D. Blaine has resigned the office of assistant physician, to take effect as soon as his successor can be appointed. To fill this position a competitive examination will be desired, provided the physician with whom we are now in correspondence can not be obtained.

To fill the position of female assistant physician, can not an exception be made to the rule requiring citizenship? It seems impossible to get a proper candidate from this State, while there are several from other States, and one from the District of Columbia, that seems to have the peculiar qualifications we desire.

Respectfully yours.

P. M. WISE, M. D., Superintendent Willard Asylum, Willard, N. Y.:

DEAR SIR.—I have the honor to inform you that at a meeting of this Commission held yesterday, your communication of March twenty-ninth, ultimo, was considered.

I was directed to say that the Commission does not deem it expedient to recommend to the Governor that the position of female assistant physician be excepted from the restrictions as to residence and citizenship imposed by civil service rule 35, as they are of the opinion that there are many female physicians in the State well qualified to fill the position. They also think that in making the exception they would be establishing an unwise precedent.

Very respectfully yours.

Dear Sir.—Replying to your letter of the twenty-third instant, containing inquiry as to the right of the appointing power to discharge persons in the civil service of the State who have been appointed in conformity to the civil service law and rules, I have the honor to advise you that the power of removal is not restricted by any statute or regulation, except in the case of persons who have been honorably discharged from the military or naval service of the United States, from service in the late war, and who are in the employ of any city or county. (See chapter 119, Laws of 1888.)

Hon. Alexander Meakim, President Board of Excise, New York city:

Dear Sir.—This Commission is in receipt of thirty-six nominations of persons for non-competitive examination for positions as inspectors in your department, and desires respectfully to inform you that persons nominated for examination are entitled to appointment provided they are certified by this board as possessing the necessary qualifications.

It has been suggested that it is possible that your board, in entering upon its new duties, did not understand that a nomination for examination is considered to be equivalent to an appointment in case the applicant passes the examination required, I, therefore, inclose a list of the nominations made to date and request that if it is not the intention of your board to appoint all the persons named, that you advise me of the fact, and the order for the examination of such applicants, as are not to be appointed, will be withdrawn.

I am sir, very respectfully yours.

A. A. BRUSH, Esq., Agent and Warden, Sing Sing State Prison, Sing Sing, N. Y.:

DEAR SIR.—I have the honor to advise you that at the request of the Superintendent of State Prisons, the position of prison guard has been transferred from Schedule B to Schedule D of the State classification.

You will please recommend to the Commission three persons to act as examiners for such positions at the prison under your charge. As soon as such board has been appointed, the necessary blanks and instructions will be sent you.

Candidates who have filed applications with this Commission, will be advised of this change in the classification and directed to file their application with you. You are also advised that any person now on the eligible list may be appointed without further examination, provided notice of such appointment is filed within thirty days.

Very respectfully yours.

OFFICE OF CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION,
ALBANY, June 14, 1889.

The Honorable Mayor of the City of .....:

DEAR SIR.—I am directed to inform you that a meeting of the Civil Service Commission will be held at its office in the Capitol, on the 26th day of June, 1889, at 10 o'clock A. M., for the purposes set forth in the resolution, a copy of which is inclosed herewith.

The Commission is authorized by section 16 of the Civil Service Act to require the attendance of persons from whom information is sought, but the Commissioners assume that you will voluntarily appear before them on the date above named and furnish them with such data and suggestions concerning the methods of appointment, removals, terms of service, duties, compensation and number of all clerks, employés or subordinate officers in your city as will enable them to act intelligently in the premises.

You will be entitled to the same fees as are allowed witnesses in civil suits in courts of record. These fees will be paid the same as if a subpœna had been regularly served.

I am also directed to say that the Commission will be pleased to learn through you any facts and to receive any suggestions bearing upon the application of the Civil Service Law to your city that you may choose to present.

Very respectfully yours.

CLARENCE B. ANGLE,
Secretary.

Whereas, The mayor of the city of ..... has failed to prescribe regulations for the admission of persons into the civil service of said city, as required by section 8 of chapter 354, Laws of 1883, as amended by chapter 410, Laws of 1884, therefore,

Resolved, That the mayor of said city be requested to appear in person before this Commission, on the 26th day of June, 1889, at 10 o'clock a. m., and to furnish it with such reasons as he may for his failure to comply with the provisions of law regulating the admission of persons into the civil service of said city, and such other information touching said matter as this Commission may require. That said mayor be requested to furnish this Commission at the same time a statement showing the name, position, term of service and salary of each person employed in the civil service of said city.

Attest:

Clarence B. Angle,
Secretary.

The above letter and resolutions were sent to the mayors of the following cities:

Amsterdam, Jamestown, Lockport, Hudson, Dunkirk, Rome, Oswego, Schenectady, Watertown, Ithaca, Middletown.

In response to the above resolution, the following named mayors appeared before the Commission:

June 25, 1889.—Hon. O. F. Price, mayor of Jamestown; Hon. Henry L. Gregg, mayor of Hudson; Hon. W. Bookstaver, mayor of Dunkirk; Hon. Thomas Oliver, mayor of Lockport.

June 26, 1889.—Hon. John Barden, mayor of Ithaca; Hon. J. E. Iseman, mayor of Middletown; Hon. James Stockwell, mayor of Oswego; Hon. James Stevens, mayor of Rome.

July 18, 1889.—Hon. H. S. DeForest, mayor of Schenectady, and Hon. John Nill, mayor of Watertown.

All gave their reasons for not complying with the law requiring the adoption of civil service regulations for their respective cities, and after receiving thorough explanations and instructions from the Commission, signified their intentions of submitting regulations for approval at an early day.

Regulations for the following cities have since been approved by the Commission, viz., Hudson, Dunkirk, Ithaca, Amsterdam and Watertown.

STATE OF NEW YORK:

OFFICE OF CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION,

HON. THOMAS OLIVER, Lockport, N. Y.:

DEAR SIR.—Referring to your statement before the Civil Service Commission at their meeting in Albany on the twenty-fifth instant, that you would not perform the duties imposed upon you, as the mayor of Lockport, by section 8 of the act to regulate and improve the civil service of the State, passed May 4, 1883, as amended by chapter 357 of the Laws of 1884, and chapter 410 of the Laws of 1884, unless compelled to do so, I am directed by the Board of Commissioners respectfully to invite your attention to section 154 of chapter 7 of the Penal Code, entitled "Offenses against public justice," which section is in the words following, to wit:

"§ 154. Omission of duty by public officer.— Where any duty is or shall be enjoined by law upon any public officer or upon any person holding a public trust or employment, every willful omission to perform such duty, where no special provision shall have been made for the punishment of such delinquency, is punishable as a misdemeanor." (3 R. S., 983, § 101.)

HON. JOHN DWYER, Mayor of the city of Amsterdam, N. Y.:

DEAR SIR.—The inclosed regulations were prepared by the State Civil Service Commission as a guide or help to mayors who are by the Civil Service Act required to adopt regulations for their respective cities. It is believed that the additions and changes necessary to adapt them to your city can be made in the copies thus saving time.

Triplicate copies should be sent to this Commission — one for filing in this office, one for the office of the Secretary of State and one to be returned to you, and it is hoped that they may be received in time to submit them to the Commission at its meeting on July eighteenth.

Any assistance that can be rendered by myself or the chief examiner will be cheerfully given.

Very respectfully yours.

Secretary.

The Commission being now engaged in the preparation of its annual report to the Legislature, and being required therein to show its action in regard to the inforcement of the law in cities, respectfully requests that you will give the matter your early attention and submit regulations for approval.

OFFICE OF CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION,
ALBANY, October 18, 1889.

Hon. JOHN BOGART, State Engineer, Albany, N. Y.:

DEAR SIR.—Candidates for clerical positions in any of the State departments will be examined on the fourteenth of November next. If in your judgment special qualifications are required for the clerical positions in your department candidates will be examined in such additional subjects as in your opinion will test their fitness for such positions.

The Civil Service Commission are anxious that in conducting examinations the spirit of that provision of the law, which says: "Such examinations shall be practical in their character and, so far as may be, shall relate to those matters which will fairly test the relative capacity and fitness of the persons examined to discharge the duties of that service into which they seek to be appointed."

In preparing questions for examinations I must necessarily be guided largely by suggestions that may be made by heads of departments.

If you will kindly advise me whether or not you desire a special eligible list prepared for your office, and if so, will submit suggestions as to what special tests should be required of candidates beyond what is required of candidates for ordinary clerkships, you will greatly oblige.

Yours, very respectfully.

ALBANY, October 25, 1889.

Hon. EDWARD WEMPLE, Comptroller, Albany, N. Y.:

DEAR SIR.—This commission in its last annual report recommended that separate eligible lists be prepared for each department in the State government. As the present eligible lists of candidates for clerical positions in the various departments will soon expire another examination must be held.

I am instructed by the Commission to ascertain your opinion as to whether or not the service in your department may be improved by preparing a separate list made up of candidates who have passed an examination prepared especially to meet the requirements for such department.

The Civil Service Commission is anxious that in conducting examinations the spirit of that provision of the law which says: "Such examinations shall be practical in their character and, so far as may be, shall relate to those matters which will fairly test the relative capacity and fitness of the persons examined to discharge the duties of that service into which they seek to be appointed."

Please advise me as to your wishes in the matter and submit suggestions as to what special tests should be required of candidates for clerical positions in your department beyond what are required of candidates for ordinary clerkships.

An early reply is respectfully requested as the examination has already been advertised for November fourteenth.

Very respectfully yours.

IRVING WASHINGTON, Esq., Superintendent State Industrial School, Rochester, N. Y.:

DEAR SIR.—In your report to this Commission for the quarter ending September thirtieth, ult., I note the following appointments: George B. Schoeffel, clerk, September 9, 1889, $1,200; Helen Severance, teacher, September 18, 1889, $540; Kate Whitehead, teacher, September 24, 1889, $540; Lucy Washington, teacher, September 24, 1889, $540.

I would respectfully inform you that all of the above-named positions are classified in Schedule B of the State classification and must be filled by selection from the eligible lists in this office obtained through competitive examinations. I send proper blank forms for requisition herewith, also forms for application and nomination to be used in filling the position of steward, which is classified in Schedule C and subject to a non-competitive examination.

Will you kindly remind your examining board for Schedule D positions that their promised report has not yet been received.

Very respectfully yours.

CLARENCE B. ANGLE,
Secretary.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., November 7, 1889.

CLARENCE B. ANGLE, Secretary Civil Service Commission:

DEAR SIR.—In reply to your favor of the thirty-first ult., I have to say that the appointments to which you refer, viz., teachers, clerk and steward, were made by the board of managers. Of course I can not answer for the board's action. A vacancy unexpectedly created by the resignation of our former steward was filled by the promotion of an officer who had been in the institution about fifteen years.

With regard to the report of Schedule D examinations, I may say in explanation of the delay that Mr. Murray, assistant supertintendent and chairman of the examining board, has been recently through a long siege of illness. He was confined to his bed for four weeks, after which he took a trip south and has but just returned. Only a short time before his recent illness he was away thirty days on account of ill health. I trust he will be able to hold the necessary examinations and get the reports in before long.

Believe me, yours very truly.

IRVING WASHINGTON,
Superintendent.

STATE OF NEW YORK:

Office of Civil Service Commission,
Albany, November 8, 1889.

Hon. William Purcell, President, Board of Managers, State Industrial School, Rochester, N. Y.:

Dear Sir.—The last quarterly report of the employés of the State Industrial School, states that George B. Schoeffel, was on September ninth, last, appointed clerk, and that Helen Severance, Kate Whitehead and Lucy Washington were during the same month appointed teachers.

The secretary of the Commission called Superintendent Washington's attention to these violations of law, and is in receipt of a reply under date of November seventh, which has been referred to me, in which Mr. Washington says: "I have to say that the appointments to which you refer, viz., teachers, clerk and steward, were made by the board of managers. Of course I can not answer for the board's action."

In May last I called at the school and had an interview with Mr. Washington regarding the holding of an examination for teachers. He then stated that he would advise me if any changes were to occur that would make such examination necessary. As no request has been made to the Commission for a list of teachers from which selections might be made, I have not deemed it necessary to hold an examination, but if your board of managers intend to comply with the law regulating such appointments, I will upon being so advised arrange for such examination without delay.

We have in this office an eligible list of clerks from which the position of clerk at your institution should be filled, and the selection of a clerk in any other manner is in direct violation of law.

Mr. Washington in his letter of November seventh, states that Mr. Curtin has been an officer in the institution for about fifteen years. The records of this office show that Mr. Curtin has been a policeman, and the promotion from that position to the position of steward is not permitted. The position of steward is in the non-competitive schedule, and upon nomination upon the proper blanks, which have been supplied to your superintendent, an examination will be arranged for.

I have the honor to be, very respectfully yours.

JOHN B. RILEY,
Chief Examiner.

CHANGES IN CLASSIFICATION.

At a meeting of the Civil Service Commission held January 3, 1889, it was resolved that the following be recommended to the Governor for approval:

Resolved, That the position of chaplain in the State service be and hereby is included in Schedule A of the State classification.

BUREAU OF STATISTICS OF LABOR,
ALBANY, January 7, 1889.

The Civil Service Commission, Albany, N. Y.:

GENTLEMEN. — I find it necessary to avail myself of the services of members of labor organizations to act in the capacity of special agents. Such agents are employed for special work and for only a few weeks or months at a time. An experience of some four years has fully demonstrated that the only reliable data, statistics or evidence relating to the labor or union side of strikes, lock-outs, boycotts and other labor disturbances, is that obtained through the agency of members of the local assemblies or unions interested.

Section 3 of chapter 205 of the Laws of 1886, amendatory of the act of 1883, creating the Bureau of Statistics of Labor, undoubtedly gives the commissioner legal authority to compel the attendance of witnesses, etc., but experience has conclusively shown that testimony given unwillingly or under stress, is little better than none, as far as the value of statistics is concerned. To be of any real value, statistics must be absolutely correct, and with this end in view, I request of your honorable board that special agents of the Bureau of Statistics of Labor, be exempted from the provisions of the Civil Service Law requiring examination, and classed under Schedule "A."

Yours, very respectfully.

CHARLES F. PECK,
Commissioner.

BUREAU OF STATISTICS OF LABOR,
ALBANY, February 4, 1889.

The Civil Service Commission, Albany, N. Y.:

GENTLEMEN.—Referring to the subject-matter of my communication addressed to your honorable Commission, under date of January seventh last past, I desire to say that the duties of the special agents of this bureau will be confined to work wholly outside of Albany; and that it is neither the desire or intention of the commissioner to utilize the services of such special agents as clerks in this office.

Yours very respectfully.

CHARLES F. PECK,
Commissioner.

At a meeting of the Civil Service Commission, held February 7, 1889, it was resolved that the following be recommended to the Governor for approval:

Resolved, That in consideration of the statements contained in the communications from Hon. Charles F. Peck, under dates of January 7 and February 4, 1889, six special agents in the bureau of statistics of labor be and hereby are classified in Schedule A.

Attest: CLARENCE B. ANGLE,
Secretary.

Approved, February 11, 1889.

OFFICE OF THE REGENTS,
ALBANY, January 19, 1889.

CLARENCE B. ANGLE, Secretary Civil Service Commission, Albany, N. Y.:

DEAR SIR.—I inclose herewith a corrected list of the various employés of this office, the library and the State Museum, and will try to see that you are promptly informed hereafter of all changes.

I find that one of our officers, the inspector of teachers' classes and academies, has not been classified, and so appears as a violation of the civil service laws, no examination having been given him. The duties of this position are so peculiar in their character, that it clearly belongs in Schedule A, class 1, subdivision 2. The most eminent scholar might make a total failure of this work. We, of course, take the utmost pains to examine into the qualifications before making this appointment, and it would be possible for you to do the same, but as I read your rules and classifications, this distinctly belongs to that group. We wish in all these details to meet the views of the Commission fully, and if in their judgment this is not the proper course, we should like to have some examination devised at an early date, for we wish this office to be on record as conforming fully, promptly and cordially with all your regulations.

May I also suggest the great desirability of establishing a new examination so that we shall be able to utilize the great advantages of your office and your system in securing a better grade of pages or errand boys. We shall have occasion in the new libraries to employ several, and it would be a decided advantage to us if we could get them through your office. The limit of age ought to be as low as 10 years to cover special cases, though we should seldom employ any under 12.

Sincerely.

MELVIL DEWEY,

Secretary.

Office of the Regents,
Albany, February 7, 1889.

John B. Riley, Chief Examiner, Civil Service Commission, Albany, N. Y.:

Dear Sir.—I find two names on our list of those who have passed no examination. If you desire examinations, we should like them appointed as early as convenient for you, to guard against possibility of these being recorded as violations of the law. One is Professor C. E. Hawkins, inspector of teachers' classes, of whom I wrote you last month.

The other is John M. Clark, assistant to Professor Hall in the publication of the Paleontology. Mr. Clark is an Amherst graduate, who has pursued special studies in this subject with marked success since he left college, and has for three years assisted Professor Hall. This work is a temporary engagement, to be completed a year from next month, and you may not think it worth the trouble and expense of a special examination, so near the close of his engagement. We are ready, however, to do whatever you deem best, but wish these names taken off the list of violations as soon as practicable.

Library Teachers.

Last month the Regents voted unanimously to employ in the library pupil assistants, on the same plan followed so successfully by me in Columbia College library. These assistants work for two years without salary, in consideration of receiving instruction in technical library work, having their own work carefully revised by specially trained teachers, and having frequent examinations to test their proficiency. The money we should otherwise pay for this clerical work is to be used in employing teachers, and we should like to have these teachers selected under the Civil Service rules. In order to start the system, however, it seems absolutely necessary to employ at least three of the Columbia teachers. As this has been the only training school of the kind in the world, and there are absolutely no other candidates who have had the necessary experience, these teachers, with myself, are the only competent examiners for this peculiar work. They will be perfectly willing to take the examination, and I shall be glad to assist in conducting it, unless you think it wiser to omit the examination for these experienced teachers. I should much prefer, however, that hereafter when we have a proper basis for examination available in our own library, that all teachers appointed should have your examination. Possibly the simplest way at present is to put them on the exempt list, as they will sustain to me practically the relations of confidential assistants.

If wished by the Commission, I shall be glad to come before them to answer any questions and explain the peculiar work more fully.

Respectfully.

MELVIL DEWEY.

At a meeting of the Civil Service Commission, held February 7, 1889, it was resolved that the following be recommended to the Governor for approval:

Court of Appeals, Clerk's Office,
Albany, February 11, 1889.

To the Civil Service Commission:

Gentlemen.—On the 30th day of January, 1889, I appointed Mr. Edmund H. Smith, of Rochester, N. Y., "remittitur" clerk in this office, and have assigned him to duty with the second division of this court. The term "remittitur" is of no special import in the clerkship. The making out of "remittiturs" is only an incident in his duties.

This clerkship is strictly a confidential one. The occupant represents the clerk of the court personally in his connection with the second division.

Especially is this clerk on personal and confidential relations with the judges of the second division. He has access to their official proceedings in consultation; is intrusted by them with matters of an official nature confidentially. The relations of this clerk with the judges of the second division and to the clerk of the court, are such that in no way can the Civil Service Commission be of effectual service in the selection of the person to fill this place.

Mr. Smith is strongly recommended for this position both by the judges of the Court of Appeals and the judges of the second division.

Mr. Smith is a graduate of Hobart College, a member of the bar of the State of New York; has served as assistant United States district attorney of the southern district of New York; as clerk of the United States Court in New Mexico (I believe), and has devoted much time to the editing of law books.

Professionally he is eminently fitted to fill the place to which he has been appointed.

Personally his character is of the highest; and both personally and professionally, no person better fitted for the place to which he has been appointed could be selected.

The position of "remittitur" clerk is, in many respects, similar to the positions filled in the Supreme Court in New York, by the clerks assigned to the General Term, to the Special Term, and to the several trial courts of the Supreme Court, all of whom, I understand, are exempt from the civil service examination; but in many respects the "remittitur" clerk occupies a much more trusted and confidential relation than do these clerks.

For the above reason I respectfully insist that the remittitur clerk should be classed as not subject to the Civil Service Commission.

It may not be improper to add that these views are concurred in by the judges of the Court of Appeals and of the second division of the Court of Appeals.

Yours, etc.

GORHAM PARKS,

Clerk of the Court of Appeals of the State of New York.

COURT OF APPEALS, CLERK'S OFFICE,
ALBANY, February 12, 1888.

To the Civil Service Commission:

GENTLEMEN. — A vacancy in the position of messenger in this office exists, which I propose to fill.

The messenger in this office must be a person in whose integrity and honesty every confidence must be placed. He is intrusted almost daily with the carrying to and fro of money; with original opinions of the courts in cases not yet decided; with attending to personal business and matters for the judges, and must be a person of whom they must have knowledge and on whom they can trust.

In various ways, which will suggest themselves to you, and which are too numerous to mention, it will be seen, and I request, that this messenger should be classed among those who are exempt from the supervision of your Commission.

I understand, that for similar reasons as the above, the messengers of two departments of the State have been exempted.

Very respectfully.

GORHAM PARKS,

Clerk.

Court of Appeals, Clerk's Office,
Albany, March 13, 1889.

To the Civil Service Commission :

Gentlemen.— On 12th of February, 1889, I addressed you a request that the messenger in this office be exempted from the rules of the civil service, and giving my reasons for such request. Your Commission graciously granted my request; but subsequently your action was overruled.

I now request that the person I have selected for the position of messenger may be placed in that class allowed to undergo a non-competitive examination under Rules 21–3. And in this connection I renew my reasons given in my letter of February twelfth, ult.

I feel more strongly than ever the need of this request being granted. The person required for the position of messenger must be one in whom the clerk and the judges of the court (now fourteen), can place implicit confidence.

The opportunities for an unworthy person abusing, to his own benefit, the confidence placed in him are so great, that the selection should be intrusted to the official who will be responsible for the faithful conduct of the appointee.

The fact that the messengers in the offices of the Comptroller, Secretary of State and Board of Claims, may be appointed under non-competitive examinations (Rules 21–3), leads me to hope that, under these circumstances, the like privilege may be granted this office.

The fact, also, that your Commission granted the greater request, that the messenger in this office be entirely exempted from the civil service rules, leads me to hope that this lesser request — that the messenger may be subjected to a non-competitive examination under Rules 21–3, may be granted.

Very respectfully.

GORHAM PARKS,

Clerk of the Court of Appeals of the State of New York.

At a meeting of the Civil Service Commission held February 20, 1889, it was resolved that the following be recommended to the Governor for approval:

Resolved, That in consideration of the statements contained in the communication from Gorham Parks, under date of February 12, 1889, the position of messenger in the office of the clerk of the Court of Appeals be and hereby is classified in Schedule A.

Secretary.

Approved March 19, 1889.

ALBANY, N. Y., May 8, 1889.

The Civil Service Commission, Albany, N. Y.:

GENTLEMEN.—I have the honor to request that the classification of prison officers be changed by transferring prison guards from Schedule B to Schedule D. I have consulted the several wardens regarding the proposed change and all are of the opinion that such a modification would enable them to secure a better class of officers.

The duties of these officers do not require high literary attainments, but it is very necessary that men of good physique, firmness of character and ability to control and keep in subjection large numbers of men be secured. They shall also possess an even temper and be able to retain their self-control under all circumstances. These qualities can not always be detected in a competitive examination.

I recognize the valuable services heretofore rendered by your Commission in assisting this department to secure an efficient corps of officers, and, although recent decisions of the courts in effect hold that the prisons are exempt from the jurisdiction of your board, yet I prefer that the department shall remain subject to its regulations, providing the modification of rules proposed shall meet with your approval.

I am, very respectfully.

AUSTIN LATHROP,
Superintendent of State Prisons.

At a meeting of the State Civil Service Commission held May 27, 1889, it was resolved, that in accordance with the request contained in the communication of the superintendent of State prisons under date of May 8, 1889, the following be recommended to the Governor for approval:

Resolved, That the position of prison guard in the prisons of the State be and hereby is transferred from Schedule B to Schedule D of the State classification.

Attest: CLARENCE B. ANGLE,
Secretary.

Approved May 29, 1889.

Office of the State Commission in Lunacy,
Albany, July 17, 1889.

To the Civil Service Commission, Albany, N. Y.:

Gentlemen.—By direction of the State Commission in Lunacy, I have the honor to submit the following matter for the consideration of your Commission:

It is desired to engage a stenographer and clerk in this office who shall occupy confidential relations with the Commission and who shall, during the absence of the secretary upon duties required of him, furnish such information as may be required by the proper authorities, conduct correspondence and attend to the routine work of the office.

In view of the peculiar qualifications to be possessed by the candidate for such position I am directed to respectfully ask your Commission to place the position in Schedule A.

I have the honor to remain, yours very respectfully.

T. E. McGARR,
Secretary.

Office of the Commission in Lunacy,
Albany, August 3, 1889.

To the Civil Service Commission, Albany, N. Y.:

Gentlemen.—A communication having been addressed to you on the seventeenth, ultimo, on behalf of the State Commission in Lunacy, requesting that the position of confidential clerk and stenographer in the State Commission in Lunacy be placed in Schedule A, and your honorable body having declined to grant such request, I am now instructed by the State Commission in Lunacy to respectfully request that the said position of confidential clerk and stenographer be placed in Schedule C. The reasons for this request are fully set forth in my communication to your board referred to above.

I am, very respectfully yours.

T. E. McGARR,
Secretary.

STATE OF NEW YORK:

EXECUTIVE CHAMBER,
ALBANY, September 3, 1889.

To the Civil Service Commission, Albany, N. Y.:

GENTLEMEN.—Facts have been presented to me which render it proper, in my judgment, that the office of confidential clerk and stenographer existing in the office of the State Commission in Lunacy, recently established by the Legislature, should be placed under Schedule C. I am satisfied that the efficiency of the public service will be best promoted by making this change. You are, therefore, respectfully requested to frame a rule for my approval, placing this position in that schedule.

I remain, yours very respectfully.

DAVID B. HILL.

At a meeting of the State Civil Service Commission, held September 10, 1889, it was resolved that in view of the facts set forth in the communication from T. E. McGarr, secretary of State Commission in Lunacy, under date of August 3, 1889, and in accordance with the request of his excellency, this Commission respectfully recommends to the Governor that the position of confidential clerk and stenographer in the office of the State Commission in Lunacy be included in Class II of the classified service and enrolled in Schedule C.

Attest: JOHN C. BIRDSEYE,
Secretary pro tem.

Approved, September 12, 1889.

DAVID B. HILL,
Governor.

OFFICE OF BOARD OF EXCISE,
NEW YORK, September 6, 1889.

State Civil Service Commission, Albany, N. Y.:

GENTLEMEN.—We respectfully request the exemption from the civil service rules of four persons to perform the duties of special detectives for the board of excise of the city of New York.

In requesting this exemption, we say that their position is one which will bear a strictly confidential relation to the board, and will be within the spirit of Rule 5, Schedule A, of the civil service rules.

The fact of an examination or appointment obtaining publicity will militate against the efficiency of such appointees and minimize the benefits sought to be obtained by their appointment.

The necessity for special supervision of certain details of this department is a fact so easy of demonstration that we believe that your honorable board will not hesitate to grant the request after oral explanation, which we respectfully ask.

The interests involved in the administration of the affairs of this board, the great number of persons affected by the license law of this State in New York, the extent of territory within our jurisdiction, the means adopted by unscrupulous persons to avoid compliance with the excise laws to the detriment of the State and of law-abiding dealers, are some of the considerations which we desire to present in detail before your board, why the excise commissioners should be allowed to appoint a limited number of special inspectors, in whom they have confidence, to glean facts without subjecting them to the impediments which a public knowledge of their relation to the board of excise would necessarily produce.

The board of estimate and apportionment, recognizing this fact, has allowed a special appropriation for the service mentioned.

Respectfully.

ALEX. MEAKIM,
E. T. FITZPATRICK,
JOSEPH KOCH,
Commissioners of Excise.

At a meeting of the State Civil Service Commission, held September 10, 1889, it was resolved that the following be recommended to the Governor for approval :

Attest: JOHN C. BIRDSEYE,
Secretary pro tem.

Approved September 12, 1889.

DAVID B. HILL,
Governor.

Returned about December 1, 1889, without the approval of the Governor.

Mayor's Office,
Auburn, N. Y., May 8, 1889.

Honorable Commissioners Civil Service, Albany, N. Y.:

Gents.— Amendments recently passed by the Legislature and signed by the Governor make the following amendments of the civil service regulating this city necessary. The inclosed duplicate copies of the existing rules, and copies of those proposed also in deplicate, will clearly show the proposed change, which affects only Regulation I in the printed copies. Regulation I is amended in the manuscript copies, and I ask your approval of the same.

Under the city charter, prior to the present amendment, the street superintendent was appointed by the common council, and was subject to removal at its pleasure. The council was authorized to raise $16,000 annually for the repair of the streets and bridges, and could designate what streets and what amounts could be expended on the several streets. The result has been that each of the ten aldermen has entered into a contract to obtain the lion's share for his ward, and the result has been that expenditures have been recklessly made in many instances, and every year for eight years past largely in excess of the amount authorized by the charter, over $20,000 having been expended last year, or $5,000 in excess of the appropriation.

The tax-payers of the city of Auburn, who represent over $3,000,000 on the assessment-rolls, united in a petition to the Legislature asking that the mayor be given entire control of street repairs and improvements, and the appointment and dismissal of the superintendent.

Very respectfully.

C. WHEELER, JR.,
Mayor.

REGULATION I.

These regulations shall apply to all positions in the public service of the city of Auburn, with the following exceptions, required by statute, namely: all elective officers and persons employed in, or who seek to enter the public service under the educational department of the city, and the following officers appointed by ballot by the common council, as provided by the city charter, namely: the city attorney, the city surveyor, the keeper of the city hall, one or more sealers of weights and measures, one or more scavengers, the city sexton, ten commissioners of deeds, three fire commissioners, three commissioners of Soule cemetery, six members of the board of health, also three commissioners of excise appointed by the mayor under statute law, also the street superintendent, appointed as provided in the amended city charter.

Approved May 27, 1889.

MAYOR'S OFFICE,
BUFFALO, N. Y., January 30, 1889.

The Honorable the Civil Service Commission, Albany, N. Y.:

GENTLEMEN. — Before reprinting the rules for admission to the civil service of the city of Buffalo, so as to include in the printed volume the amendments that have been made from time to time, with the approval of the State Commission, I respectfully request the approval of some further amendments which I believe to be essential to a more ready and consistent application of them.

The copies sent herewith contain the amendments in ink and the proposed amendments in pencil.

Concerning the proposed amendments. The changes in grading, under Rule II, are made desirable by increase in salaries which have affected nearly all departments since the rules were prescribed.

The commission of fifteen persons provided for in Rule III is found to be larger than necessary, and often involves difficulty in obtaining the attendance of a quorum; the large number tending to induce some to absent themselves, relying upon the attendance of enough others; thus making the body unwieldy as well as difficult to fill satisfactorily.

As there are some members who are willing to retire from the commission, I propose, with your approval, to reduce the number of commissioners to nine, of whom not more than three shall be physicians.

The number of physicians now provided for is not less than three and I do not find it always practicable to appoint that number, and it certainly is not necessary.

The slight changes in Rules VI and V, giving the heads of departments ten days inspead of five in which to report changes, will, I think, commend themselves readily to your good judgment.

The proposed changes under Rules XI and XII, I am willing to submit as suggestions, and to state that the particular instances in which they would assist the application of the rules would be in securing two or three Polish or Italian patrolmen for special duty or special localities, which the board of police have been endeavoring to do.

The only change that I desire to make in the schedules is the transfer of street and health inspectors (now twelve in number) from Schedule "B" to "C." This change I believe to be necessary to any kind of application of the rules to that department.

They are appointed subject to confirmation by the common council under section 50 of Title II of our city charter, and are by nature of their employment required to reside in the particular portion of the city assigned to them. They are not clerks in any sense of the term, nor are they even employed as inspectors of mechanical work, but are simply overseers of small gangs of laborers employed in cleaning the streets, and are required to see to it that the streets in their districts are cleaned by the contractor for that work.

After three years of strenuous effort I must say that I have not been able to secure satisfactory application of the rules here, and in fact the complications that have arisen out of efforts to apply them are too many to warrant an attempt to explain them by letter and I have requested the street commissioner to appear before you to make such explanation as you desire.

New copies of the rules will be sent as soon as they can be printed.

Yours, very respectfully.

PHILIP BECKER,

Mayor.

STATE OF NEW YORK:

OFFICE OF CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION,
ALBANY, February 8, 1889.

Hon. PHILIP BECKER, Mayor, Buffalo, N. Y.:

DEAR SIR.—I have the honor to inform you that at a meeting of the Civil Service Commission, held yesterday, your communication under date of January 30, 1889, together with the proposed amendments to the Buffalo civil service rules, was carefully considered and action taken as follows:

RULE II.

First grade.

Clerks and like employés receiving compensation at the rate of $1,200 or less per annum.

Second grade.

Clerks and like employés receiving compensation at the rate of more than $1,200, but not exceeding $2,000 per annum.

Third grade.

Clerks and like employés receiving compensation at the rate of more than $2,000 per annum.

Approved.

RULE III.

For the purpose of conducting the inquiries and making the examinations mentioned in section 8 of the said law as amended, the mayor shall appoint nine suitable persons, citizens of Buffalo, not more than three of whom shall be physicians, who shall constitute the civil service commission of Buffalo, hereinafter for brevity also called the commission, and each member of which shall be known as a civil service commissioner of Buffalo, and for the same purpose shall also upon the recommendation of the commission employ a suitable person who shall act and be known as the secretary of the commission. Not more than five of the commissioners shall belong to the same political party, and no one of them shall be otherwise in the service of the city. Each commissioner shall, before entering upon the discharge of his duties, take and file with the city clerk an oath, in the general form prescribed for other city officials.

The mayor may at any time, by filing with the city clerk and the secretary of the commission a written notification of the change, appoint another citizen in the place of any one so appointed who shall thereupon cease to be such commissioner. The commissioners shall serve without pay and the mayor shall fix the salary of the secretary of the commission.

The commissioners shall from their number choose a chairman to act during their pleasure; and they may from time to time subject to the approval of the mayor, designate committees from their own number to conduct any of the various examinations and classes of examinations. The schedule of rating of the candidates and the certificate or certificates upon each examination and of recommendation, shall be signed by a majority of the committee, if any, conducting the examination, and be approved by the chairman of the commission. During the absence or inability to act of the chairman, a temporary chairman, chosen by the commission from their own number, may in all respects act as chairman.

It shall be the duty of the commission to conduct all examinations held under these rules, and to ascertain the fitness of candidates for the service of the city in respect to character, knowledge, and ability for the branch of the service into which they seek to enter, and to estimate and determine the relative excellence or standing of the persons examined and to certify the same as herein prescribed. The secretary of the commission shall keep minutes of their proceedings and all necessary records of applicants, their examinations and standings, and a complete record of all persons employed in the several departments to which these rules apply, and of all appointments, promotions, dismissals, resignations, and changes of any sort therein, and shall render all such service in connection with the conduct of the inquiries and examinations above mentioned as may be required of him by the commission.

MEMORANDUM ACCOMPANYING PROPOSED AMENDMENTS TO THE BROOKLYN CIVIL SERVICE REGULATIONS.

REGULATION II.

This amendment will cure a formal defect in the regulation which, as it now stands, prescribes that every new position must be put into a class already existing, whereas it will more frequently happen that a new class in Schedule B should be constituted.

REGULATION IV.

This amendment will render it unnecessary to trouble the mayor with the designation of committees within the Civil Service Commission—a matter of routine detail which clearly ought to belong to the Commission.

REGULATION V.

This amendment is intended to secure a prompt report to the Commission of the removal of an officer. The regulation already requires such a report; but the not unnatural tendency of the departments is to be dilatory in making reports, which are important to the completeness of the records of the Commission.

REGULATION XII.

This amendment reduces the age limit of patrolmen and park policemen from 26 to 23, a reduction which the testimony of distinguished police officers shows to be wise. Between the ages of 23 and 26 some of the very best material for the police force is to be found; and the much closer scrutiny to which civil service examinations subject the record and intelligence of the applicants, makes it unlikely that undue immaturity of judgment or youthful recklessness will be admitted with this reduction. The amendment also reduces the minimum height limit from five feet eight inches to five feet seven inches, with the proportional reduction in required weight and chest measurement. This change is recommended by the commissioner of police ; and, as it is a purely practical matter of which he has special knowledge, the Commission think his recommendation should be adopted. The Commission has written the president of the department of parks, and assumes that that department approves both of these changes. The last portion of this amendment is intended to obviate the harsh result of a clerical mistake. One of the former park policemen belonging to the class for whom the amendment to this regulation last adopted was made, filed his application before February 1, 1889, the date fixed as the limit of the exceptional benefits proposed to be granted to former employés with actual experience, but, through inadvertence, his application being filed a few hours after the limit fixed by the Commission, it was not received ; and he was, therefore, not admitted to the examination held before February 1, 1889. As this applicant is reported to the Civil Service Commission by the park department as having been one of its most efficient men, and as his examination has shown him to be one of the most competent, if not the most competent, of the candidates, the Commission thinks that the change proposed in the regulation will carry out the real intent of the regulation.

Regulation XIII.

This amendment is intended to abolish a rather absurd formality now required by the regulations where any department other than the fire and police departments needs to make several appointments from a grade at the same time as, for instance, in the case of park policemen, inspectors for spring or summer work, and the like. As the regulations now stand the Commission is compelled, excepting in the case of police and fire appointments, to certify only three names and to permit only a single appointment to be made at a time. The proposed change will enable any officer to notify the Commission of his desire to make several appointments at the same time ; and in that case the Commission will certify a number of candidates exceeding the number of appointments by two. This change will be agreeable to the appointing officers; and, at the same time, it has no tendency to enlarge their discretion in making selections from the eligible list.

Regulation XV.

This regulation imposes a limit upon the discretion of the health department with reference to promotions, which does not apply to any other department; and there seems to be no reason why the health officer should not have the same power to decide upon the relative merits of his subordinates within the other limitations of the regulations, as other departments have.

REGULATION XVII.

The amendment striking out the words "as shown in Appendix E" relieves the Commission of the necessity of taking care that Appendix E, as it is filed in the office of the city clerk as part of the civil service regulations, shall be actually amended with the insertion of every new or omitted position. The second amendment to this regulation is intended to make eligible lists for professional medical places to last two years. The examination for such places is a very laborious one; the candidates are necessarily, all of them, educated professional men; and most of them are active young men. It is extremely improbable that in the case of such candidates any change should take place within two years making a new examination desirable. The only effect of a new examination will probably be to have most of the candidates upon the last eligible list present themselves and form the great majority of the new eligible list. This examination requires the employment by the Commission of able experts, the cost of whose attendance is considerable. If this amendment be adopted the eligible list for medical places formed 8th June, 1888, will expire in June, 1890.

REGULATION XVIII.

These amendments are intended to make clear the rule which has been adopted by the Commission for a number of reasons, not to employ an expert from any department upon an examination for that department. Such employment can not be had without giving rise to jealous suspicions, which go far to destroy the usefulness and influence of the civil service administration. Such a limitation upon the power of the Commission as is proposed will relieve it of the necessity of explanations which are not always satisfactory.

REGULATION XIX.

This is a formal change made proper by the changes which have taken place in Regulation XIII.

REGULATION XXI.

The amendment striking out the word "three" is necessary because under the regulations as they are now to be amended more than three persons will be certified where the number of persons to be appointed at one time is greater than one. The second amendment makes the year during which a candidate on an eligible list remain eligible begin with the date of the list instead of with the date of the examination. It often happens that the list is not published until a considerable time after the examination. The third amendment is made proper by the amendment now proposed to Regulation XVII.

Regulations XXXIII and XXXV.

The amendments to these regulations are to simplify the system of promotion. It has been found in practice very difficult to have competitive examinations for promotion outside of the uniformed police and uniformed fire forces. Promotion in other departments is almost always made because the head of the department finds by experience that a particular clerk is competent to perform the duties of a superior position; and, in such case, the head of the department always desires to promote such particular clerk. In no one of the offices of Brooklyn are the clerks of any one grade sufficiently numerous to make it a desirable thing that the discretion of the appointing officer acting in a supervision of the entire force shall be diminished. The possible abuse of admitting a man upon a competitive examination to a lower grade and then promoting him to a higher grade, which he could not perhaps have reached upon a competition for such higher grade, is made difficult by the proposed provision that "no promotion shall be made excepting where the clerk has served an entire year in the grade from which he is to be promoted."

Regulation XXXVI.

This amendment simply puts into the letter of the regulation what the mayor has found it convenient, as a matter of practice, to devolve upon the secretary of the commission. It will enable the civil service commission to speak with more weight in discussions with other departments upon questions of regularity of appointment.

Regulation XXXVIII.

This amendment is intended to meet this case, which sometimes arises: When making certifications, the civil service commission, or its chairman, learns of some serious imputation upon the character of a candidate. It may be necessary to investigate the charges. If they are serious enough to raise a real question, the civil service commission ought not to be in the position of certifying for appointment a man, as to whose character the commission is gravely doubtful.

EDWARD M. SHEPARD,
Chairman of the Civil Service Commission.

Brooklyn, May 29, 1889.

MAYOR'S OFFICE, CITY HALL,
BROOKLYN, May, 1889.

In pursuance of section 8 of chapter 354 of the Laws of 1883, as amended by chapter 357 of the Laws of 1884, and by chapter 410 of the Laws of 1884, I hereby prescribe the following amendments of regulations heretofore prescribed by the mayor of the city of Brooklyn for admission of persons into the civil service of the said city, and approved by the civil service commission of the State of New York, as thereafter and heretofore amended and modified by the mayor of the said city, with the approval of the civil service commission of the State of New York, and I hereby prescribe the said regulations so prescribed and amended hereby, the same being hereby amended as follows:

REGULATION II.

OF

EXAMINATION QUESTIONS AND RECENT CIVIL SERVICE DECISIONS.

SAMPLES OF EXAMINATION QUESTIONS.

EXAMPLE No. 1.

General Competitive Examination — Clerkships of First, Second and Third Grades.

Dictation.

N. B.—Listen attentively and write down correctly the matter that is about to be read to you. Ample time for writing will be given between the phrases, so do not be flurried. Do not stop long to ponder about the spelling of a word, but put it down off-hand. Leave no gaps to be filled afterwards. Do not repeat any word or phrase.

The selection for dictation will cover about one page of foolscap. After notice, one of the examiners will begin to read the matter to be dictated slowly, and one phrase at a time, so it may be fairly copied, and to avoid, if possible, a repetition which is apt to confuse the writers. Great care should be taken to read deliberately, with distinct utterance, until the whole has been read. Then, for review and proper punctuation, the whole should be again read with ordinary rapidity.

Copying of Manuscript.

N. B.—The rough draft of a letter, which accompanies this paper, is to be correctly and neatly copied for signature; all abbreviations are to be written out in full; the corrected or added parts are to be inserted in their proper places; and the matter is to be paragraphed and punctuated properly.

The candidate is given a lithographed copy of manuscript letter, containing erasures, interlineations, etc., which he is to copy in accordance with above directions.

The handwriting and spelling of the candidates are judged from the foregoing papers.

ARITHMETIC.

The process by which answers are obtained must be shown. Computations may be made on another sheet.

Office of the Mayor of the City of Ithaca, N. Y.
October 19, 1888.

Clarence B. Angle, Secretary:

Dear Sir.—Replying to your favor of October eighth, I will answer

First. I am unable to state whether or not the number of appointive officers subject to civil service rules is too small to make the enforcement of the law a means of improving or promoting the efficiency of our municipal government.

I send you by this mail a copy of our city charter and by reference to title 2, section 1, title 3 and page 13 of "Inaugural Proceedings" you will find the number of appointive officers and their duties, except the health board, which is governed by general laws governing cities.

Second. The law has not been brought to the attention of our citizens, therefore your third question does not require an answer.

Fourth. The city of Ithaca was organized last June under a charter gotten up by a committee composed of an equal number from both political parties and was intended to be non-partisan. It is therefore expected that the best men for the respective offices will be appointed without regard to politics.

Under the provision of the charter the same person may hold more than one appointive office, and when a municipal year begins it is expected that several offices will be combined.

In my judgment the enforcement of the law would not improve the municipal service of the city of Ithaca.

Yours very truly.

D. B. STEWARD,
Mayor.

RECENT CIVIL SERVICE DECISIONS.

CIRCUIT, PART III.

William E. McDonald v. The Mayor, Aldermen and Commonalty of the City of New York.

Barrett, J. — The clerk of the city court is authorized to appoint and at pleasure remove, three deputy clerks and ten assistants (Code Civil Procedure, 328). The question is, whether this power has been modified (by chapter 119 of the Laws of 1888), with respect to soldiers, sailors and marines, who served as such in the Union army or navy during the war of the rebellion and were honorably discharged.

In this act, it is provided that no such soldier, sailor or marine, "holding a position by appointment in any city or county of this State, receiving a salary from the city or county * * * shall be removed from such position except for cause shown after a hearing had." In my judgment, this act refers to positions held under the municipalities of the State or the governmental system of counties. The language is broad enough, if read literally, to include all positions, State or otherwise, held within the territorial limits of any city or county. Thus read, it would include all positions held by appointment in the State, where the salaries are received from a city or county. If this was intended it would have been shorter and clearer to draft the act in this wise "No person holding a position by appointment in this State receiving a salary from any city or county" shall, etc. Clearly it was not the territory embraced within the municipality or county which was contemplated by the act, but the governmental system.

The subsequent reference to "the position of private secretary or chief clerk or deputy of any official or department" favors this view.

It seems to be reasonably clear from the entire act, that the intention was to cover the civil and political administration of cities and counties, and not to interfere with the judicial machinery.

Under the decisions, an assistant clerk of the city court is a State officer. It has been held that the clerk of a local court is a judicial officer embraced within the judicial system of the State, (McDonald v. The Mayor, 33 Hun; affirmed, 102 N. Y., 728; Whitman v. The Mayor, 67 N. Y., 21), as was said in the case last cited; "if the Legislature intended to embrace other than city (or county) officers, it must be presumed that the statute would have so declared in express terms."

There are two rules of construction which strengthens this position, one is that where exception is made in favor of a particular class of citizens, the privilege conferred should be strictly construed and not extended by doubtful implication. In other words, the privilege should be clearly within both the letter and the intent of the statute. The other rule is, that in construing a statute its title is a legitimate subject of consideration in determining the legislative intent. (The People v. Davenport, 91 N. Y., 574; The People v. Wood, 71 N. Y., 371; Jones v. Sheldon, 50 N. Y., 477.) Now, the act in question is entitled "An act relating to the employés of the various cities and counties of the State." This latter fact would seem to be entirely conclusive of the present question and to indicate beyond peradventure the legislative intent.

With the tenderest consideration for the veterans for whose benefit this act was passed, I am constrained to apply, with regard to this particular branch of the service, the settled rules of law and accordingly I must direct a verdict for the plaintiff.*

NEW YORK—SUPREME COURT CHAMBERS.

STATE OF NEW YORK,
CITY AND COUNTY OF NEW YORK. } ss.:

IN THE MATTER OF THE APPLICATION OF JOHN SULLIVAN FOR A MANDAMUS v. THOMAS F. GILROY, COMMISSIONER OF PUBLIC WORKS, ETC.

ANDREWS, J.—The relator was employed as a day laborer by the department of public works of this city, in the repairing of pavements. He had been so employed before the present commissioner of public works was appointed, and was upon the pay-roll of the department as such laborer, and was daily employed at such work when the present commissioner took office. The respondent, in his affidavit, states that he did not remove the relator from any position in the department, but merely declined to hire him again after May 29, 1889; that he did not employ any person to take the place of the relator, although since that date he has hired other persons to do work of the same kind as that which was done by the relator. The relator applies for a mandamus requiring the respondent to reinstate him as a laborer in the department of public works.

The counsel to the corporation has submitted an able and elaborate brief as to the proper construction of chapter 119 of the Laws of 1888, which provides, among other things, that no honorably discharged soldier, holding a position by appointment in any city or county of this State, receiving a salary from said city or county, shall be removed from said position, except for cause shown, after a hearing had.

There can be no question that the view taken by the corporation counsel as to the construction of this statute, is entirely correct, and that a day laborer employed as the relator was in repaving streets, is not a person holding a position by appointment in this city, receiving a salary from the city. The difficulty about the matter is, that the relator does not claim any rights by virtue of such chapter 119 of the Laws of 1888, but bases his claim to be reinstated upon the provisions of chapter 464 of the Laws of 1887, which provides as follows: "Chapter 312 of the Laws of 1884, entitled 'An act respecting the employment of honorably discharged Union soldiers and sailors in the public service of the State of New York,' is hereby amended so as to read as follows:

"§ 1. In every public department and upon all public works of the State of New York, and of the cities, towns and villages thereof, and also in non-competitive examinations under the civil service laws, rules or regulations of the same wherever they apply, honorably discharged Union soldiers and sailors shall be preferred for appointment and employment; age, loss of limb, or other physical impairment, which does not in fact incapacitate, shall not be deemed to disqualify them, provided they possess the business capacity necessary to discharge the duties of the position involved.

"§ 2. All officials or other persons having the power of appointment to or employment in the public service, as set forth in the first section of this act, are charged with a faithful compliance with its terms, both in letter and spirit, and a failure therein shall be a misdemeanor."

Under this statute no question arises as to whether the relator held a position by appointment in this city, nor whether he was receiving a salary from the city. It is conceded that the relator was an honorably discharged Union soldier, and this statute in effect expressly declared that he shall be preferred for employment upon all public works of this city. Has he been so preferred?

There is no dispute about the facts. He was so employed as a day laborer in repaving the streets when the present commissioner of public works was appointed. The commissioner, in his affidavit, says that he did not remove him, but merely declined to continue to hire him, but he also states that since that time he has hired other laborers to do the same kind of work that the relator was doing.

It seems to me too clear for argument that the relator has not been preferred by the present commissioner for employment upon the public work of repaving the streets in this city, but that other persons, who, it is not claimed, are honorably discharged Union soldiers or sailors, have been preferred to him for such employment.

Under these circumstances, I see no escape from the conclusion that it is the duty of the court to issue a peremptory mandamus, requiring the respondent to reinstate the relator in the position of a laborer in the department of public works.

Filed July 2, 1889.

Cutugno, let the comptroller of the city of New York show cause before this court, at a Special Term thereof to be held at Chambers on the 28th day of October, 1889, at the opening of the court or as soon thereafter as counsel can be heard why a peremptory writ of mandamus should not issue to the comptroller of the city of New York directing said comptroller to cause to be audited forthwith pursuant to law the voucher for the services of Hannibal G. Cutugno as interpreter to the Court of General Sessions for the city and county of New York and to issue his warrant for the sum of eight hundred and thirty-three and thirty-hundredths dollars, salary due to said Hannibal G. Cutugno, by virtue of his appointment and services as said interpreter and pay the said sum to said Hannibal G. Cutugno.

Service of this copy on or before the 23d day of October, 1889, is sufficient.

Dated New York, October 15, 1889.

GEORGE P. ANDREWS,
J. S. C.

CITY AND COUNTY OF NEW YORK, ss.:

HANNIBAL G. CUTUGNO, of the city of New York, being duly sworn, says that he is forty years of age, that on the 8th day of February, 1887, he duly made application to the Civil Service Commission of the State of New York for an examination for the position of interpreter to the Court of General Sessions of the city and county of New York and that on or about the ..... day of February, 1887, he duly passed such examination at a regular civil service examination held under the direction of the State Civil Service Commission at the City Hall of New York city.

The deponent duly passed said examination and on or about the 30th day of April, 1889, he received an official notification to that effect from Clarence B. Angle, Secretary of the Civil Service Commission, at Albany, duly appointed, a copy of which notification is hereto annexed and marked exhibit "A."

That deponent at this time was not a naturalized citizen of the United States, although he had declared his intention to become a citizen and had taken out his first papers of naturalization; and that said Mr. Reilly, Esq., chief examiner of said Commission, in a letter hereto annexed and marked exhibit "B" had suggested to deponent that he send his said naturalization papers to the State Civil Service Commission in order that the said Commission might take steps to waive the non-citizenship aforesaid, pursuant to their right so to do under the statute and that the said Commission, should pursuant to the authority vested in them by law in such cases make in deponent's case an exception to the civil service rule, requiring applicants to be citizens of the United States.

That deponent accordingly sent his naturalization papers to the State Civil Service Commission at Albany, and on the 30th day of May, 1888, he received an official notification from said State Commission a copy of which is hereto annexed and marked exhibit "A" stating that deponent's want of citizenship had been waived by said State Commission and that deponent's name had been put on the list of names eligible for appointment to the position of court interpreter aforesaid.

That on the 13th day of March, 1889, deponent was duly appointed to said position of court interpreter to the Court of General Sessions receiving said appointment from Recorder Smyth, Judge Gildersleeve, Judge Cowing and Judge Martine, who immediately signed said appointment, and deponent's name was duly placed on the pay-roll as such interpreter, and has there remained to this day.

That deponent's compensation was fixed at $2,000 per annum pursuant to law to be paid by the comptroller of the city of New York in monthly installments of $166.66 per month.

That deponent entered upon his duties as such interpreter on the 1st day of May, 1889, and has continued to fully, faithfully and regularly perform his said duties up to the present date, and is still continuing to perform the same and has acted competently as interpreter in every such language as occasion in his said position presented, including the Arabic language, before the grand jury, the Court of General Sessions and for the district attorney. And deponent has never absented himself a single day from the said duties.

At the end of each month during the pendency of said service deponent presented himself at the comptroller's office and asked for his salary, but at each and every time that deponent presented himself the payment of said salary or any part thereof was refused.

That on or about the 4th day of June, 1889, deponent called on Mr. Lyons, who, as deponent is informed and believes, is the auditor of accounts in the department of finance in New York city, and asked why said salary was not paid, and said auditor of accounts answered that payment of said salary had been stopped by the civil service people, and he would write to Albany and find out the reason.

About ten days later the said auditor of accounts told deponent that he had received a letter from the civil service people, and that he would communicate said letter to the judges of the Court of General Sessions.

That said letter was to the effect that deponent's appointment aforesaid was illegal as he had not been appointed in the year of his examination.

That the reason an order to show cause is asked for is that deponent has received no compensation for his said services and the deponent is now in a state of destitution without funds for the necessaries for himself and his family.

That deponent prays that a writ of peremptory mandamus may issue out of this court, directed to the comptroller of the city of New York, commanding him forthwith to cause to be audited pursuant to law the voucher for the services of Hannibal G. Cutugno, as interpreter to the Court of General Sessions of the city and county of New York, and to issue his warrant for the sum of $833.30, salary due to the relator by virtue of his said appointment and services rendered, or that defendant show cause before this court why said peremptory mandamus should not issue as aforesaid.

That there are funds in the hands of said comptroller sufficient to pay said claim appropriated for that purpose.

That no previous application has been made herein for the granting of a writ of mandamus or order to show cause.

That deponent annexes hereto a copy of his appointment marked "C," to which the relator prays reference for all purposes.

H. G. CUTUGNO.

Sworn to before me, this 15th day of October, 1889.

Commissioner of Deeds, New York county.

SUPREME COURT OF THE STATE OF NEW YORK.— CITY AND COUNTY OF NEW YORK.

Affidavit of Theodore W. Myers in opposition to the motion.

THE PEOPLE, ex rel. HANNIBAL G. CUTUGNO v. THEODORE W. MYERS, THE COMPTROLLER OF THE CITY OF NEW YORK.

CITY AND COUNTY OF NEW YORK, SS.:

THEODORE W. MYERS, being first duly sworn, deposes and says: I am the respondent above named.

1. I have not any knowledge or information sufficient to form a belief as to any of the allegations contained in the moving affidavit herein which are not hereinafter specifically admitted or denied.

2. I deny that the relator was ever duly appointed to the position of court interpreter to the Court of General Sessions.

3. It is provided by the rules for the regulation of the civil service of the State of New York, which were duly promulgated by the Hon. Grover Cleveland when Governor, on the 30th of June, 1884, that the names of the persons who have passed the examination shall be entered upon a register in the order of their excellence; also that whenever an appointing officer shall so request, the Civil Service Commission shall certify to him the names of three eligible persons who are graded highest on the proper register, and that from the three persons whose names are so certified the officer shall make the appointment; and also that no person on any register shall remain eligible more than one year on any register.

4. I am informed, and I believe it to be true, that the said relator was not at any time one of the three highest persons on the proper register, but that he stood fourth on the eligible list.

I am informed, and believe it to be true, that no request was ever made by the officers who assumed to appoint the relator to the Civil Service Commission to certify to them the names of persons eligible to be appointed as interpreter of the Court of General Sessions.

I am also informed, and believe it to be true, that the relator's name was never certified by the Civil Service Commission to the said judges who assumed to appoint him. I am also informed, and believe it to be true, that upon the date when the assumed appointment of the said relator took effect he was not upon any register.

By reason of these facts I aver that the said relator was not legally appointed.

5. Annexed hereto and hereby made a part hereof, marked Schedule 1, is a copy of a letter, the original of which I received on the seventh of June, 1889, from the secretary of the Civil Service Commission of the State of New York, referring to the matter of the appointment of the relator.

Office of Civil Service Commission,

Hon. Theodore W. Myers, Comptroller, New York City:

Dear Sir.—I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your communication of June third, instant, relating to the matter of appointment of H. G. Cutugno to act as interpreter of the Court of General Sessions of the Peace in the county of New York.

In reply I would state that said Cutugno was admitted to a competitive examination for interpreters in courts, held April 25, 1888, and passed with a general average standing of 76.25, placing him fourth on the eligible list. This list expired April 25, 1889. Cutugno could not be legally appointed for the reason that his name had never been certified by this Commission. The notices sent from this office were merely to inform him that he had attained a percentage high enough to entitle him to a place on the eligible list, and that the Commission in accordance with the authority conferred by Civil Service Rule 35, had suspended the restrictions imposed by said rule, in his case.

Very respectfully yours.

CLARENCE B. ANGLE,
Secretary.

THE PEOPLE ex rel. CUTUGNO v. MYERS.

ANDREWS, J.— The application for a mandamus must be denied (1) because the comptroller is not authorized by law to audit any claim, and (2) because the relator has an ample remedy by an action at law to recover the salary which he claims. The decisions cited by relator's counsel are not applicable. Claims against the county of New York, or payable out of the county treasury, including salaries, were formerly collectible by mandamus; in fact it was not practicable to collect a claim against the county of New York by action. The only method of collecting claims against that county was, prior to 1874, and the only method of collecting against other counties now is, by mandamus, against the proper officer. In 1874 the Legislature passed an act consolidating the city and county government of New York. Claims against the city have never been collectible by mandamus, for the simple reason that the city is a municipal corporation and can be sued, while a county could not be. Motion denied without costs.

PEOPLE ex rel. RANSOM v. BROWN AND OTHERS, CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSIONERS.

BARNARD, J.— The return must only give the record. This is made up of the application, the time of the examination, the list of questions and the list of answers, and if no lists were made that fact is to be returned. The decision of the board on the examination. Reasons for defects must be stricken out and also all affidavits of parties who were present at the examination or claim to be. When an action is brought for a false return then it will be a matter of proof as to the real facts. Now the board makes the return subject to scrutiny if inaccurate or false. Motion granted for a further return, which must return the record and that alone.

SUPREME COURT.

The People ex rel. Oscar F. Lockwood v. The Trustees of the Village of Saratoga Springs.

Motion for a peremptory mandamus requiring defendants to appoint relator to the office of superintendent of public works of the village of Saratoga Springs.

Relator presents his affidavits in which he testifies that he is fully competent to perform the duties of said office. At the meeting of the defendants on May 6, 1889, called to elect a superintendent, he appeared and made application for the appointment in writing, stating that he was an honorably discharged Union soldier who served in Company D., Seventy-seventh regiment, New York State Volunteers, and entitled to a preference by virtue of the provisions of chapter 464, Laws of 1887, to said appointment, and he presented his certificate of discharge. He offered no proof of his capacity for the position before the trustees, but his affidavit states that no question was raised in that regard. He presents on this application his own affidavit and that of nine other citizens, that he is well qualified to perform the duties of the office of superintendent.

None of those affidavits, however, speak of the relator's fitness to perform the duties of the office as compared with Ryall, the person who was appointed by the trustees.

The trustees, in their answering affidavits, in substance state, that the office of superintendent of public works of the village is of very great importance; it requires very great ability and business capacity and experience; that officer has charge, under the trustees, of the streets, sewers, tax-lists, highways, public works and affairs of said village.

That they had considered the application of relator and his claim to the office under the law of 1887, and the applications of the other candidates; that no proof was offered as to the fitness of either of the candidates for the office. The majority were well acquainted with relator and his qualifications for the appointment, and the qualifications of the other candidate. That they came to the conclusion that the relator was not competent for the position of superintendent of said village, and that Ryall was, and that therefore, in good faith and not intending to violate the provisions of chapter 464 of the laws of 1887, they appointed Ryall to the office, who duly qualified and at this time is performing the duties of the office.

The provisions of the law of 1887 should be observed and faithfully carried out. It voices the public feeling of all citizens that the survivors of the brave soldiers to whom we are indebted for the preservation of our institutions should be remembered and preferred in the distribution of public office.

My appreciation of this fact, however, as well as my knowledge of the estimable character and meritorious services of the relator, will not allow me to interfere by mandamus with the reasonable discretion of the board of trustees of the village of Saratoga Springs in selecting a superintendent if it is in fact a case where the law confers upon the trustees a discretion, and it appears from the papers that they have exercised that discretion in good faith.

The trustees having acted as they testify, in good faith, and decided that the relator was not qualified for the office and that Ryall was, and having appointed Ryall—the law having imposed upon them the right and duty to make the appointment, is this court, under the well-settled doctrine as laid down in many cases, authorized to review the action of the trustees and to direct them to make another appointment?

On carefully examining the affidavits and papers presented to me and considering the arguments and points of counsel I find great difficulty in overruling the action of the trustees in this case.

Ryall, the party appointed by the trustees, has qualified, and is now acting as superintendent. He is not a party to this proceeding and no application is made for an order compelling the trustees to remove him, and it is conceded by counsel for the relator that any order made here would not affect his title to the office. If I grant the order asked for, therefore, the effect would be the appointment by the trustees of two superintendents. Any proceeding to remove Ryall would have to be a separate and subsequent proceeding. The authority of the trustees to appoint a superintendent is under chapter 257, Laws of 1874, and the several acts amending the same. The law only gives the trustees power to appoint one superintendent. If I compel them to appoint two I compel them to do an act beyond their power. I think that a mandamus can not, or at least, should not be granted to compel the appointment of the relator unless coupled with an application to remove Ryall. That the order, if granted, to appoint relator should also and at the same time command the trustees to displace the present superintendent. Before such an order could be granted, however, Ryall would have to be made a party and would have a right to appear and be heard in the matter. It is possible that the trustees have no right to remove Ryall, he being regularly appointed by them, except for some cause occurring subsequent to his appointment. (See chapter 257 Laws of 1874, section 3.) If so, if Ryall can not be removed, this would in my judgment be a conclusive objection to granting this motion. (See People v. Contracting Board, 27 N. Y., 382, 3.)

The act under which the relator claims the office in question, chapter 465 Laws of 1887, provides that "honorably discharged Union soldiers shall be preferred for appointment and employment."

It means, as I construe it, that where two or more apply for an office, one of whom is a discharged Union soldier, and all are equally qualified, the soldier shall be preferred, but not where the soldier is not equally qualified for the office as one of the others.

There are degrees of fitness for such an office as the one in question. One candidate might barely be able to perform its duties in a reasonably proper manner and another might have superior qualifications and be able to do the work much better. In such a case the appointing power, under the law, would not be bound to appoint the former although a discharged Union soldier.

The trustees, when they met on May sixth, were charged with the duty of deciding the question of fact: Was the relator qualified to perform the very arduous and important duties of superintendent of the village? Was he qualified equally with the other candidates? The law cast upon them the power and the duty of deciding this question. They had to decide it and they should have acted in deciding it honestly and in good faith. They each in their affidavits testify that they did decide the question in good faith and with the provisions of the law of 1887 in view, and with intent to obey that law. I do not think I would be justified in holding that they did not act in good faith, that they have not honestly and fairly intended to do their duty as they have testified. If they have erred in their conclusion it does not at all, in my view, affect the validity of their action. Judges and jurors often reach erroneous conclusions, but the error can not be corrected by mandamus; the only remedy is by appeal where an appeal lies.

In my judgment, the trustees having decided the matter that the law gives them the right to pass upon, their decision can not be overruled by the Supreme Court.

It is a universal rule in respect to all subordinate tribunals clothed with the exercise of judgment and discretion, that they can not be compelled by mandamus to decide in any particular way. (People ex rel. Francis v. Common Council, 78 N. Y., 33; People v. Board of Education, 2 Abb. N. S., 161; People v. Easton, 13 Abb. N. S., 161; People v. Contracting Board, 27 N. Y., 381; People v. Reardon, 49 Hun, 430; People v. Chapin, 104 N. Y., 100; People v. Brown, 39 Barb., 651; People v. Chapin, 103 N. Y., 635; Howland v. Eldridge, 43 N. Y., 457.)

Although the trustees were bound to prefer a soldier, they were not bound to appoint one they deemed incompetent, or one where the other candidate possessed superior qualifications for the office. The law conferred upon them the power and duty of deciding as to the qualifications of the relator and his fitness as compared with Ryall; they have passed upon the question against the relator, and, I think, the decision is final, whether right or wrong.

In People v. Chapin (39 Hun, 232), the court held that mandamus was "not a remedy for erroneous decisions. It can not be addressed to a judicial tribunal to require it to decide in a particular manner." And the court referred to the case of the People v. The Common Council (78 N. Y , 33), which holds among other things, "Where the duty of selecting the person to be employed is imposed by law upon the municipal body, and the question whether they possess the requisite qualifications is one of fact to be determined by it, no particular mode of determination being provided by law, and said body has exercised the power and made the selection, its action can not be reviewed by mandamus; nor can it be compelled by that proceeding to appoint particular persons on their allegations that they in fact and not the persons actually selected possess the prescribed qualifications. * * * Where the subordinate body is vested with power to determine a question of fact, the duty is judicial, and it can not be compelled by mandamus to decide in a particular way, however clearly it be made to appear what the decision ought to be." (See, also, 103 N. Y., 635; 104 N. Y., 100.)

The matter of the application of the relator for the appointment was passed upon by the trustees at the meeting of May sixth. They knew he was a soldier, but had no evidence of his fitness or unfitness for the office he desired. But the trustees testify that they knew him and his qualifications, and also the qualifications of the other candidates. They were obliged to pass upon this matter then and with the evidence before them. They did pass upon the question and found against the relator. I am of the opinion that their finding upon the question of fact as to the relator's qualifications for the office if wrong can not be corrected in this proceeding.

Other questions were raised and discussed before me, but in the view I have taken of the case it is not necessary for me to consider or pass upon them. I have been referred to a decision by Judge Forbes in the case of the People ex rel. Stevens v. Bardin. It is sufficient to say that in that case the fitness of the relator for the position he desired, as well as the fact that he was an honorably discharged Union soldier, was conceded and assumed by the judge in his opinion. No question was raised, as appears by the opinion, as to the qualifications of Stevens for the office he desired; hence that case is entirely unlike the case before us.

On the whole I am of the opinion that I have not the power to grant this application. The law has conferred upon the trustees the power of selecting their own superintendents, and of judging of his qualifications for the office. I am unable to find from any evidence before me that they have not acted in good faith in selecting the present incumbent. I think that their selection can not be overruled in this proceeding. I therefore deny the motion, but without costs.

THE CIVIL SERVICE STATUTES.

An Act to regulate and improve the civil service of the State of New York (chap. 354), passed May 4, 1883, as amended by chapter 357, passed May 24, 1884, and chapter 410, passed May 29, 1884.

Section 1. The Governor is authorized to appoint, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate, three persons, not more than two of whom shall be adherents of the same party, as Civil Service Commissioners, and said three commissioners shall constitute the New York Civil Service Commission. They shall hold no other official place under the State of New York. The Governor may remove any commissioner; and any vacancy in the position of commissioner shall be so filled by the Governor, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate, as to conform to said conditions for the first selection of commissioners. The three commissioners shall each receive a salary of $2,000 a year. And each of said commissioners shall be paid his necessary traveling expenses incurred in the discharge of his duty as a commissioner.

§ 2. It shall be the duty of said commission :

First. To aid the Governor, as he may request, in preparing suitable rules for carrying this act into effect; and when said rules shall have been promulgated, it shall be the duty of all officers of the State of New York, in the departments and offices to which any such rules may relate, to aid, in all proper ways, in carrying said rules, and any modification thereof, into effect.

Second. And, among other things, said rules shall provide and declare, as nearly as the conditions of good administration will warrant, as follows:

1. For open competitive examinations for testing the fitness of applicants for the public service now classified or to be classified hereunder. Such examinations shall be practical in their character and so far as may be, shall relate to those matters which will fairly test the relative capacity and fitness of the persons examined to discharge the duties of that service into which they seek to be appointed.

2. All the offices, places and employments so arranged or to be arranged in classes shall be filled by selections from among those graded highest as the results of such competitive examinations.

3. There shall be a period of probation before any absolute appointment or employment aforesaid.

4. Promotions from the lower grades to the higher shall be on the basis of merit and competition.

5. No person in the public service is for that reason under any obligation to contribute to any political fund, or to render any political service, and no person shall be removed or otherwise prejudiced for refusing to do so.

6. No person in said service has any right to use his official authority or influence to coerce the political action of any person or body.

7. There shall be non-competitive examinations when competition may not be found practical.

8. Notice shall be given in writing by the appointing power to said commission of the person selected for appointment or employment from among those who have been examined, of the place of residence of such persons, of the rejection of any such persons after probation, of transfers, resignations and removals, and of the date thereof, and a record of the same shall be kept by said commission. And any necessary exceptions from said eight fundamental provisions of the rules shall be set forth in connection with such rules, and the reasons therefor shall be stated in the annual reports of the commission.

Third. Said commission shall, subject to the rules that may be made by the Governor, make regulations for, and have control of such examinations, and, through its members or the examiners, it shall supervise and preserve the records of the same; and said commission shall keep minutes of its own proceedings.

Fourth. Said commission may make investigations concerning the facts, and may report upon all matters touching the enforcement and effect of said rules and regulations, and concerning the action of any examiner or board of examiners hereinafter provided for, and its own subordinates, and those in the public service, in respect to the execution of this act; and, in the course of such investigations, each commissioner and their secretary shall have power to administer oaths.

Fifth. Said commission shall make an annual report to the Governor for transmission to the Legislature, showing its own action, the rules and regulations and the exceptions thereto in force, the practical effects thereof, and any suggestions it may approve for the more effectual accomplishment of the purposes of this act.

* § 3. Said commission is authorized to employ a chief examiner, a part of whose duty it shall be, under its direction, to act with the examining boards so far as practicable, whether at Albany or elsewhere, and to secure accuracy, uniformity and justice in all their proceedings, which shall be at all times open to him. The chief examiner shall be entitled to receive a salary at the rate of $3,600 a year, and he shall be paid his necessary traveling expenses incurred in the discharge of his duty. The commission is authorized to employ a secretary, who may be one of its own number, who shall receive a compensation of $1,000 per annum, and who shall also be paid his necessary traveling expenses incurred in the discharge of his duty, and also a person to act as stenographer and copyist, who shall be entitled to receive a compensation of $1,000 a year, or in its discretion, may from time to time employ stenographers and copyists at an expense not to exceed in the aggregate the sum of $1,000 a year. The commission may appoint a messenger, to act also as clerk, at a salary not exceeding $900 a year, and may dismiss him at pleasure. The commission may, at Albany, and in any other part of the State where examinations are to take place, designate and select a suitable number of persons in the official service of the State of New York, after consulting the head of the department or office in which such person serves, or, in its discretion, persons not in the official service, to be members of boards of examiners, and may at any time substitute any other person in or out of such service in place of any one so selected. Any person not at the time in the official service of the State, or of any political division thereof, serving as a member of the board of examiners, shall be entitled to compensation for every day actually and necessarily spent in the discharge of his duty as examiner at the rate of five dollars a day; but the aggregate compensation of any such examiner shall not exceed $100 in any year. It shall be the duty of the officers of the State of New York, or of any political division thereof, at any place outside of the city of Albany where examinations are directed by said rules or by said board to be held to allow the reasonable use of the public buildings, and to light and heat the same for holding such examinations, and in all proper ways to facilitate the same.

* § 4. It shall be the duty of the trustees of public buildings, designated by chapter 349 of the Laws of 1883, to cause suitable and convenient rooms and accommodations to be assigned or provided, and to be furnished, heated and lighted, at the city of Albany, for carrying on the work of said commission and said examinations, and said commission may order the necessary stationery, postage stamps, an official seal and other articles to be supplied, and the necessary printing to be done for its official use. And the cost and expense thereof, and the several salaries, compensations and necessary expenses of the commission, upon the same being stated in detail and verified by affidavit as the Comptroller may direct, shall be paid monthly from any money in the treasury not otherwise appropriated.

† § 5. Any commissioner, examiner, copyist, or messenger herein mentioned, or any other person who shall willfully and corruptly, by himself or in coöperation with one or more persons, defeat, deceive or obstruct any person in respect of his or her right of examination according to any rules or regulations prescribed pursuant to the provisions of this act, or who shall willfully, corruptly and falsely mark, grade, estimate, or report upon the examination or proper standing of any person examined pursuant to the provisions of this act, or aid in so doing, or who shall willfully and corruptly make any false representations concerning the same, or concerning the person examined, or who shall willfully and corruptly furnish to any person any special or secret information for the purpose of either improving or injuring the prospects or chances of any person so examined, or to be examined, shall for each offense be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor.

§ 6. Within four months after the expiration of the present session of the Legislature, it shall be the duty of the Governor to cause to be arranged in classes the several clerks and persons employed or being in the public service, for the purposes of the examination herein provided for, and he shall include in one or more of such classes, so far as practicable, all subordinate places, clerks and officers in the public service of the State.

§ 7. After the termination of eight months from the expiration of the present session of the Legislature, no officer or clerk shall be appointed, and no person shall be admitted to or be promoted in either of the said classes now existing, or that may be arranged hereunder pursuant to said rules, until he has passed an examination, or is shown to be specially exempted from such examination in conformity herewith. No elective officer, and no person merely employed as a laborer or workman, shall be required to be classified hereunder; nor unless by the direction of the Senate, shall any person who has been nominated for confirmation by the Senate, be required to be classified or to pass an examination.

* § 8. The mayor of each city in this State is authorized and is hereby directed to prescribe such regulations for the admission of persons into the civil service of such city as may best promote the efficiency thereof and ascertain the fitness of candidates in respect to character, knowledge and ability for the branch of the service into which they seek to enter, and for this purpose he shall, from time to time, employ suitable persons to conduct such inquiries and make examinations, and shall prescribe their duties and establish regulations for the conduct of persons who may receive appointment in the said service. And the regulations so to be prescribed shall, among other things, provide and declare as in the second subdivision of the second section of this act is provided and declared in reference to regulations for admission to the civil service of the State. Within two months after the passage of this act, it shall be the duty of each of said mayors in and by such regulations to cause to be arranged in classes the several clerks and persons employed or being in the public service of the city of which he is mayor, and he shall include in one or more of such classes, so far as practicable for the purposes of the examination herein provided for, all subordinate clerks and officers in the public service of the said city to whom his power under this act extends. After the termination of three months from the passage of this act no officer or clerk shall be appointed, and no person shall be admitted to or be promoted in either of the said classes now existing or that may be arranged hereunder pursuant to said rules, until he has passed the examination, or is shown to be exempted from such examination, in conformity with such regulations. Such regulations hereinafter prescribed and established, and any subsequent modification thereof, shall take effect upon the approval of the New York Civil Service Commission. Officers elected by the people, and the subordinates of any such officer, for whose errors or violation of duty said officer is financially responsible, and the head or heads of any department of the city government, and persons employed in or who seek to enter the public service under the educational departments of any city, and any subordinate officer who, by virtue of his office, has personal custody of public moneys or public securities, for the safe-keeping of which the head of an office is under official bonds, shall not be subject to the regulations prescribed pursuant to this section, nor shall any regulations contravene an existing statute relating to entrance to said service. It shall be the duty of all those in the official service of any such city to conform to and comply with any regulations made pursuant to this act, and to aid and facilitate in all reasonable and proper ways the enforcement of all regulations and the holding of all examinations which may be required under the authority conferred by this section. But the authority by this section conferred shall not be so exercised as to take from any policeman or fireman any right or benefit conferred by law, or existing under any lawful regulation of the department in which he serves. And all examinations herein authorized shall be public, and all regulations shall be published, and, with all the proceedings and papers connected with said examinations, shall be at all times subject to the inspection of said commission and its agents; and said commission shall set forth in its reports the character and practical effects of such examinations, together with its views as to the improvement and extension of the same, and also copies of all regulations made under the authority hereby conferred.*

§ 9. No recommendation of any person who shall apply for office or place under the provisions of this act which may be given by any Senator or Member of Assembly, or officer confirmed by the Senate, or judge of any court, except as to the character or residence of the applicant, shall be received or considered by any person concerned in making any examination or appointment under this act.

(§ 10. Repealed by § 7 of chapter 357, passed May 24, 1884.)

†§ 11. No officer, agent, clerk or employé under the government of the State of New York or any political division thereof shall, directly or indirectly, use his authority or official influence to compel or induce any other officer, clerk, agent or employé under said government, or any political division thereof, to pay or promise to pay any political assessment. Every said officer, agent or clerk, who may have charge or control in any building, office or room occupied for any purpose of said government, or any said division thereof, is hereby authorized to prohibit the entry of any person, and he shall not consent that any person enter the same for the purpose of therein making, collecting, receiving or giving notice of any political assessment; and no person shall enter or remain in any said office, building or room, or send or direct any letter or other writing thereto, for the purpose of giving notice of, demanding or collecting, nor shall any person therein give notice of, demand, collect or receive any such assessment; and no person shall prepare or make out, or take any part in preparing or making out, any political assessment, subscription or contribution with the intent that the same shall be sent or presented to or collected of any officer, agent or employé, subject to the provisions of this act, under the government of the State of New York, or that of any political division thereof, and no person shall knowingly send or present any political assessment, subscription or contribution to or request its payment of any said officer, agent or employé.

* See section 3 of chapter 410, passed May 29, 1884.

* § 12. Any person who shall be guilty of violating any provision of the last section shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall on conviction thereof be punished by a fine not less than fifty dollars and not exceeding one thousand dollars, or by imprisonment for a term not exceeding six months, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court.

§ 13. No recommendation or question under the authority of this act shall relate to the political opinions or affiliations of any person whatever.

§ 14. Whoever while holding any public office, or in nomination for, or while seeking a nomination or appointment for any public office, shall corruptly use or promise to use, whether directly or indirectly, any official authority or influence (whether then possessed or merely anticipated) in the way of conferring upon any person, or in order to secure or aid any person in securing any office of public employment, or any nomination, confirmation, promotion or increase of salary, upon the consideration or condition that the vote or political influence or action of the last-named person, or any other, shall be given or used in behalf of any candidate, officer or party, or upon any other corrupt condition or consideration, shall be deemed guilty of bribery or an attempt at bribery. And whoever, being a public officer, or having or claiming to have any authority or influence for or affecting the nomination, public employment, confirmation, promotion, removal or increase or decrease of salary of any public officer, shall corruptly use or promise or threaten to use any such authority or influence, directly or indirectly, in order to coerce or persuade the vote or political action of any citizen, or the removal, discharge or promotion of any officer or public employé, or upon any other corrupt consideration, shall also be guilty of bribery or of an attempt at bribery. And every person found guilty of such bribery or an attempt to commit the same, as aforesaid, shall, upon conviction thereof, be liable to be punished by a fine of not less than one hundred dollars nor more than three thousand dollars, or to be imprisoned not less than ten days nor more than two years, or to both said fine and said imprisonment in the discretion of the court. The phrase "public officer" shall be held to include all public officials in this State, whether paid directly or indirectly from the public treasury of the State, or from that of any political division thereof, or by fees or otherwise; and the phrase "public employé" shall be held to include every person not being an officer who is paid from any said treasury.

§ 15. A majority of the members of said board shall constitute a quorum, but a less number may adjourn from day to day. Said commission, when organized, shall immediately inquire into the methods of appointment, removal, terms of service, duties, compensation and numbers of all clerks, employés or subordinate officers of any nature whatsoever, either to this State or of cities or counties therein having a population exceeding fifty thousand inhabitants, who are not by existing laws appointed by the Governor of the State or by the mayor of any city, or elected by the people; and whenever the action of political parties or the public acts of official servants are in any wise affected, and if so to what degree, by the present methods of such appointments, tenure of office, removals and compensations, and whether the public interest would or would not be advanced by prescribing competitive tests of standards of appointment for any or all of such subordinate public servants, in addition to those who are hereinbefore included, and if so, the nature and extent of such tests or standards; and whether any abuses exist in connection with the existing practices touching said appointment, tenures, compensations or removals that require reform, or that may be abated by legislation or otherwise. Said commission may also further extend its inquiries so far as to enable it to report whether any and if so what legislation is expedient, relative to the methods of compensation of all county officers and their subordinates in this State.

* § 16. Said commission shall have like power to secure by its subpœna, the attendance and testimony of witnesses, and the production of books and papers, pertinent to the investigations and inquiries hereby authorized, to that prescribed in and by chapter three hundred and fifty-three of the Laws of eighteen hundred and eighty-two, for the commission thereby constituted in the execution of its duties as in said act last mentioned; and witnesses and officers to subpœna and secure the attendance of witnesses before said commission shall be entitled to the same fees as are allowed witnesses in civil cases in courts of record. Such fees need not be prepaid, but the Comptroller shall draw his warrant for the payment of the amount thereof, when the same shall have been certified to by the president of the commission, and duly proved by affidavit or otherwise to the satisfaction of the said Comptroller; and all State, county, town, municipal and other officers and their deputies, clerks, subordinates and employés shall afford the said board all reasonable facilities in conducting the inquiries specified in this act, and give inspection to said board of all books, papers and documents belonging, or in anywise appertaining to their respective offices, and also shall produce said books and papers, and shall attend and testify when required to do so by said commission.

§ 17. Said commissioners hereinbefore named, or in case of vacancy from among their number by declination, resignation or otherwise, a successor commissioner, to be appointed by the Governor, shall qualify by filing with the Secretary of State an oath to perform faithfully the duties of such commissioner. Each commissioner shall receive the compensation hereinbefore provided, together with his actual traveling expenses in the discharge of his duties as such commissioner, the said salaries and expenses, together with the other necessary expenses of said board, to be approved by the Comptroller and thereafter paid out of the treasury of the State; and the sum of fifteen thousand dollars, or so much thereof as may be necessary, is hereby appropriated out of any moneys in the State treasury not otherwise appropriated for the purposes stated in this act..

Rule 9.

The competitive examinations shall be practical in their character, and with paramount regard to those matters which will fairly test the relative capacity and fitness of the persons examined for the service which they seek to enter. The examinations shall be held at such times and places as the commission may designate, and ten days previous notice of such examination will be mailed to all eligible applicants of record. Special regulations in which the particular conditions (if any) of the examination will be specified, will be issued, when deemed expedient by the commission, prior to the examinations.

Rule 10.

All regular applications for admission to such competitive examinations will be on blanks in a form prescribed by the commission, and the applicant must state therein on oath, and in his own handwriting: 1. His full name, residence and post-office address. 2. His term of residence in this State. 3. His citizenship. 4. His date of birth. 5. His place of birth. 6. Such other information must be furnished as the commission may reasonably require, touching the applicant's fitness for the public service.

The application must be accompanied (1) by a certificate of a practicing physician in good repute, that he has examined the applicant and found him free from any physical defect or disease that would be likely to interfere with the proper discharge of his duties in the position of the civil service sought by such applicant; and (2) by the certificate of not less than three nor more than five reputable citizens of this State that they have been personally acquainted with the applicant for at least one year, and believe him to be of good moral character, of temperate and industrious habits, and in all respects fit for the service which he wishes to enter, and that they are willing that such certificate shall be published for public information. The applicant must also state in his application the grade or subdivision in the schedule he seeks to enter, and whether he limits such application to any particular department, office or institution.

Rule 11.

Defective applications will be suspended and applicants notified to amend the same, but no such notice shall be given or opportunity granted a second time. Whenever the application shows that the applicant is not within the prescribed limits of age, or otherwise not qualified under the rules and regulations, or is manifestly unfit for the service, the application will be rejected.

Rule 12.

The date of the reception of all applications shall be indorsed thereon, and entered of record by the commission, and if the applicants for admission to any grade or subdivision are in excess of a number that can be examined at a single examination, they will be notified to appear in their order on the respective records, provided that persons who have been honorably discharged from the military or naval service of the United States in the late war shall have precedence in such notification.

Rule 13.

For the purpose of making examinations of applicants from time to time, as may be required, the commission will designate and select, at Albany and other places, a suitable number of persons to be members of boards of examiners, and will duly commission such persons as examiners; and the commission may at any time substitute any other person in place of any one so selected. When persons selected as examiners are in the official service of the State, the head of the department or office in which such persons serve shall be consulted; and in the discharge of their duties as examiners the persons so selected from the official service will be responsible solely to the commission, and will act under its regulations and direction.

Rule 14.

Under the direction of the commission the chief examiner will prepare a list of subjects of examination for the several grades and subdivisions in this schedule upon which each applicant must be examined. To such list of obligatory subjects there may be added certain other subjects in which the applicant may be examined or not, at his option. The general standing of each applicant shall depend solely upon his relative proficiency in the obligatory subjects. For the purpose of determining the general average standing, certain relative weights will be given to the obligatory subjects, which weights shall be adjusted to the relative importance of the subject.

Rule 15.

No person whose standing on any obligatory subject is less than fifty, or whose ascertained average standing on all the obligatory subjects is less than seventy, will be entered upon the eligible list.

Rule 16.

The names of the persons who have passed above the minimum, as set forth in the previous rule, will be entered upon a register in the order of their excellence, and opposite each name will be entered the standing of such person in each optional subject in which he may have been examined.

Rule 17.

1. Whenever an officer having the power of appointment to or employment in any grade or subdivision in this schedule shall so request, the commission shall certify to him the names of three eligible persons who are graded highest on the proper register, indicating such of them (if any) as have been honorably discharged from the military or naval service of the United States in the late war.

2. From the three persons whose names are so certified the officer shall make a selection to fill the vacant place, subject, however, to the provisions of Rule 44, giving preference in appointments to certain persons.

3. Whenever such request shall indicate that proficiency in any of the specified optional subjects is of prime importance in the position to be filled, the commission may certify the names of the three persons in the eligible list having the highest standing (not being below the minimum of seventy) on such optional subject. The commission shall have power to order a new or special examination whenever there are no persons on the eligible list, sufficiently qualified in such optional subjects, or whenever an appointing officer shall apprise the commission that any special qualifications are required for the position vacant. All positions filled by selections based on optional or special subjects will be especially noted in the published gazette of appointments, and in the official register of qualifications and schemes for examination as being special positions in respect to such qualifications.

4. In the selection from the persons whose names are certified as above by the commission, the appointing or employing officer, upon his written requisition therefor, will be furnished with the application and examination papers of all the persons so certified, and in the exercise of his responsible power of selection he may summon personally before him the certified persons for such verbal inquiries as he may deem proper. All papers furnished upon requisition as above must be returned to the commission with the notice of selection.

Rule 18.

Whenever physical qualifications are of prime importance in the proper discharge of duties in any position, applicants must pass a physical examination and be certified as qualified in such respect before record on the proper eligible list for selection for such position, or before certification by the commission as qualified for such selection.

Rule 19.

1. No person on any register shall be certified more than three times to the same officer, except on request of such officer; nor shall any one remain eligible more than one year on any register.

2. Upon satisfactory evidence produced to the commission that any person whose name is on any eligible list is, by reason of his character, habits or past reputation, unfit for admission to the civil service, the name of such person shall be formally stricken from such eligible list

3. No person who has entered upon any examination for a position in Schedules B or C shall be admitted, within one year from the date thereof, to a new examination for the same grade or subdivision.

In the determination of character or habits of the nominee, the certificate thereof by the nominating officer will be considered as essential.

Rule 24.

In determining the limits of age and the subjects and scope of the examination into the qualifications for each position as defined in the fourth clause of the preceding rule, the head of the department, office or institution where such position is to be filled, shall be consulted by the commission, or where the position is common to several offices or institutions, the several heads thereof shall be so consulted, and the regulations finally adopted for each position shall be published in the annual reports of the commission. Differences arising under this rule between the heads of departments, offices and institutions and the commission shall be reported to the Governor, whose decision in such case shall be final and conclusive.

If, in the judgment of such officer or officers, there be none found in the lower grades fit to perform the duties in such vacant positions, in that case, and in no other, the positions may be filled in the same manner as is prescribed by these rules for filling the positions in the lowest grade of the same subdivision and class. No temporary appointment or employment shall be made of any one not eligible for permanent employment except as hereinbefore provided.

Every officer having the power of such appointment or employment, shall, previous to making the same, certify to the commission the duration and character of the service to be rendered and the rate of compensation to be paid therefor. When such duration or term of service is certified to be for a longer period than one month, the commission shall certify to the appointing officer the names of the three graded highest on the proper register, who, upon due inquiry, are found willing to accept such temporary appointment, and from the three so certified a selection shall be made for the temporary service required. When the duration of service is certified not to exceed one month, and the need of such service to be immediate and urgent, the appointing officer may select for such temporary service, any person on the proper register of those eligible for permanent appointment; except that in the prisons, reformatories and asylums, temporary substitutes may be appointed without examination, for not exceeding thirty days in cases of disability by sickness or otherwise; and except that temporary appointment of officers may be made, for not more than five days in any case, to transfer prisoners from one prison to another or as substitutes for regular officers who are necessarily absent engaged in this duty.

No person appointed under this rule, except those appointed as herein provided for the transfer of prisoners, shall be appointed temporarily a second time unless sixty days shall have elapsed since the termination of his previous term of temporary service, and every temporary appointment without examination must be reported to the commission within five days, with the reason for the same.

Rule 35.

No person shall be appointed to any position in the civil service unless he is a citizen of the State and has been a resident thereof for at least one year previous to the date of his application or nomination. But this restriction shall not apply to the following positions in Schedule D, to wit: The first grade of subdivision four of class four; subdivision three of class five; the first grade of subdivision six of class six, and the first grade of subdivision eight, and the first grade of subdivision nine of class seven. Any other exceptions from such restriction made by special regulation of the commission shall be reported by it to the Legislature with the reasons therefor.

The maximum age for clerical positions in Schedule B and prison guards and keepers in the State civil service classification, except honorably discharged soldiers and sailors, shall be fifty years at the time of application, and the minimum age for messengers, stenographers and type-writers shall be eighteen years.

Rule 36.

In the selection, nomination or appointment of persons to fill positions in Schedules B, C and D, or promotion of persons to positions in Schedule E, no regard shall be paid to the partisan political opinions, affiliations or action of any person selected, nominated, appointed or promoted.

Rule 37.

No transfer or promotion shall be made from a position in a subdivision in any schedule to a position in another subdivision in that schedule, or to one in any other schedule except by virtue of the examination and certification prescribed under these rules for admission to such last-named subdivision. Transfer without examination may be made from a position in one department, office or institution to a similar position in another department, office or institution upon the mutual consent of the heads of the respective departments, offices or institutions.

Rule 38.

Any application for a position in the civil service, made in contravention of the provisions of the ninth or thirteenth sections of the Civil Service Act must be rejected.

Rule 39.

No question in any examination or proceeding, by or under the commission or examiners, shall call for the expression or disclosure of any partisan political opinion or affiliation of any person, whatever, nor shall any discrimination be made by reason thereof; and the commission and its examiners shall discountenance all disclosure before either of them, of such partisan opinion or affiliation or by or concerning any applicants for examination, or by or concerning any person on any register awaiting appointment or employment.

Rule 40.

Every original appointment or employment in the civil service shall be for a probationary term of three months, at the end of which time, if the conduct and capacity of the person appointed or employed shall have been found satisfactory, the probationer shall be absolutely appointed or employed, but otherwise his employment shall cease.

Every officer under whom any probationer shall serve during any part of such probation shall carefully observe the quality and value of the services rendered by such probationer, and shall report in writing to the proper appointing officer the facts observed by him, showing the character and qualifications of such probationer, and of the service performed by him; and such reports shall be preserved on file.

Rule 41.

Every false statement knowingly made by any person on his application for examination, and every connivance by him at any false statement made in any certificate which may accompany his application, or any willful complicity by him in any fraud to improve his standing upon examination, shall be regarded as good cause for removal or discharge of such person during his probation.

Rule 42.

If for any sufficient reason it shall be impracticable to supply the names of persons who have passed a competitive examination in due season for any appointment or employment in any position in Schedule B, a provisional appointment may be made of a person who has passed a non-competitive examination under the direction and regulation of the commission; but the next report shall give the reason for such resort to non-competitive examination.

Rule 43.

1. All persons having the power of appointment to or employment in any position in the civil service must give notice in writing to the commission of the name and place of residence of any person selected for appointment or employment in any position, of the rejection of any such person after probation, and of the transfers, promotions, resignations and removals, discharge or death of all persons serving under them, with the date thereof.

2. Any officer who appoints, employs or promotes a person to or in a position in the civil service, the compensation for which is paid from the State treasury, or the account for which is subject to audit by the Comptroller, shall officially notify the Comptroller of such appointment, employment or promotion before certifying or rendering any account for the services of such person. Where the payment for the services in any position in the civil service is not payable from the State treasury, nor subject to audit by the Comptroller, the notification as above of any appointment, employment or promotion to or in such position, shall be duly made to the fiscal officer empowered by law to pay the account for such services.

Rule 44.

Persons who have been honorably discharged from the army or navy of the United States in the late war, and whose qualifications and fitness have been ascertained under these rules, by competitive examination, shall be preferred for appointments to positions in the civil service of the State over all other persons, though graded lower than the others so examined, and the persons thus preferred shall not be disqualified from holding any position in the civil service on account of their age, nor by reason of any physical disability, provided such age or disability does not render them incompetent to perform the duties of the position applied for.

When not more than three honorably discharged soldiers or sailors, whose qualifications and fitness have been ascertained by competitive examination under the rules, shall be on the eligible list at the time a requisition shall be made for an appointment, the names of all such soldiers or sailors, with a specification of their respective grades in such examination, shall be certified to the appointing officer, but when more than three names of such honorably discharged soldiers or sailors shall be on the eligible list, there shall be certified for such appointment not more than two names in excess of the number of places to be filled, and in all such cases the appointment shall be made from among those, not exceeding three in number, thus certified, who are graded highest as the result of competitive examination. (Chapter 410, Laws of 1884, amended by chapter 29, Laws of 1886.)

Rule 45.

Subject only to the qualifications required to be ascertained in accordance with these rules, the power of appointment and the responsibility of selection are in all cases in the appointing officer. The power to remove (existing by law) on the part of any officer is not impaired by anything contained in these rules.

Rule 46.

The commission will cause to be published at such regular periods as it may deem proper, a gazette of all appointments, promotions, resignations, removals and other changes in the civil service, and in case of appointment, may publish the names of the persons certifying the good character of the appointee.

Rule 47.

The commission will make appropriate regulations for carrying these rules into effect, and may prescribe blank forms for all applications, certificates, records and returns required under the rules or regulations made in pursuance thereof.

STATE OF NEW YORK,
OFFICE OF SECRETARY OF STATE. } ss.

I have compared the preceding with the original rules for the civil service on file in this office, and do hereby certify that the same is a correct transcript therefrom, and of the whole of said original rules.

Given under my hand and seal of office of the Secretary of State, at the city of Albany, this eighth day of July, in the year one thousand eight hundred and eighty-four.

JOSEPH B. CARR,
Secretary of State.

GENERAL REGULATIONS

OF THE

NEW YORK CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION.

The Chief Examiner.

1. The chief examiner shall, so far as practicable, attend the examinations held by the several boards of examiners for positions in Schedules B and C.

He shall take care to secure accuracy, uniformity and justice in the proceedings of all examiners and boards of examiners under the rules and regulations, and such proceedings and all papers appertaining thereto shall at all times be open to him. He shall also from time to time inspect the proceedings and papers connected with examinations for the civil service of cities held pursuant to the eighth section of the Civil Service Act, and shall make report of such inspections to the commission.

2. He shall prepare and submit to the commission proper schemes for examinations, and forms for blanks and records.

He shall take care that the rules and regulations are complied with, and shall bring any case of their infraction, or of injustice or irregularity observed by him to the attention of the commission. It shall be his duty, from time to time, to confer with the heads of departments, offices and institutions in the State service, concerning the regularity, efficiency and convenience of the examinations for the service under them. He shall perform such other appropriate duties as may be specified in these regulations, or otherwise assigned to him by the commission.

The Secretary.

3. The secretary shall keep the minutes of the proceedings of the commission, and have charge of and be responsible for the safe-keeping of the books, records, papers and other property in its office. He shall make the proper certification of those eligible for appointment or employment in positions in Schedules B and C. He shall generally conduct the correspondence of the commission and perform such other appropriate duties as it may assign to him.

THE STENOGRAPHER.

4. The stenographer shall perform such appropriate duties as may be assigned to him by the commission, or under its direction, by the chief examiner and secretary.

EXAMINERS.

5. Regular boards of examiners will consist of three members, one of whom shall act as secretary, and two of whom may conduct an examination in the necessary absence of the third. The secretary shall keep a complete record of the proceedings of the board and of all the examinations held by it in such form as the commission may prescribe.

6. The chief examiner shall, subject to the commission, issue authority for holding examinations for positions in Schedules B and C, and shall prepare questions and supervise other preliminary arrangements for such examinations.

7. The boards of examiners will conduct the examinations and estimate and mark the standing of the persons competing, or in a non-competitive examination shall estimate the qualifications of the person examined, and in both cases shall transmit all the papers with their report to the commission.

8. Whenever the special qualifications required for a position are of an expert or professional character, the commission will give to the examining board such advice and assistance from competent sources as may be expedient and available.

9. Boards of examiners for positions in Schedule D shall examine such persons as are named to them in writing by any officer authorized to employ persons in the positions in that schedule, and shall only certify such as satisfy the qualifications for such positions as prescribed by the rules and regulations. They shall report to the commission the names of persons examined by them with other pertinent information, on forms furnished for that purpose, keep on file the minutes of their proceedings, and shall transmit all the papers with their report to the commission. The minutes shall at all times be subject to the inspection of the commission and its agents.

10. Special boards will be selected and special regulations for examinations will be issued by the commission in such cases as it may deem expedient.

11. No examiner or person serving under the commission must attempt to influence the selection, nomination or appointment of any persons for the civil service.

12. Care must be taken by examiners to preserve order and decorum at examinations, and to prevent such visitors as they may admit, by conversation or otherwise, to obstruct or distract those being examined.

13. Examiners must not disclose for public information, unless by consent of those examined, more than the general results of examinations, without the details of answers given.

14. Any person after receiving official notification of his standing, as ascertained by a competitive examination, may in person, or by duly authorized agent, inspect in the presence of the chief examiner, or the secretary of the commission, his examination papers and the markings thereon.

15. Complaints which show any injustice or unfairness on the part of any examiner or examining board, or by any one acting under the commission, will be considered by the commission, which reserves the right to revise the marking and grading on the papers, or order a new examination, or otherwise act as substantial justice in the premises may require.

16. For the purpose of examinations, examiners are authorized by the last clause of the third section of the Civil Service Act to request the use of suitable rooms in public buildings and the lighting and the heating of the same. In all cases the requisition for such accommodations should be in writing, reciting the provision of law above referred to, and denoting the amount of room required, and should be addressed to the State, county, city, town or village officer having custody of the public building. School-rooms are generally best adapted for examinations.

17. Accounts for examiners (who are not otherwise in the civil service) for services and for reimbursement for necessary expenditures should be rendered in the forms prescribed and sent to the commission for approval before payment.

APPLICATIONS FOR POSITIONS.

18. Applications for admission to competitive examinations for positions in Schedule B, will be directed to the "Civil Service Commission, Albany, N. Y." Blank forms for such applications, and for the requisite certificates, will be furnished upon request, which should specify the position in the service sought by the applicant. All applications for positions in Schedules A, C and D must be made to the head of the department, office or institution wherein the position is sought.

19. The commission can not advise persons as to vacancies in the service, nor furnish any information as to the duties, salaries, course of promotion, or other conditions of positions, except such as may be found in printed regulations. No advice can be given as to the course of preparation that applicants should follow, nor can specimens of the examination papers be furnished.

20. All application papers and accompanying certificates will remain on file in the office of the commission, and under no circumstances or conditions will the originals be returned to the applicants.

EXAMINATIONS.

1. Competitive.

21. Applicants will be admitted to examination upon the production of the official notification to appear for that purpose. Each applicant will receive a number, which will be indorsed upon his notification when produced, and the notifications so indorsed shall be sealed in an envelope; such applicant will sign his examination papers with his number, omitting his name, and the envelope shall not be opened until all the examination papers have been received and the markings and gradings made.

22. All examinations shall be in writing, except such as refer to physical qualities or expertness, excepting that to the written examination the examiner or examiners may add such an oral examination as may be necessary in certain cases to elicit the respective qualifications of the several applicants. When possible, a stenographic report of the examination must be made and filed with the papers.

23. The sheets of questions will be numbered, and will be given out in the order of their numbers, each after the first being given, only when the competitor has returned to the examiners the last sheet given to him. In general, no examination shall extend beyond five hours, without intermission; and no question given out at any session, to any candidate, can be allowed to be answered at another session. Each applicant must complete his examination on the obligatory subjects before taking up any of the optional subjects.

24. Each examiner will exercise all due diligence to secure fairness, and prevent all collusion and fraud in the examinations.

25. The time allowed for completing the examination will be announced before the first paper is given out. For the obligatory subjects the examination should be confined to a single day, but the examiners may extend such time in special cases of emergency.

Marking.

26. The examination papers shall be reviewed by each examiner separately, and, in any case of disagreement, the average of the markings made on any question or paper by all shall be the final marking on such question or paper, subject to the regulation as to revision.

27. The papers of all the competitors in each subject should be examined, compared and marked before the papers in another subject are taken up.

28. The marking of each question or subject shall be made on a scale of 100, which maximum shall represent accuracy of the highest possible attainment; and 0 shall represent absolute ignorance. Handwriting will be judged by its legibility, uniform and correct formation of letters and ease of execution. Upon a comparison of the handwriting of all the competitors, the best and worst should be first agreed upon, and the two extremes of the scale thus fixed, the others should be marked relatively to them. In writing from dictation or copying from manuscript, the omission, repetition or substitution of words, the erasures, blots and other evidences of carelessness, will, proportionately to their numbers, reduce the marking below 100. Spelling will be marked with reference to the ratio the misspelt words bear to the whole number of words dictated. Making abstracts or summaries of documents and letter writing will be marked as in handwriting, by agreeing upon the best and worst examples, and having marked them, then proportionately marking the others.

In each of the other subjects, each question shall be marked on the scale of 100, and the sum of such markings divided by the number of questions in that subject shall be the competitor's standing on such subject.

Grading.

29. The absolute or average general standing of each competitor will then be made up in form as follows, in accordance with the respective weight accorded to each subject by the regulations, thus:

EXAMINATION OF.....

SUBJECTS.	Weight given to subjects.	Standing on subjects.	Product of weight and standing.
1. Writing from dictation.....	2	80	160
2. Handwriting.....	3	75	225
3. Spelling.....	1	78	78
4. Arithmetic.....	2	92	184
5. Reporting in writing from memory.....	2	88	176
Total product.....	.....	.....	823
Divide by sum of weights, or	10	.....	.....
General average standing.....	.....	.....	82.3

OR, EXAMINATION OF.....

SUBJECTS.	Weight given to subjects.	Standing on subjects.	Product of weight and standing.
1. Writing from dictation	3	96	288
2. Copying from manuscript	2	97	194
3. Handwriting	4	85	340
4. Spelling	3	88	264
5. Arithmetic	4	93	372
6. Geography and history	1	80	80
7. Constitutional questions	1	63	63
8. Making a summary	2	72	144
Total products	.....	.....	1,745
Divide by sum of weights	20	.....	.....
General average standing	.....	.....	87.28
OPTIONAL SUBJECTS.
Bookkeeping			80
Stenography			92

It will be observed that the standing on each subject is multiplied by the weight given that subject and the product placed in the third column, and the sum of these products, divided by the sum of the weights, gives the general average standing.

If, in the marking, it is found that the standing of a competitor on any subject falls below fifty, the further marking of the papers of such competitor may be dropped (Rule 15), and such fact recorded on the face of the paper in red ink.

30. The grading of the several competitors being completed, their names will be enrolled in the order of their excellence, as determined by such examination, upon a register of eligible persons in form as prescribed by the commission.

31. Every paper in any examination, not formally certified by the examiners, will be signed with his initials in ink by each examiner who has reviewed and marked it.

32. Priority of date in examination will give no advantage in position on the eligible list. The names of the three persons highest in general average standing on the list for any grade will be certified for selection without regard to dates of examination, and subject only to the preferences of competitors on record for certain departments or offices, or to the certificate of the appointing officer, that an optional subject is of prime importance.

Non-competitive.

33. Schedule C. The boards of examiners before whom shall appear any person named for a position in Schedule C, subject to a non-competitive examination, will report to the commission the facts regarding such person furnished to or ascertained by them, upon the first three points, as required by Rule 23. Upon the fourth point, as required in said rule, they will examine the person so appearing in the several subjects prescribed by regulations in accordance with Rule 24. Such examination will be in writing, and the standing on each subject will be marked in the manner herein directed for competitive examinations.

The grading of such person, together with the examination papers and the report on the other points of inquiry, shall be transmitted to the commission as soon after the examination as practicable.

34. Schedule D. The boards of examiners for positions in Schedule D shall take evidence of the qualifications of persons properly appearing before them, as the same are defined in Rule 29, and regulations pursuant thereto. So far as may be practicable, such examinations shall be in writing. If the board is satisfied that any person so appearing is duly qualified to discharge the duties of the position for which named, a certificate of qualification will be granted by the board in such form as the commission may prescribe. Officers having the authority to employ persons in the positions included in Schedule D may directly name persons to any such board for examination. Quarterly reports on the first days of January, April, July and October in every year will be made by such boards to the commission, giving names of all persons examined, the positions for which named, and whether or not certified as qualified. Intermediate reports of a similar nature will be made when specially required.

For Promotion.

35. Examiners will carefully inspect the work performed during the previous year by the persons named for promotion as regards its accuracy and neatness, and should personally question them concerning their office work and its purposes, in order to ascertain if they have a general and intelligent knowledge of the business in the department where they are employed. No part of the examination need be by written answers to written questions, but the examiners may require the persons examined to give a written description of the work done by them and its relation to the duties of others.

General.

36. As soon as practicable after an examination, the papers of the candidates will be marked, and their standing ascertained and communicated to them by the secretary of the commission by mail. Prior to that time no inquiries addressed either to the examiners or the commission will be answered. No letters explanatory of errors presumed to have been made in an examination will receive any attention.

37. The commission can not undertake to answer inquiries relating to cases which are not officially before it for decision, nor can it decide, except in cases of actual candidates on its registers, questions respecting the application of the rules and regulations.

38. Particular answers can not be given to inquiries which are answered expressly or by implication in published regulations and similar documents.

39. Applicants will not be eligible for examination for appointment as inspectors in the excise department who have been engaged in the saloon business or in the sale of liquor within two years.

40. The schemes of qualifications and subjects of examination of the same for positions in Schedules C and D will be published from time to time for general information.

In regard to many such positions, the nature and extent of such examinations will not be determined until after a vacancy in the position occurs.

No information can, therefore, be given in regard to such positions other than is published as above mentioned.

In addition to such written examination candidates will be required to show such practical knowledge of the duties of the position for which they have been nominated as will satisfy the examiners that they possess the requisite qualifications.

The form of the examinations will be varied as the necessities of the case may require.

INSTRUCTIONS TO EXAMINERS.

In order that the proceedings at all places may be uniform, the following instructions are given for the guidance of those selected by the commission as examiners to conduct the competitive examinations for the State service.

1. All necessary arrangements for the examination-room and its proper furniture should be completed several days prior to the date of examination. Reference is made to the last clause of section 3 of the Civil Service Act, wherein permission is granted to use certain public buildings. The desks should be arranged so that competitors can not communicate with each other or copy each other's papers without observation. There should be at least twenty-five square feet of table for use of the examiners, and this should be so placed that supervison may be had of every desk. On the evening prior to the examination, each desk should be provided with a stand supplied with ink, two pen-holders with pens and blotting pad. It will be of great advantage to secure the services of a competent and trustworthy person to receive the candidates at the door of the examination-room, who might also assist the examiners during the entire day, particularly in distributing the papers to candidates. The attention of all concerned is respectfully invited to the fifth section of the Civil Service Act, which makes penal certain offenses.

2. The blank questions in sealed envelopes will be sent by mail or express from the office of the commission so as to reach each place of examination at least twenty-four hours before the date of examination, and should be deposited with seals intact, in some secure place. An accompanying package will contain the stationery and envelopes, each inclosing a desk-card.

3. Each notified applicant must present as a warrant for his appearance the official notification signed by the secretary of the commission, and no one should be admitted who does not present such notification.

Each applicant should be given an envelope and a desk-card. After indorsing upon his notification the number of the card, he will put the notification in the envelope, seal it and return it to the examiner. The applicant, retaining the card, will then be admitted to the examination as an accepted candidate. No applicant presenting himself after 10 o'clock A. M. should be admitted, since his admission after that hour would derange the proceedings.

4. At 10.05 A. M. the examiners should announce the beginning of proceedings, and should request the candidates to separate themselves into as many groups as there may be different forms of examination; as, for example: One to contain all candidates for positions of office messenger, etc.; the second to contain all candidates for clerkships; the third to contain all candidates for positions of stenographers or typewriters. For convenience, each group should then be seated by itself, as the examination for each is distinct.

5. All being properly seated, the examiners should break the seals and open the package of examination papers, which will be found in separate parcels, one containing questions, etc., for clerkships; and one for messengers, etc.; and the third for stenographers and typewriters; and a fourth, marked "optional," containing questions on optional subjects, which parcel should not then be opened. The papers from the several parcels should be kept distinct on the table, and each will be found to contain several sets of questions, numbered from one upwards, in each series.

6. The first paper from each series, viz., "Writing from dictation," will be distributed to each candidate in the respective groups. On a large card will be found printed the matter to be dictated (which is to be read to and written down by all the candidates). After notice, one of the examiners will begin to read the matter to be dictated, slowly, and one phrase at a time, so that it may be fairly copied, and to avoid, if possible, a repetition which is apt to confuse the writers. Great care should be taken to read deliberately, with distinct utterance, until the whole has been read. Then, for review and proper punctuation, the whole should again be read, with ordinary rapidity.

7. The exercise in dictation is the only one in which all the groups join in unison, and after its completion all the papers should be taken up. The second paper in each series should then be given out to the candidates in the respective groups, and thenceforward to successive papers in numerical order, but only one at a time. In the package marked "messengers" will be found printed a "verbal order" which, after securing their attention, is to be read slowly and distinctly, and once only, to the candidates for positions of messenger, etc. This is the second paper in the series for that group. The reading of this "order" should take place immediately after the exercise in dictation, so that the other groups may not be disturbed in their work. Each candidate, when he completes a paper, is to be furnished with the next one, without regard to the progress of others in the group. The completed papers are to be taken up before the next ones are given out. In distributing the second paper, viz., "Copying from manuscript," to the candidates for clerkships, one of the lithographed drafts of letters will be given as the matter to be copied.

8. Only general explanation should be given to candidates, and those should be limited to methods of procedure. No information or aid in solving questions should be permitted from any source, and vigilance should be exercised to prevent the use of any book or manuscript for such purpose, or copying from the papers of another candidate. No candidate should be allowed to leave the room while engaged upon a paper. One examiner should always be present in the examination-room.

9. The examiners will preserve order and decorum, and no conversation or unusual noise by the candidates should be permitted. They should not allow any visitors admitted by them to distract the attention of the candidates. The natural nervousness of candidates under examination is apt to be increased by the consciousness that they are observed, or their work scrutinized by those not officially in charge. Visitors should not be permitted to inspect the answers of candidates. Special care must be taken that nothing regarding the work of the candidates is procured for publication. The examiners hold all the papers in trust for the commission.

10. If a candidate declines to complete all the papers, and withdraws from the examination, he must deliver to the examiners his desk-card, on which the time of his withdrawal should be marked. Also, as each candidate completes all the papers he will deliver his desk-card, on which the time of completion should be marked. All these desk-cards will be retained by the examiners.

11. Each candidate on leaving will inform the examiners what optional subjects, if any, he has previously requested to be examined in, and they will name a time and place for him to appear for such purpose, unless it is found convenient to complete the examination at that time.

12. The time occupied in the examination on obligatory subjects must not exceed seven hours. If this space be reckoned from the distribution of the first paper (10.10 A. M.), with an allowance of twenty minutes for luncheon, the close of the examination would be at 5.30 P. M. Should there occur an accidental delay in opening proceedings, or their suspension through any unforeseen cause, the examiners, in accordance with the twenty-fifth general regulation, will see that the full period of seven hours is allowed, but in no case should such allowance of seven hours be exceeded. Ten minutes before the time for closing the examination, notice of such closing should be given to the candidates, and at the close all papers, finished and unfinished, will be taken up.

OPTIONAL SUBJECTS.

13. While it is presumed that only a small number of candidates will desire to be examined on optional subjects, the interest of the public service will be subserved by giving full opportunity to all who desire such privilege. The examination on these subjects being comparatively brief, it may be held on the evening of the day of general examination, or the next day.

A special package of papers, for examination on such of the optional subjects as could be prepared in advance, will accompany the other papers. These are for "Elements of Bookkeeping," "Bookkeeping," "Foreign Languages." Full directions are given at the head of each paper.

For the other subjects the following plans will be pursued:

Expert Penmanship. This is an accomplishment of prime importance in some positions and of great value in all of them. The candidate will copy such paper as the examiners may select, and may also exhibit his skill in pen-writing and other styles useful or ornamental in engrossing, copying, recording, preparing tabulated statements, etc. The time occupied will be denoted on the paper by the examiners.

English Composition or Letter-writing. The examiners will select a subject for an essay or letter, writing the subject at the head of the sheet of foolscap paper. The candidate will then in their presence write the essay or letter, which should not exceed two pages in length. The time occupied should be recorded, and certified at the foot of the paper.

Special qualification for any department of the public service. The candidate will give in writing the details of the special experience or training which he claims would be valuable in the service. If such proficiency is capable of a practical test, such as facility in adding correctly and rapidly long columns of figures, or in casting interest, or in making general averages, the representatives may test such qualifications and certify their estimate of the same to the commission.

Care must be taken that all such papers are, for the purpose of identification, marked with the candidate's desk number, as on the papers for obligatory subjects.

Marking and Grading.

In addition to the instructions given in General Regulations 26 to 32, special directions as to marking and grading will be given to examiners when deemed necessary by the commission.

At the conclusion of the examination, the examiners (other than the general board at Albany), will carefully pack all the papers and forward them by express to

THE N. Y. CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION,
Albany, N. Y.

SPECIAL REGULATIONS FOR GUIDANCE OF APPLICANTS.

As provided by Civil Service Rule 9, the following special regulations are issued for the guidance of applicants who may appear as candidates in the competitive examinations for the State service:

1. Applicants must present themselves punctually at the times and places specified in their official notifications. No one will be admitted except upon the production of such notification signed by the secretary of the commission.

2. Each applicant will be presented with an envelope, from which he will take a card inscribed with a number, and he will retain this card and indorse plainly the same number on his notification and place the notification in the envelope, seal it and return it to the person in attendance, and will then be admitted as an accepted candidate. The number on the card is known as the "desk number," and such number and the name of the city where the examination is held must be put at the top of every paper used by the candidate in the examination. This number is necessary as a means of identifying the papers with the name of the candidate when the envelope is opened. The name of the candidate must not appear on any examination paper. The desk number is so important that the attention of each applicant is particularly directed to the necessity of a correct and plain indorsement of the number on the notification before it is put in the envelope and sealed.

3. The examination will be in charge of the examiners appointed by the Civil Service Commission, who will decide all matters and preserve order. They must be obeyed in all respects, and are authorized to expel any one guilty of unseemly or disrespectful conduct.

4. The proceedings will begin by the separation of the candidates into groups, one of applicants for positions of messengers, etc., one for first and second-grade clerkships, and one for third-grade clerkships, etc. Each group will be seated by itself.

5. Candidates will be furnished with paper, pens and ink, but those who are accustomed to use any particular pen are advised to bring it with them. Pencils must not be used, and all the writing and figures must be in ink. In writing from dictation and copying from manuscript, stylographic pens must not be used.

6. The questions used in the examination, except in a few cases which will be individually indicated, are printed with sufficient space after each for an appropriate answer and the answer must be written in that space. Foolscap paper is given each candidate for experimental calculations, but in solving the arithmetical problems, the entire process must be given on the examination paper in the space provided. A simple answer, without such process, will not receive a maximum mark, even if correct. It is for the interest of the candidates that the full operation be thus shown, since the examiners may thus detect any errors occurring through inadvertence, which might otherwise be attributed to ignorance of methods.

7. No candidate can be allowed to leave the examination-room until he has completed or given up the paper on which he is engaged. No changes or corrections in papers can be made after they are given up to the examiners.

8. No conversation, disturbing noise or actions will be allowed. Whenever a candidate has completed a paper, and wishes the next one or desires an explanation, he will hold up his hand, and one of the examiners or their attendant will visit the desk.

9. Candidates are warned not to bring with them for consultation any books or manuscripts; any use of such assistance, either in the examination-room or elsewhere during the examination, will be considered such a violation of the regulations as may lead to the rejection of the offender's papers.

10. The same penalty will be incurred by any candidate who copies from the paper of another or permits his own papers to be copied, or who receives or gives assistance of any kind, or who writes upon his papers any irrelevant or disrespectful remarks.

11. Candidates are recommended to bring their luncheons with them and to eat them in the examination-room. For the convenience of those coming from a distance, it is desirable to complete the examination in a single day, and the time consumed in going out for a meal would seriously abridge a candidate's available time for work.

The time allowed for the obligatory examination is seven hours with an additional allowance of twenty minutes for luncheon. This time can not be extended, but the examiners will not include any general delay, interruption or suspension of proceedings through accidental cause. In this connection candidates are advised, as a precautionary measure to carefully study the scheme of examination, in order to make an approximate allowance of time for each subject.

The seven hours is ample for the longest task, i. e., the third-grade clerkship scheme, but candidates are often apt to waste so much time in reviewing and recasting their work, and generally without advantage, that they are hurried in the latter subjects, and so often do themselves an injustice which can not be repaired. Ten minutes before the time of closing, notice will be given, and at the expiration of that time all the papers, finished and unfinished, will be taken up.

13. In order that applicants may have a clear understanding of the scope of the examinations for the several positions open for competition, their attention is directed to the published schemes for examinations, which may be obtained by addressing the "Secretary of the New York Civil Service Commission, Albany. N. Y." By a careful study of these each applicant can estimate the amount of time he can allow for the respective subjects, and so not be hurried in any of them.

14. Finally, all candidates are advised that earnest and determined endeavor to honestly do the best, without worry or undue anxiety, will produce the highest possible result. The ordeal of these examinations, except in their necessary confinement, is not exacting or in any way difficult to those who have availed themselves of the free education the State offers to all.
